BATTLE BEGINS ON ROOSEVELT'S SPENDING SPREE

Vandenberg Assails New Program.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 17.—[Special.]—The battle in congress on the President's 4½ billion dollar pump priming and inflationary program to break the depression opened tonight in a barrage of radio speeches.

A. H. Vandenberg.

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan, outstanding possibility for the Republican nomination for President in 1940, engaging in debate with Senator Lister Hill [D., Ala.] over the Mutual Broadcasting system's network, assailed the Roosevelt scheme as one that, whatever its temporary benefit, would work a "long run disaster."

John Hamilton, chairman of the Republican national committee, in a thirty minute broadcast subjected the Roosevelt program to a searching analysis with the conclusion that "the President and the New Deal are far more interested in priming the polls than in priming the pumps of recovery."

Conservatives Prepare Case.

Concurrently Vice President Garner and Senators Carter Glass and Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, Josiah W. Bailey of North Carolina, and other conservative Democrats were preparing their case against pump priming as a remedy for depression. Members of this insurgent Democratic group cited figures compiled by Senator Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, Democratic leader of the senate, as proof that a country cannot spend its way to prosperity.

The Barkley statistics showed that notwithstanding the expenditure of $49,134,625,178 by the Roosevelt administration between March 4, 1933, and Dec. 31, 1937, the country is still sunk in a depth of depression with 11 million persons unemployed today as there were five years ago.

Figures on Expenditures.

This vast outpouring of government funds consisted of new and emergency expenditures totaling $17,153,297,008 and loans aggregating $31,981,328,170. The detailed figures follow:

EXPENDITURES.

Agricultural Adjustment administration	$2,326,221,113

Cannot Buy Prosperity.

"'Pump priming,'" said Senator Vandenberg, "means that we continue to borrow money—or to create it by manipulation—in an effort to spend ourselves into better times and to buy prosperity. It means that bigger debts, bigger deficits, and bigger taxes. It means discouragement to private industry—which is our sole source of true recovery. It is a deterrent rather than a tonic to that which we need in the bloodstream of our commerce.

"No matter how adroitly camouflaged, it defeats any remote prospect of a balanced budget and a convalescent public credit. It helps the next election; but it hurts this and the next generation. 'Pump priming' has failed, despite fabulous doses, between 1933 and 1938. It is at war with recovery. Therefore, it is a menace and a curse."

In support of this indictment the senator called two witnesses: The late Senator Joe Robinson [D.,

Must Be Sober and Clean to Sleep in Rockford Jail

Rockford, Ill., April 17.—[Special.]—Chief of Police A. E. Bargren today barred drunks and hobos from Rockford's city jail. The jail has been cleaned, painted, and provided with new mattresses the last two weeks as a result of aldermen's charges that it was dirty and not fit for respectable customers. All prisoners placed in it must now be sober, clean, neat, fresh from the showers, and free from foul odors. Others, including drunks, will be placed in a basement cell.

INVENT HERSHEY FINANCING DEAL TO DELAY CRASH

Branded Fiction by Chocolate Firm.

Another astonishing scheme, by which the head of Hoagland & Allum Company, Inc., La Salle street brokerage house, apparently convinced other officers and employés that they could stave off the financial collapse which came last Thursday, was disclosed yesterday. The startling proposal involved a mythical $50,000,000 bond issue for the Hershey Chocolate company of Hershey, Pa.

Investigators immediately classified this as an hallucination overshadowing even other fantastic stories told by company officials on Friday—that they were to act as agents in the sale of war materials and make huge commissions to restore their firm to solvency. These grandiose tales are little balm now for the company's investors, who stand to lose $1,250,000.

Cashier Reveals Story.

The amazing story of the proposed Hershey transaction was told yesterday by Miss Maude E. Anderson, cashier for the firm, to Eugene O'Connor, chief investigator for the blue sky division of the state's attorney's office. It was confided to her, she said, by George F. Allum, president of the concern. Allum and Olaf Andrew Larsen, vice president of the company, and Henry Adolph Engel, secretary and treasurer, are in custody, unable to produce bonds of $200,000 each.

"I knew the firm was very shaky during the last year," Miss Anderson said, "and several months ago I asked Mr. Allum what he was going to do about it. He said that a high official of the Hershey Chocolate company was going to try to persuade Milton S. Hershey, founder of the company, to break up a $50,000,000 trust fund.

Evasions by Commissions.

"Then our firm would underwrite a bond issue on these assets," Mr. Allum said, "and these bonds would be sold to the public. Hoagland-Allum would reap huge commissions from this deal."

"The whole scheme was strictly fantastic and preposterous," said Investigator O'Connor.

At Hershey, Pa., W. F. R. Murrie, president of the chocolate firm, said there was no truth in the story of the bond issue project. Murrie declared he had never heard of such a deal, nor had he ever heard of the Hoagland company.

It was pointed out that the Hershey company, one of the largest and most prosperous businesses in the country, has never made any public sale of bonds. The $50,000,000 fund was probably a reference to a $65,000,000 endowment which Milton Hershey, now 80 years old, has created for the Hershey Industrial school.

The trust fund was established with a majority block of stock in the chocolate corporation. The total value of the Hershey enterprises is believed to exceed $80,000,000.

No Indication of Plan.

Hershey, through his philanthropy, has created a veritable Utopia for his employés and there has never been any indication that he planned to

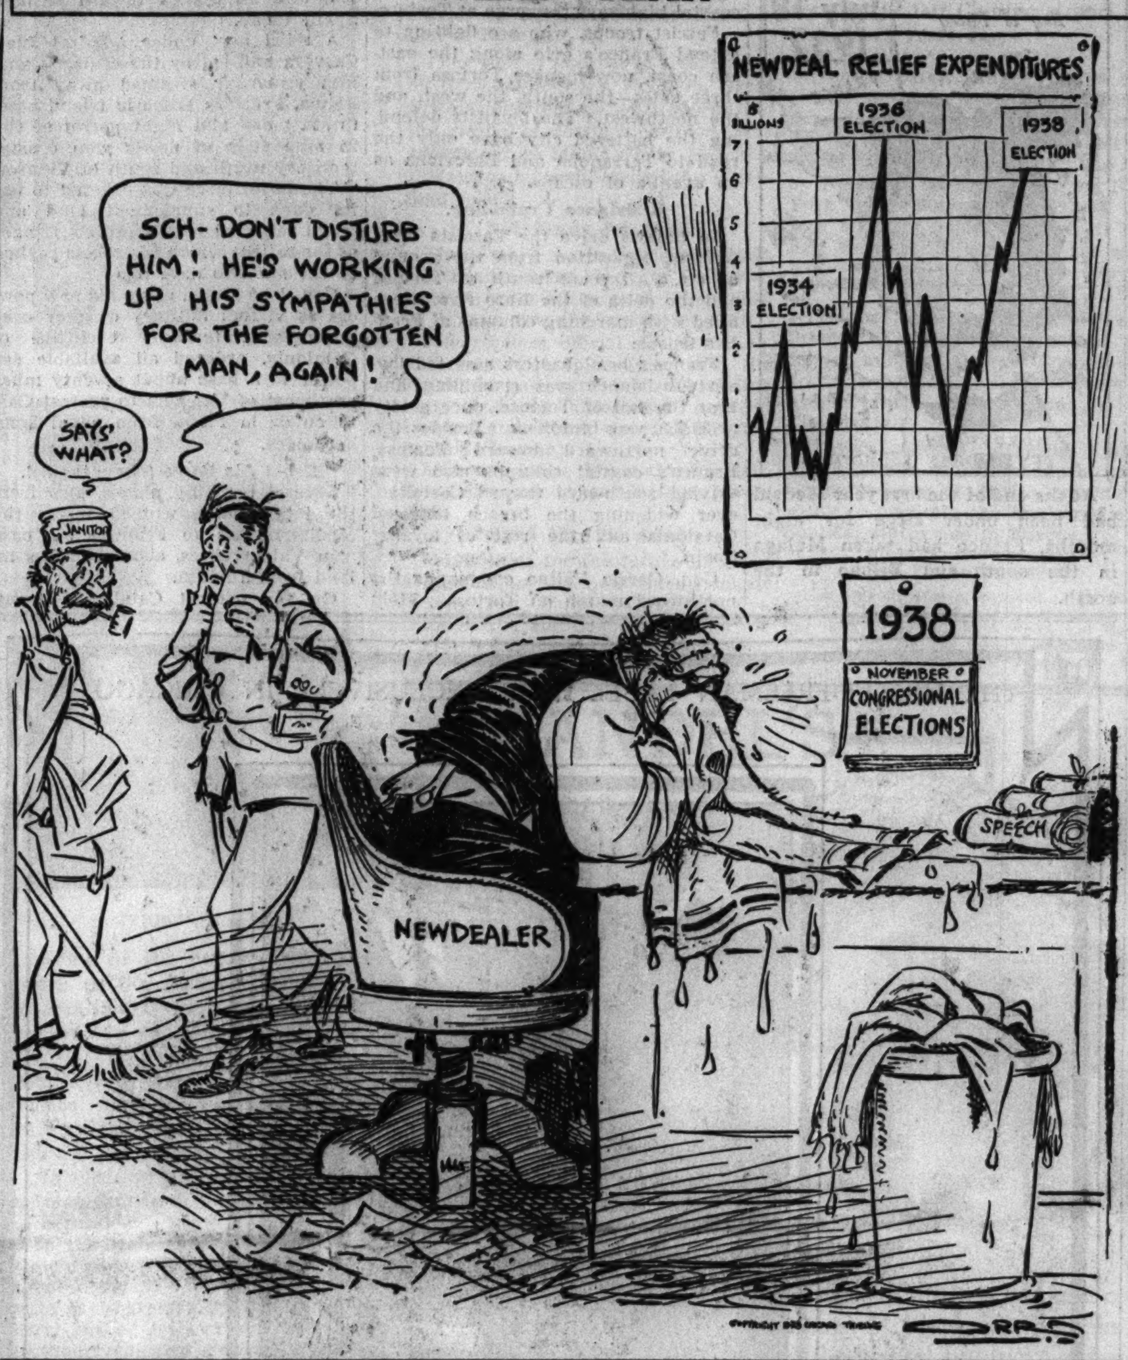
WEAP YEAR



ANDREW CARNEGIE'S NEPHEW, 28, MISSING ON SHORT AIR FLIGHT

New York, April 17.—[Special.]—Police of eight states were asked today to hunt Andrew Carnegie Whitfield, 28 years old, nephew of the late Andrew Carnegie, steel king, who has not been seen since he took off alone in his plane last Friday from Roosevelt field, N. Y.

Whitfield's announced destination before he lifted his Taylor-cup monoplane into a cloudless sky was Brentwood airport at Brentwood N. Y., 15 miles away. He did not arrive there. Today his wife, the former Elizabeth Halsey, to whom he was married less than a year ago, asked that he be hunted. "I am sure he would not take any long flight without notifying me," said the bride, who remained at the upper east side home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Robert H. Halsey.

BOYS IN SOUTH TAKING LESSONS ON DATING GIRLS

Atlanta, Ga., April 17.—(AP)—Twenty-eight high school boys, most of them fully capable of punching the eye of anybody hissing "sissy," are studying a course here in things like how to date a girl, how to set a table and how to buy a necktie.

The youths gave a demonstration for the Georgia Education association this week-end. They set tables for meals and demonstrated the arts of dressing in good taste and poise in conversation.

They are taught that when a girl drops her handkerchief a young man should neither be too swift nor too slow to pick it up. Such behavior as plastering newly married couples' automobiles with ridiculous signs is discouraged and they are instructed to offer an engaged girl felicitations rather than congratulations.

Hay Lulls Restless Farmer to Sleep; Now in Hospital

Carlisle, Pa., April 17.—[Special.]—Ray Boldosser, 38 years old, a Newville farmer, couldn't go to sleep in his bed last night, so he went to the barn and flopped on the hay in the loft. He went to sleep there, all right, but rolled off the hay mow through an opening to the stable below. He is being treated for injuries in a hospital today.

Pure Hormone Spurs Rooster to Sit on Eggs

Dallas, Tex., April 17.—(AP)—Isolation of a pure crystal, which generates mother instinct when injected into animals, and which comes from the pituitary gland, a small, hazel nut shaped organ at the base of the brain, was announced here today by the American Chemical society.

The crystal was found by Yale chemists and goes far toward explaining the riddle of "how we are made."

Crystal Called Prolactin.

The crystal is prolactin, the hormone which governs secretion of milk by mothers. Prolactin in impure form was discovered several years ago. It causes roosters to brood and sit on eggs and milk deficient females to become normal.

The report was made by Dr. Abraham White of Yale, who is 30 years old. He will receive the $1,000 Eli Lilly and company award in biological chemistry, when the chemistry society opens its 95th meeting here tomorrow. He credited as co-workers Prof. H. N. Long, Dr. H. R. Catchpole, and Dr. Kurt G. Stern of the Yale staf.

The picture of "How We Are Made," from the Yale Chemistry laboratories deals with hormones. These are the products of ductless glands that regulate sex, health, and many of the phases of personality.

Five Distinct Hormones.

The pituitary gland is known to produce at least five distinct hormones. These are the milk regulating prolactin, sex, and adrenal gland regulations, growth, diabetic regulators, and thyroid gland governors.

Together these hormones make the pituitary the "master gland" of the human body. For more than ten years chemists have been trying to purify and crystallize one of the pituitary hormones to see just what it is made of. When that is done, these life regulators can be manufactured in chemical retorts.

Overalls, House Dresses Replace Finery at Church

Benton, Ill., April 17.—(AP)—Overalls and print dresses replaced the usual Easter finery at the East Benton Baptist church services this morning. The Rev. A. L. Cox, 37 years old, wore a pair of overalls. He had urged members of his flock to come dressed in their everyday clothes. His congregation is made up mainly of coal miners and their families.

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

AMSTERDAM, April 17.—Two paintings ascribed to Van Gogh have been discovered in a Breda farmhouse attic. They were bought at a recent fair for five Dutch cents each. A visiting art dealer bought them from the farmer for $375. One signed "Vincent" represents a moonlit landscape, the other signed "Vincent Van Gogh" shows a view of The Hague. Both apparently are earlier works and if authentic their estimated value is $27,500 each.

IRISH PARADE IN MEMORY OF EASTER REVOLT

DUBLIN, April 17.—All over the twenty-six counties of Ireland parades were held today in commemoration of the Easter week rebellion in 1916.

In the six northern counties under the Belfast parliament's jurisdiction the police prevented republican celebrations. In a few places where republicans displayed green, white and orange flags the offending emblems were seized by the police and confiscated.

In contrast with the attitude in the north, Premier Eamon De Valera's government placed no restriction this year upon republicans in Easter ceremonies. In the capital De Valera's Fianna Fail party staged a big parade. The demonstrators marched to the Arbour hill military cemetery where the bodies of the republican leaders are interred.

Mounties Out to Get Thief of Chief's Badge of Gold

WINDSOR, Ont., April 17.—(AP)—The Royal Canadian Mounted police were out "to get their man" with a vengeance tonight. They were looking for the prowler who entered an apartment here where Frank Mellor, superintendent of the mounties at Ottawa, was visiting and stole $950 worth of jewelry and his jewel-studded gold R. C. M. P. badge.

Guest Tenders Easter Lily Bouquet and Drops Dead

Arthur Fuerst, 55 years old, 6111 Seminary avenue, a clerk, died of a heart attack yesterday as he held out a bouquet of Easter lilies to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Houck, 5819 Northwest highway, when he arrived at their home as a dinner guest.

Wind and Rain Add Action to Easter Parade

BY INDIA MOFFETT.

"It's always the same," remarked one blasé observer of the Easter parade as he stood at Michigan avenue and Delaware place yesterday and watched the crowd surge into the Fourth Presbyterian church. He was wrong, though, for it's never the same. There is always something new, something different, and this year it was the candid camera operators who added their clicking to that of the newspaper photographers and shot every photogenic subject who strolled by the church.

"Who was that I just took?" was on the amateurs' lips often, for they neither knew nor particularly cared whom they were taking. Which marked them as being unprofessional, for professionals seldom "waste" plates on unknowns. They wait to see their accompanying reporters nod before they shoot a subject, the nod indicating "Go ahead, I know her," or "Take her, she's a stunner, and we'll hope she'll give us her name later." And she usually does, but not always, unfortunately.

Heartaches for Some Strollers.

The professional photographers and their nodding, or rather their non-nodding companions, give many a heartache and cause many a foot ache, no doubt, on Easter morn, for there are many young women, and a few young men, who hopefully promenade back and forth, up and down the avenue. Since it has become the fashion to notice particularly the youngest strollers, many a fond mamma was in the parade yesterday, exhibiting her "Shirley Temple."

The appropriately clad woman yesterday wore a suit and on her arm she carried a topcoat and an umbrella. None I saw was clad thusly, but to have been ready for all the sorts of weather Chicagoans experienced yesterday, a woman should have been attired in this way, for part of the time the sun shone brightly making a heavy coat too warm; several times rain fell, making the strollers dash for shelter unless they were supplied with umbrellas, and all the time on the lake shore the wind blew lustily and coldly.

Escorts Chase Millinery.

Veils and hats tied under chins were a boon and a blessing in the strong wind, but sad and busy were those who braved the avenue in cartwheel hats and plaited skirts. Off went hats, up went skirts and to the ground fell purses as frantic women tried to hold on headgear and to hold down flying skirts. Escorts found themselves chasing millinery down the street and at the same time clutching their own tophats to keep them from being whirled away. But it was a gay and happy procession, nevertheless, with the youngest

FINEST TROOPS AND GUNS SENT TO CRUSH CHINA

Seek to Erase Stain of Recent Defeats.

SHANGHAI, April 18.—[Monday.]—(AP)—Japanese forces today set the stage in southern Shantung province for what foreign military observers believed might be an offensive eclipsing anything in Spain and comparable only to the major drives of the world war.

Arrow locates Yihsien which Japanese are trying to relieve.

Rankled by the recent defeat at Taierchwang and no longer underestimating the Chinese central front resistance, Japan was believed ready now to strike in an extensive effort to win the war.

There were still other factors in her desire for a quick victory—increased tension between her and soviet Russia across the Manchukuan-Siberian border and the possibility that Britain might soon be in position to take a firmer hand in the far east, having settled her Mediterranean differences with Italy.

More Big Guns in Action.

The new offensive, in the opinion of the foreign observers, may provide the spectacle of Nippon's best troops operating behind hundreds rather than scores of field pieces, tanks, and planes.

These observers said it was conceivable that more than a million Japanese and Chinese soldiers would be engaged in the southern Shantung area.

While vanguards of each side clashed Sunday, heralding this major encounter along the meandering little Yi river, Chinese forces deeper inland intensified attacks on Yihsien and Tsaochwang.

The Chinese hoped to unbalance the Japanese concentrations to the northwest of Yihsien and Tsaochwang. The Chinese besiegers were reported to have cut their way into the southern suburbs of Yihsien. Casualties mounted into the hundreds for both sides.

Under Siege Ten Days.

An estimated 5,000 Japanese trapped in the walled city were said still to be holding the center of the city, with the outskirts a muddy No Man's Land cluttered with bodies which neither side dared nor had time to gather.

With the Chinese reporting complete encirclement of the city, the ten day resistance of siege had become one of the notable incidents of the war.

Chinese sources reported numerous Japanese heavy artillery units pulling out of Shansi and north Honan provinces, presumably bound for Shantung to aid a right wing drive down the Tientsin-Pukow railway and a simultaneous left wing attack in the Lini sector.

Forced Into Heavy Fighting

Heavy Japanese reinforcements for the Lini sector were pouring down along the Shantung coast. Between 3,000 and 4,000 fresh soldiers and a transport column of 300 truck arrived at Chuhsien, thirty-five miles northeast of Lini, while supporting forces moved along the coast.

Shanghai observers were convinced that Japan has been forced to choose between a patient, diversified, long term war and the resultant slow sapping of strength and one devastating blow to buckle the Chinese lines, destroy morale, and gain possession of the Lunghai railway to cripple Chinese communications.

The Chinese army undeniably is growing in man power, equipment, training, and morale, while each week sees guerrilla fighting better organized. The Chinese civilian spirit is hardening and reports from Hankow say that Chinese are advancing in production of their own war materials. Twenty newly trained divisions were reported assembled in Hankow.

MIKADO WEIGHS CRISIS

TOKIO, April 17.—(AP)—There were indications today that the imperial palace was concerned by Japan's serious political situation.

Marquis Yasumasa Matsudaira, chief secretary to the lord keeper of the privy seal, called upon 88 year old Prince Kimmochi Saionji, the elder statesmen, and the newspaper Asahi said the marquis conveyed "the views of the senior subjects of his majesty."

Hence Saionji will know the palace attitude on the crisis, in which Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoe has been reported threatening to resign when he confers with the premier's proxy, Education Minister Koichi Kido.

Opposes Military Leaders.

Kido, one of the backers of Konoe in the premier's trouble with military and naval leaders over their demand for invocation of the drastic national mobilization law, will visit the elder statesman Thursday.

Kido, conferring with Konoe yesterday along with several other political leaders who visited the premier's villa, was reported to have argued against any political change.

The newspaper Hochi said Kido warned that "a political change must be avoided now lest it have an undesirable reaction" on prosecution of the war in China.

Japanese naval circles and the press, meanwhile, were moved to comment on the United States' naval expansion bill, now passed by the house, approved by the senate naval affairs committee, and awaiting senate action.

U. S. a Menace in Pacific.

Generally they saw it as a "great menace to the western Pacific." "America's transoceanic ambitions," they said, are now unmistakable. The admiralty officially was silent, but all the papers quoted official circles to the same effect.

The press generally said approval of the Vinson bill by the senate committee showed that Japan was not responsible for starting the naval race.

CANADIAN LAKE SHIPS RELEASED; STRIKE SETTLED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TORONTO, Ont., April 17.—Canadian lake shipping, which at the opening of navigation last Friday was almost wholly tied up by a strike of the Canadian Seamen's union, was released shortly before midnight tonight. A settlement was negotiated by union officials and representatives of the seven major shipping companies and their affiliates. President J. Pat Sullivan of the seamen's union said the settlement won for crews the right to join the organization of their choosing. Union officials will now meet with company representatives.

Call Strike to Shut Up All British Movie Houses

LONDON, April 17.—(AP)—Members of the electrical trades union, voting to strike at three movie production studios in support of an operators' walkout, tonight issued a call for nation-wide closing of picture houses. The plea was made in behalf of 1,500 movie operators in London, Manchester, Hull, and Bolton who struck for higher wages and recognition of their union. More than 500 theaters were affected in London.

21 Months of Spanish Civil Warfare

Spanish garrisons revolted against the republican government. The rebels began their initial troop movements from Cadiz, Burgos, and Pamplona.

The rebels gained control of Morocco, three of the Balearic Islands and sections of southern and northern Spain, the loyalists holding a strip of the northern coast.

In two months of intensive campaigning, Gen. Franco connected his territory near the Portuguese border, and captured Irun, San Sebastian, and Toledo.

At the end of the first year Madrid had been under siege for eight months, Franco had taken Malaga in the south and Bilbao in the north.

The rebels had completed their occupation of all northern Spain, won the Teruel offensive, and were ready to start their drive on Catalonia.

The great "march to the sea" reached the Mediterranean at Vinaroz and the rebels won Catalonian territory extending northward from Lerida to the French frontier.

REBELS BATTLE TO EXTEND GRIP ON SPAIN'S COAST

Occupy 2 Towns in Drive Near Tortosa.

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SARAGOSSA, Spain, April 17.—The troops of Generalissimo Francisco Franco advancing northward along the Mediterranean shore toward Tortosa today captured the villages of Mas de Barberans and La Galera.

Mas de Barberans is ten miles to the southwest of Tortosa and La Galera twelve miles due south. The Fascists' slashing attack brought them near Amposta, which is eight miles south of Tortosa. Important eastern coastal highways converge at Tortosa.

Fascist troops, who are fighting to extend Franco's grip along the eastern coast, now menace Tortosa from three sides—the south, the west, and the northwest. The loyalists defending the battered city have only the road to Tarragona and Barcelona as an avenue of escape.

Resistance Crumbling.

In today's drive the Fascists were without opposition from the ground or air. All roads south of Tortosa and the delta of the Ebro river were filled with marching columns of Franco's troops.

Franco's headquarters asserted loyalist resistance was crumbling and that the fall of Tortosa, once a city of 20,000, was imminent. Besides the drive northward toward Tortosa, Franco's coastal columns also were driving southward toward Castellon, ever widening the breach between Catalonia and the rest of loyalist Spain.

Gen. Garcia Valino commands the northward march on Tortosa. Field reports said the loyalist defenders had dynamited bridges over the Ebro there and at Amposta. Planes scouting over the city reported that parts of Tortosa were in flames.

Franco's Navy on Patrol.

HENDAYE, France [at the Spanish Frontier], April 17.—(AP)—Generalissimo Francisco Franco rushed land, sea, and air forces toward eastern Spain today.

A rebel fleet under Admiral Juan Cervera and led by the cruiser Canarias yesterday steamed away from Palma, Franco's Balearic Island base, to start day and night patrol of the 25 mile strip of newly won coastal territory north and south of Vinaroz.

The naval force was ordered to use its guns to supplement land and aerial bombardment to protect fringes of the salient which the rebels pushed to the sea two days ago.

Gen. José Miaja, using his new powers as virtual military dictator over government territory exclusive of Catalonia, ordered all available sea power to a base about seventy miles northeast of Valencia to protect Castellon de la Plana from naval bombardment.

Rebel Air Force Strengthened.

Several bombing planes, also from the Palma base, winged across the Mediterranean to Franco's air base near Valderrobres, about 30 miles inland from Tortosa.

On the central Catalonian front, about 70 miles west of Barcelona, where Franco's men had been held at a standstill nearly two weeks by government resistance solidified after the fall of Lerida, the rebels pressed new attacks.

One rebel force near Balaguer, northeast of Lerida, hammered at government forces entrenched along the Urgel canal. Another column left the village of Artesa, six miles southeast of Lerida, and pushed forward between the Lerida-Tarragona railway and the canal.

JAPANESE AIR BOMBS WRECK BRIDGE LINKING HONGKONG TO CANTON

HONGKONG, April 17.—(AP)—A large steel bridge that helped link Canton and Hongkong by rail was wrecked last night in a Japanese aerial attack.

It was estimated that ninety days would be needed for repairs. Passengers were ferried across the river between trains, but no freight could be carried.

A time bomb exploded today in the Hongkong postoffice. It was believed to have come in a mail bag from Shanghai, intended for transfer to a mail plane for Hankow. No one was injured.

FOUR KILLED IN MOSLEM-HINDU RIOT IN BOMBAY

BOMBAY, April 17.—(AP)—Four persons were killed and 68 injured today in rioting in Bombay among Hindus and Moslems. Police reinforcements were called out and the authorities issued an order banning the assembly of more than five persons in any one group and the carrying of weapons. A curfew was imposed.

150,000 RECEIVE POPE'S BLESSING AT EASTER RITES

3 New Saints Canonized by the Pontiff.

VATICAN CITY, April 17.—(AP)—Pope Pius formally canonized three new saints today in magnificent Easter ceremonies in St. Peter's and bestowed his blessing on one of the greatest multitudes ever assembled in the plaza before the basilica.

More than 150,000 persons waited for hours in the bright sunshine for the final event of the Easter services—the appearance of the pontiff.

The pope's appearance was delayed because he took a rest following the canonization of the saints and mass within St. Peter's. He was carried to a great hall behind a balcony where a compartment was arranged to permit him to recline. His physician, Dr. Amanti Milani, was in attendance.

Sits on Portable Throne.

When the pope appeared before the throng he sat upon a portable throne. His golden tiara glistened in the sun. He was but a tiny figure in the distant balcony to most of those who gathered in the vast square.

But when he intoned his Easter blessing the Latin words came clear and loud over the loudspeakers.

Suspended from the balcony was a tapestry ornamented with the figures of three new saints—Andrea Bobola of Poland, in martyr's red; Salvador de Horta of Spain, in the brown robes of the Franciscans, and Giovanni Leonardi of Italy, in the black of the Clerics of the Mother of God.

A congregation of 50,000 attended the mass and canonization ceremonies within St. Peter's. Trumpeters announced the pope's entrance.

Reads Off Names of Saints.

The pontiff raised his hand slowly to bless the faithful and then, assuming his throne near the altar, received from the cardinals a renewal of their oaths of obedience to him.

A consistorial advocate approached the throne, accompanied by Cardinal Laurenti, head of the congregation of rites, and read off the names of the three to be canonized.

The advocate asked the pope if he wished their names inscribed in the calendar of saints.

Msgr. Antonio Bacci, the pope's secretary of briefs, replied in Latin for the pontiff, saying he wished first to implore the aid of the Virgin and all the saints and desired all present to join him in prayer.

The advocate asked the question three times more—"insistently, more insistently and most insistently," according to the ritual—and only after the third time did he receive a response that the pope was ready to do so.

Pope Gives His Assent.

He then read the decree of canonization. The pope gave his assent with the single Latin word "decernimus"—"we will it."

A Te Deum burst out from the Sistine choir, the 11 ton bell of St. Peter's boomed joyously. From the roof dozens of pigeons were released.

"Oremus," said the pope, as the last strains of the hymn died away, beginning the first prayer to the new saints. The faithful joined him in the supplication.

Cardinal Pignatelli di Belmonte, 87 year old dean of the sacred college, then ascended to the altar to celebrate the Easter mass, replete with tinkling bells, flickering candles, incense, and songs by the choir. After the mass the pope took his rest.

Later, with a fanfare of trumpets, the pope was borne out on the balcony and the crowd sent up tremendous shouts of "Long live the pope!"

BOMBINGS MAR RITES

JERUSALEM, April 17. — (AP) — Death stalked the Holy Land again today in a week-end of terrorism while Jerusalem celebrated Easter in impressive, closely guarded services.

One Arab was killed and six Arabs and a Jew were wounded as two bombs were thrown into an Arab café in the center of Haifa from a passing automobile.

An aged Jew was injured slightly by a bomb thrown in the Jewish quarter of Jerusalem.

In the Holy City itself, under the watchful eyes of police and mounted reënforcements, Christians mingled with gayly dressed Moslems and somberly garbed Jews making their way to their respective services on Easter.

The Christians celebrated the resurrection of Christ at the ancient Church of the Holy Sepulcher, the Jews observed the Passover at the Wailing Wall, and the Moslems partook of the feast of Nebi Musa at the mosque of Omar.

FRENCH MAY JOIN BRITISH-ITALIAN FRIENDSHIP PACT

Seek to Get Hitler Into a "New Locarno."

LONDON, April 17.—(AP)—The possibility of a new European alignment to preserve peace was seen tonight in the wake of the British-Italian friendship accord.

France laid plans to extend that agreement, signed last night in Rome, into a tri-power pact by negotiating with Italy for settlement of Franco-Italian differences.

The general hope was that a Franco-Italian accord on top of Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's agreement with Premier Mussolini either would bring Germany into a "new Locarno" pact or furnish a strong barrier to possible further Nazification of Europe.

[The pact of Locarno of 1925, whereby Germany, France, Belgium, Great Britain, and Italy mutually guaranteed the peace of western Europe, was repudiated by Adolf Hitler March 7, 1936, when he remilitarized the Rhineland zone.]

Not Ready for Deal.

There were no indications Britain and France were ready to deal with Reichsfuehrer Hitler now. His march on Vienna was too recent for that.

Nevertheless, official circles in London pointed out carefully that the British-Italian agreement for ending long standing differences between London and Rome was not directed against Germany.

As a long range policy, Chamberlain is determined to get a four power pact.

Poland May Be Added.

Possibilities for the future included a suggestion the new lineup might include not four powers but five through the addition of Poland.

France's plans for negotiations with Italy will be discussed Wednesday in a cabinet meeting in Paris and Premier Edouard Daladier and his foreign minister, Georges Bonnet, will arrive in London April 28 for talks on Anglo-French collaboration with Chamberlain.

It was believed generally France would join a four power pact with Germany only if Hitler would be ready to maintain the territorial and political status quo in Europe.

LITVINOV FAILS TO SEE ENVOYS; GOSSIP STARTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, April 17.—Foreign diplomats in Moscow are wondering what has become of Maxim Litvinov, soviet foreign commissar. Litvinov, it was disclosed here today, has not received members of the foreign diplomatic staf for several days.

[Last year Litvinov's name was mentioned in connection with reports of a plot to assassinate Dictator Josef Stalin. At the time it was rumored Litvinov was seriously compromised. GPU agents [secret police] investigated affairs of the foreign commissariat.]

The Moscow newspaper Izvestia says the British-Italian friendship pact was negotiated in haste that indicates panic. It warns Britain that it will pay dearly for its support of the Fascist and Nazi régimes of Europe.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

BATTLE BEGINS ON ROOSEVELT'S SPENDING SPREE

Vandenberg Makes Attack on Program.

Ark.], who said that the fear that the budget will not be balanced "nullifies every plan enacted or proposed," and Franklin D. Roosevelt who said in October, 1932:

"If in some crises the government lives beyond its income for a year or two, it can usually borrow temporarily on reasonable terms. But if, like a spendthrift, it throws discretion to the winds, is willing to make no sacrifice at all in spending, extends its taxation to the limit of the people's power to pay, and continues to pile up deficits, it is on the road to bankruptcy."

Right Then and Now.

"These statements," commented Mr. Vandenberg, "were right six years ago. The intervening 'pump priming' years have proved them right. I still stand where they stood then. I reject the wishful inconsistency which deserts a great truth at the very moment of its vivid proof. My next witness is the record:

In 1938: More than eleven million unemployed; 38 billions of national debt.

"Twenty billions more of debt bearing down upon the national income—five years of 'pump priming' on just as gigantic a plan as anything now proposed. Yet, we are back again in a new depression which in the swiftness of its intensity is worse than its predecessor. And we are back again to the same patent medicine which failed before."

Predicting that if the Roosevelt pump priming program is enacted the next annual deficit will be 5 billion dollars, the senator addressed himself to the taxpayer.

Taps All Pocketbooks.

"Make no mistake, Mr. Citizen," he said, "the federal government can get real money from just one place—your pocketbook.

"When it borrows to pay its bills it ultimately charges every penny, plus the interest, to your pocketbook.

"When it resorts to some devaluation trick it reduces the buying power of your money and again your pocketbook pays.

"When it passes a heavy tax bill it hits your pocketbook— and I mean every pocketbook because the bulk of our taxes finally become consumer taxes. The federal spenders and the federal 'pump primers' right now are taking at least 15 cents out of every dollar in your pocketbook.

"If they keep on there will be no ultimate alternative but a capital levy—which is the legal confiscation of private property because the public credit must be protected at all hazards, since we all crash when it crashes.

Says Spending Hurts Business.

"I agree with the President that the national income must be increased. But we can yet new purchasing power only by getting more production in business as distinguished from government. What hurts legitimate business hurts your pocketbook, decreases buying power, defeats recovery, and stifles jobs. That is precisely what is happening today.

"The taxes and deficits and lack of business confidence incidental to our last 'pump priming' spree are substantially responsible. The 'pump primers' had their chance. And now we have their depression.

"We cannot borrow our way out of adversity. We cannot spend our way into paradise. We have tried it—and it has failed. The government, at long last, should revert to a business basis.

"The government should retrench; not leap to new 'pump priming' profligacy. We should give business a real chance to do the job that government cannot do but which government very definitly can make impossible."

Republican Chairman Hamilton said that "Mr. Roosevelt's spending proposal is bad enough, but his sudden reversion to monetary and credit dealings must seriously disturb every person familiar with the history of the ruin and havoc in every country which has tried that road."

Hill Defends Spending.

Senator Hill asserted that the efficacy of the pump priming technique had been demonstrated by the increase in the national income from 38 billions in 1933 to 68 billions in 1937.

"No man has ever fought harder for the American traditions of liberty and democracy than President Roosevelt," said Mr. Hill. "No one has done more to save the capitalist system. For the capitalist system is completely dependent on the investment flow of capital and the profitable sale of goods produced. If either of these necessities fail, the government must step in to save the system.

"Now that private business has shown its inability to function without government assistance, there is no way to save the capitalist system except by resuming the government spending-lending program.

"In my opinion the first spending program was stopped too soon, but the fact that it was stopped too soon is a testimonial to the President's anxiety to coöperate in every way with what at the time was the opinion of business men."

DIES OF HEART ATTACK.

George Lang, 48 years old, of 10 South Winchester avenue, a clothing designer, died suddenly of a heart attack yesterday while visiting in the home of a friend, Clarence Boettcher, 8014 North Kilpatrick avenue, Niles Center. Lang's fiancee, Mrs. Tillie Nitz, 2630 North Humble street, Milwaukee, was with him.

'PUMP PRIMING' TO TOP ALL TAXES IN A PEACE YEAR

Money Is Raised by U. S. Borrowing.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 17.—[Special.]—The 4½ billion dollars President Roosevelt proposes to spend on pump priming in the fiscal year, which will begin July 1, is a greater amount than the federal government ever collected in any year in its history until the world war taxes were imposed.

At the close of the first full year's operation of the war taxes on June 30, 1919, the treasury had collected 5 billion, 152 million dollars in a single year. Not until 1917 did receipts pass a billion dollars. When the civil war closed they totaled 333 millions.

Flows from Taxation.

Since June 30, 1919, receipts have exceeded the 4½ billion dollar mark but three times—in 1920, 1921, and 1937. To date in the present fiscal year, they are almost at the 5 billion dollar mark. In the fiscal year in which the 4½ billion dollars is to be spent, receipts are not expected to be more than 5½ billion dollars.

This income flows largely from taxation. Most of it goes for the maintenance of the regular functions of the government. The gap between revenue receipts and the administration's pump priming expenditures in the past has been met by borrowing.

Congress at the request of the administration has, to date, appropriated some 14 billion 500 million dollars for pump priming. This has been reflected in the public debt which has risen from 22½ billion dollars on June 30, 1933, to 37½ billions to date.

Predict 41 Billion Debt in 1939.

The 4½ billion dollar fund pending in congress will be reflected largely in the public debt on June 30, 1939. Financial experts expect the public debt to pass the 41 billion dollar mark during the coming fiscal year.

If congress passes the 4½ billion dollar fund, and there is little doubt that congress will do so, the total pump priming appropriations of the Roosevelt administration will be 19 billion dollars. This represents about two-thirds of the sum the administration has collected and hopes to collect by June 30, 1939.

For the fiscal years 1934 to 1937 inclusive, the administration took in 18 billion 333 million dollars. It estimates that it will collect 6 billion 320 million dollars in the present fiscal year and 5 billion 919 million dollars in the coming fiscal year for a grand total of 28 billion 562 million dollars.

[Statistics compiled by Senator Alben W. Barkley cited in the story in adjoining column put the total of government expenditures and loans, including those of so-called self-liquidating agencies, at $49,134,625,178 from March 4, 1933, to Dec. 31, 1937.]

The estimate for the present fiscal year, administration experts gloomily concede, was made in rosier days and will not stand up. To date collections are below the 5 billion mark. They also concede that collections may show no improvement in the 1939 fiscal year.

Tax—	Yield in millions of dollars.
Personal income	$1,100
Corporation income	1,000
Tobacco	600
Liquor	600
Customs	500
Miscellaneous	400
Pay roll	300
Death	300
Gasoline	200
Total	$5,000

The tax bill at present has not begun to reflect the huge pump priming outlays of the present administration. In 1850 the per capita national income was less than the per capita tax today. The per capita income in 1850 was $80, of which 5 per cent went for taxes. The national income today is about $500, of which about $83 go for taxes. This includes all federal, state, and local taxes.

Per Capita Income of 6 Nations.

Nineteen per cent of the American per capita income goes to taxes. The percentage of taxes to income for leading nations is as follows:

United States	19
Japan	13
Canada	16
Germany	21
England	23
France	25

The federal tax bill today is more than 1,000 times the federal budget for the first two years of the country's existence.

In the early days of the country citizens were horrified to learn that the total expenditures of the thirteen original states for the double fiscal year of 1789-'91 was $4,269,029 and the young government ended up the period with a balance of $149,886.

During the week the citizens of the country learned with less astonishment that the President had asked $4,500,000,000 of congress to drive against the depression and the public debt stood at $37,500,000,000.

$4,500,000,000 Would Make 19 1-6 Chicago Ave. Water Towers of Silver

The President is asking $4,500,000,000 for priming the pump of the nation's business. This sum is equal to 1,101,369 cubic feet of silver at the world price of $0.4275 an ounce, or to the cubic content of 19 1-6 Chicago avenue water towers. The tower has a cubic content of 57,481 feet.

Below is a graphic comparison of the expenditures of the Roosevelt administration up to Dec. 31, 1937, with the cost to the nation of the world war.

PRESIDENT, WIFE, AND SON ATTEND EASTER SERVICE

Washington, D. C., April 17.—(AP)—President Roosevelt heard an Easter sermon plea today for the troubled world to solve its problems by accepting the philosophy of Christ.

The Rev. Howard S. Wilkinson, rector of St. Thomas' Episcopal church, told a congregation which included the President and Mrs. Roosevelt, that individually, nationally and internationally the spirit of materialism and selfishness abounds.

James Roosevelt, eldest son of the President; Mrs. James Roosevelt and their small daughter, Sara, 6 years old, and Miss Elizabeth Henderson, a cousin of Mrs. Roosevelt, accompanied the President and Mrs. Roosevelt to the services.

ROBBED OF EASTER FINERY.

Richard Kleverswat, 35 years old, 957 Montana street, a poultry dresser, was robbed of $12 and Easter finery he was carrying—a new suit, five pairs of socks, ties, and suspenders—near his home early yesterday.

CONGRESSMEN TO TAKE LOOK AT NEW AUTOGIRO

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 17.—[Special.]—One of the latest type of autogiros made in America will arrive here tomorrow to give a series of demonstrations as the house prepares to consider a two million dollar appropriation for military and civil research and development of the windmill craft.

The demonstrations are to be given at the request of members of congress as a preliminary to the opening of hearings by the house military affairs committee on the bill of Representative Frank J. G. Dorsey [D., Pa.], introduced late in the first session of the present congress.

It provides that the money be expended under supervision of the secretary of war for experiment, construction, improvement, and research of rotary wing aircraft.

The demonstrations will be given by a model KD-1 giro of the Kellett Autogiro corporation of Philadelphia. The giro will remain here through the hearings, which are scheduled for April 26, 27, and 28.

Judge Day Enters Ohio Contest for U. S. Senator

Columbus, O., April 17.—(AP)—Judge Arthur H. Day of the Ohio Supreme court announced today his candidacy for the Republican nomination for United States senator from Ohio. Day is the second to enter the Republican senatorial race. Former State Senator Robert A. Taft of Cincinnati earlier became a candidate.

TWO OF TEEN-AGE UP FOR TRIAL ON SLAYING CHARGES

Schmidt and Danielsen in Court This Week.

Two young men charged with homicides will appear in the criminal courts this week to learn whether they are to be given their freedom or sent to the penitentiary. One is charged with manslaughter, while the murder indictment against the other carries a manslaughter count. If convicted of manslaughter they can only be sent to prison or placed on probation.

The future of Charles Schmidt Jr., 19 years old, 1654 Melrose street, will be in the hands of a jury in Judge Robert Jerome Dunne's court. Schmidt is charged with manslaughter as a result of the death of his father's business partner. The jury was selected last week and testimony will start this morning.

Attacked Near Home.

Schmidt is accused of causing the death of Edward C. Richard, 59 years old, vice president of the printing concern of which the elder Schmidt was president. Richards was about to enter his home at 1358 Thorndale avenue on the night of Feb. 24 when he was attacked by the Schmidt boy, who had two companions, Jack Kroske, 17 years old, 1708 Melrose street and Robert Trams, 16, of 1753 Melroe street.

Kroske and Trams have been granted separate trials and according to Assistant State's Attorney Irwin Clorfene, will testify for the state against Schmidt. Neither is charged with striking any blows.

Richard's widow, Anna, will be the first witness called today. Following her on the stand will be Mrs. Frieda Bray, 1428 Thorndale avenue, who saw the ambush.

Expect Conflict in Testimony.

According to attorneys in the case there will be a sharp conflict in the testimony. Prosecutor Clorfene said his evidence will show that the attack on Richard was unprovoked and that young Schmidt was allegedly armed with a club or other instrument.

Attorney Benedict J. Short's defense will include that Richard and the elder Schmidt, who constantly quarreled over business affairs, had a dispute the day of homicide. Richard is alleged to have said some uncomplimentary things about Schmidt. The son went to ask him about these remarks, the defense will contend, and when he approached Richard the latter drew back his fist as if to strike. Young Schmidt struck first and Richard, it will be asserted, slipped on the ice and suffered a fractured skull which caused his death.

Try Slayer of Mother.

Theodore Danielsen, 16 year old high school boy, will go to trial for murder on Wednesday before Chief Justice Cornelius J. Harrington. It is indicated that he will place his fate in the hands of the judge rather than insist on a jury trial.

Danielsen, who is charged with slaying his mother, Mrs. Eleanor Danielsen, in their home, at 5316 North Lieb avenue on March 3, will place his hope for acquittal on the defense of a "mental blowup," brought on by his mother's stern attitude towarrd him. Dr. Harry R. Hoffman, of the Criminal court behaviour clinic, after examining Danielsen, reported he was not insane, but indicated he was in a "disturbed state" as a result of his mother's nagging.

Fellow Pupils on Stand.

An unusual array of defense witnesses will be called by Attorneys Edward R. Litsinger and Leonard C. Reid. They will include school teachers, ministers, and fifteen or twenty high school pupils who were friends of the young defendant. They are expected to give as their opinion that he was a mild, well mannered youth, who if he had not been driven to a state of frenzy by his mother's scolding, would never have been in trouble with the law.

If convicted of murder, Danielsen faces punishment ranging from fourteen years to life in prison. On the manslaughter count he could be sentenced to one to fourteen years imprisonment.

Van Devanter Visits Farm to Mark 79th Birthday

Washington, D. C., April 17.—(AP)—Willis Van Devanter, retired associate justice of the Supreme court, observed his 79th birthday today by visiting his farm near Ellicott City, Md. He appeared to be in excellent health.

FASHION PLATES PREEN AND STRUT AT THE ZOO, TOO

BY MARCIA WINN.

Even the animals took cognizance of Easter yesterday and in their own inimitable way paraded for the day at the Chicago Zoölogical park in Brookfield.

The lions, stalking about in their outdoor cages, wore long black ruches. Although none wore flowers, each male had a delicate spike at the tip of his tail, usually concealed by a feather duster of fur.

Leopards Add Swank Note.

The leopards, suave and patrician, wore black rosettes on gold. The zebras, six elders and two babies mincing sedately about their rocky enclosure, wore black stripes on white. A pair of Indian tigers, lithe and tense, wore slenderizing vertical stripes of black on tawn. They also flourished mutton chop whiskers.

The elephants, from friendly little Honey to big, handsome Ziggy, wore gray or dun colored horse blankets. Some of the blankets had seen previous wear, but neither elephants nor audience seemed perturbed.

Mei-Mei, the baby giant panda, fresh from the hair dresser, was a symphony in black and white fur and sparkling toe nails. She wore a carrot between her teeth. Coffin, the cormorant, had a new growth of bushy white eyebrows to brighten his black feathers. He produces them annually, jutting out over his eyes like clean broom straw, for the nuptial season. His mate, however, went brazenly about, her eyes unveiled.

Females Outshone by Mates.

For the most part, it was the males rather than the females, who preened and strutted. The most sombre gentleman, and thus the most forlorn, was Petie the penguin, who would have cut a fine figure on Michigan avenue in his black morning coat and white weskit, but was out of the running at Brookfield. When he tried to look pompous, he looked merely ridiculous.

The others, with the exception of those creatures of proud elegance, the peacocks, wore strictly sport clothes. Intermittent sunshine and rain and other exigencies of nature made this imperative.

Twelve peacocks roamed the park. A few were in pure white, tail and all. Others strutted proudly about, their great fan shaped trains, brilliant in full plumage, iridescent and shimmering behind them. They coldly ignored all human admirers.

Neat Tan and White Outfits.

Antelopes, neat in fawn, tan or white, picked their delicate way around the paddocks. Sherif and Sahara, parents of Mhada, the baby Addax antelope born last week, were the only ones to wear new spring coats. Theirs are tan. Mhada, wearing a smart seasonal mixture of tan shoulders and white legs, lay quietly beside Sahara, her limpid brown eyes curious.

Sultan, the valuable male baby gorilla, wore shiny black, his pink nose his only touch of color.

The giant elands, outdoors for the first time since their arrival from the Sudan last October, sniffed their way about the giraffe yard. They made no concessions to the day or to the season. But then, sighed Robert Bean, assistant director, they never do.

Soft, supple flannels woven by guildsmen in a famous old mill in the heart of England

Apperly Bridge is a tiny town in England ... built around its only enterprise ... the old, thick-walled mill where, for seven generations of the same ownership-management, skilled craftsmen have devoted their time to the production of fine flannels.

For these are flannels that have all of the characteristic softness, plus a sleekness of finish that is unusual. They're firm enough to take hand-tailoring, but soft enough to drape smartly and "springy" enough to hold their shape. Because of the long, staple wools used, the nap is anchored in the heart of the fabric. And the colorings are as clear as the spring-fed stream that flows past the mill door.

There are grays, blue grays, and greens in solid shades or with chalk stripes. There are both single and double-breasted drape or conservative models. And they've all been hand-tailored in this country to rigid specification. And when you remember that with all these quality factors, we're selling them for $42.50—you can see why we say, "Come early for the best selection."

BARE ANOTHER DREAM DEAL BY BROKER CONCERN

Tout Mythical Bond Issue to Save Company.

break up the trust fund. Investigators also pointed out that even if such a plan had been considered it is extremely unlikely that Hershey would have sought the services of Hoagland-Allum. The brokerage house, while regarded as reputable until its collapse, had never handled an account of such magnitude.

Miss Anderson and Harold Railey, bookkeeper for the Hoagland company, told O'Connor that there are confidential files in the firm offices at 14 South La Salle street which may shed further light on operations preceding the collapse. These files will be examined today. The two are in technical custody and have promised full coöperation in the inquiry. The three officials of the company are held at the detective bureau.

Press Fraud Investigation.

The Illinois securities commission, which had supervision over the firm, is particularly interested in discovering how many of the bond issues underwritten by the company were its own promotions. John T. Jarecki, the securities commissioner, who is the son of County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki, said that he believed that half of the issues sold by the company were never registered with the commission, which would have been a violation of the blue sky law.

Most of the securities entrusted to the firm by its customers are now missing. Some of these were nonnegotiable, O'Connor said, and if the company disposed of them there may have been forged indorsements involved.

Today the investigators will open personal vaults of the three officials in the Northern Trust company. It is hoped these vaults will yield important records needed in the inquiry.

False Report Filed.

Relatively lax supervision by the state securities department, investigators said, permitted the Hoagland company to file a false annual report on April 30, 1937, which showed a favorable financial position while the company was actually losing money. O'Connor contended yesterday that the department should be required by law to make thorough semi-annual audits of the firms it supervises. The department has authority to examine records of these firms at any time, but usually accepts the annual reports as bona fide.

Commissioner Jarecki said that at the last session of the legislature he asked for $10,000 for employment of more auditors. The legislature allowed the appropriation, but it was vetoed by Gov. Horner. Another effort to get the money will be made at the next session, Jarecki declared.

The federal Securities and Exchange commission also has jurisdiction over the Hoagland firm because its business was interstate. W. McNeil Kennedy, regional administrator for the commission, and a staf of accountants continued their study of the company records yesterday.

Charges Direct Embezzlement.

Kennedy said that in several instances the company bought securities on customers' orders, but later converted these securities into cash without the customers' knowledge. This constituted direct embezzlement, Kennedy asserted.

Among the promotions by Hoagland-Allum, on which it underwrote bonds, were the Northern Texas Gas company, the Mid-Co Oil company and the Jubilee Silver Mine in Arizona. O'Connor said the gas company bonds were never registered under the blue sky laws, and that an engineer's report on the mine several years ago described the property as "worse than worthless."

O'Connor said that embezzlement indictments against Allum, Larsen and Engel, the Hoagland-Allum officials, probably will be sought before the grand jury Wednesday.

Last Wednesday night, some hours before the firm's predicament became public, Russell W. Brown, a vice president, was found dead in the garage behind his home at 6678 Octavia avenue. A coroner's jury found that he died of carbon monoxide poisoning, but gave no verdict on whether the death was accidental or suicide.

New York, April 17.—[Special.]—Part of the discipline young Dirck Roosevelt and his schoolmate, Henry Distler, got for running away from Groton school was a prompt return to school. Their parents expected to have them back at Groton in time for classes tomorrow. Dirck, who is a grandson of President Theodore Roosevelt and son of Mrs. Kermit Roosevelt, and Henry disappeared and while police of several states were looking for them turned up yesterday at the Distler home in Baltimore.

POETICAL HIGH JINKS PLANNED BY PRAIRIE CLUB

Shakespeare Hike to Be Held Saturday.

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.

William Shakespeare of Stratford on Avon and the sixteenth century will go hiking with the Prairie Club of Chicago through the Starved Rock woodlands on the Illinois river next Saturday, the 374th anniversary of his birth.

The marching song of the hikers will be the blithe quatrain of Peddler Autolycus in "The Winter's Tale"—

Jog on, jog on, the footpath way,
And merrily hent the stile-a:
A merry heart goes all the day,
Your sad tires in a mile-a.

And the spirit of the two-day forest festival, as proclaimed in the Prairie club's announcement, is "Out-of-Doors with Shakespeare."

Celebration in Council Cave.

From 3:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon—when the birthday celebration will begin in Council cave near Starved Rock—until Sunday evening—when trains and buses will bring the hikers back to Chicago—the forest around the historic rock and the waters of the mighty river at its foot will resound with woodland songs and sylvan sayings from Shakespeare's plays and poems.

His "Under the Greenwood Tree" and "Blow, Blow, Thou Winter Wind" from "As You Like It," and his "Hark! Hark! the Lark" from "Cymbeline" will be heard where once the war songs of savages rose.

His rhapsody to the daffodils—"daffodils that come before the swallow dares and take the winds of March with beauty," and to "violets dim but sweeter than the lids of Juno's eyes," will be uttered.

For the evening of Saturday men and women of the club are rehersing scenes from "As You Like It," the loveliest woodland comedy in English literature, and popped in between songs and play acting will be some of Shakespeare's gnomic woodland utterances.

Public Invited to Join.

In these poetical high-jinks the club invites the public to join, for in launching this, the first of its Shakespeare birthday hikes, it hopes to lure a host of city-pent people into woodland festivals that in time may develop into something comparable to the annual festivals of music and poetry which the Bohemian club of San Francisco has made nationally celebrated.

The public can obtain full information as to the arrangements for the birthday hike by telephoning Dearborn 3737 or by a personal call at the Prairie club's downtown headquarters, room 757 First National Bank building, 38 South Dearborn street.

TWO MEN HURT WHEN AIRPLANE FALLS INTO TREE

Two men were injured last evening when their open cockpit plane went out of control at two thousand feet and crashed into a tree in a field three quarters of a mile east of Willow Springs road, in Lyons township.

George Lucken, 33 years old, 10007 South Racine avenue, the pilot, and his passenger, William F. Guse, 40, of 2337 North Harding avenue, were taken to the Berwyn hospital where Guse's injuries were found to be serious. Lucken was cut and bruised.

Policeman Max Altman of the Willow Springs county highway station said Lucken apparently lost control of the plane in a strong air current. The plane was wrecked in the crash, but the ignition had been turned off and it did not burn. Lucken and Guse had taken off from the Stinson airport near La Grange.

New York, April 17.—[Special.]—The Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith says his committee of 1,000,000 will make a triple attack on the Roosevelt administration, on communism, and on Fascism.

The Rev. Gerald Smith.

The committee of 1,000,000 was started a year ago as the direct result of sitdown strikes fomented by John L. Lewis and his Committee for Industrial Organization, with help given by the administration, Smith said. The organization is financed entirely by popular subscriptions.

The young preacher, who delivered the fiery funeral oration over the grave of the assassinated Huey P. Long, the Louisiana dictator, revealed his aims today. His organization, Smith declared, will enter the election campaigns this year against rubber stamp Democratic congressmen and senators who refused to take a stand against the dictator legislation demanded by the White House.

Averages Speech a Day.

During the last year Smith has averaged better than a speech a day and the meetings he addresses, including gatherings of laborers, business men, students, and housewives, are growing daily in number. Headquarters for his crusade reports that 135,000 adherents were obtained during the year and membership is expected to advance in the middle west when a Chicago office is opened.

Smith came to New York after a bitter split with Huey's heirs over the future course of the political movement the late senator left behind him. The leaders made their peace with Washington in a deal which resulted in the withdrawal of income tax evasion charges, sometimes known as the second Louisiana purchase, while Smith alone remained adamant against the Roosevelt administration.

Imbued with Religious Zeal.

The preacher, who is 40 years old and whose stocky build, wavy hair, and Roman profile make for an imposing platform appearance, is imbued with a religious zeal to wrest the government out of the hands of the burocrats whom he accuses of seeking to set up a dynasty which embodies "all the evils of communism, Fascism, and Naziism."

A great groundswell starting with the middle class will bring about a new régime in American affairs, Smith predicted.

"This return to American traditions," he asserted, "will be brought about by the people who grub stumps, have babies, pay the preacher, balance their books, and raise money for the Red Cross. I am talking about the great unawakened middle class which can take more abuse than any set of human beings in the world, but can halt those abuses quicker than any other group when aroused."

Finds People in Pain.

The American people start a crusade with the word "ouch," according to Smith, and more and more men and women are saying it.

"The common man is in pain," he declared. "He knows he's got something, but he doesn't know what it is. It must be something he ate, but he doesn't know exactly what. But he's coming to realize that the trouble all started when he swallowed the New Deal."

"I believe there is a feeling more popular in America than the philosophy of 'gimme,' which Washington has been fostering," said Mr. Smith. "This crusade is for the people who want to serve their country rather than to get something out of it."

Fred Kaplan, 19 years old of 618 Sheridan square, Evanston, was rescued yesterday when his kayak overturned in Lake Michigan a mile off Howard street. Kaplan clung to the tiny boat until H. W. Parker, 7515 Greenview avenue, reached him in a row boat. Young Kaplan is the son of Frank Kaplan, vice president of the Dutch Mill Candy Stores company.

TRACE BRATTEN'S MOVEMENTS ON DAY OF KILLING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Marion, Ill., April 17.—[Special.]—Police directed by Mayor Harry L. Crisp and Sherif Zollie Carter today reconsidered every clew in the emasculation murder of Arno Bratten, former high school principal, in the hope that some previously overlooked bit of evidence might lead to the slayer. Bratten disappeared the night of Feb. 14 and his body was found in a creek near here April 6.

Mayor Crisp questioned several persons today about the movements of Bratten on the afternoon of Feb. 14. He returned to Marion shortly after noon from a visit to Beardstown and was seen in the business district several times. Crisp believes Bratten might have mentioned something of his plans for the evening when he told his wife he was going to attend a meeting.

The possibility that Bratten had an appointment with the slayer who he knew as a friend is not overlooked. Bloodstains found in the opening of an abandoned mine east of Marion supported a theory that he might have been taken there and slain and his body carried to Crab Orchard creek a few miles away where it was found, half covered by sand.

FORMER LUMBERMAN'S FUNERAL.

Holland, Mich., April 17.—[Special.]—Arthur W. Seymour, 83 years old, will be buried tomorrow. He had lived south of here on his farm for twenty years. Previously he had been in the lumber business in Chicago.

Family Away, He Finds Home Destroyed by Fire

Elwood J. Carr arrived home early yesterday to find that his two story colonial residence at 12423 South 71st avenue had been destroyed by fire. The loss was estimated at $10,000. Carr's wife and children are in Florida. A watchman discovered the fire at 2 a. m., but the house burned to the ground before fire apparatus arrived.

Moving Forward

Marshall Field & Company presents here each day observations and opinions intended to be of interest and value to those it seeks to serve.

JUST SINGING TOGETHER

By CALEB

ON THE night of April 20 the Marshall Field Choral Society of 175 voices will give its annual recital in Orchestra Hall—and the great hall's 2,700 seats will be filled almost entirely by Field employes who, like the singers, represent virtually every department in the store.

Originally it was planned to offer substantial blocks of tickets for public sale, since the Field Choristers have gained something of a reputation in musical circles. But, alas for plans—long before the date of the performance all but a scattered few of the available seats had been reserved by Field employes. The recital was a sell-out to the home folks!

For many years the Field Chorus has staged a spring recital. The chorus has always belonged primarily to those in the front line of store service. In it are salespeople, housekeepers, elevator operators, stockroom workers, engineers—and many others who represent important phases of Field work. The group makes its own plans and rules, arrives at its own decisions. For months rehearsals have been going on. Those who hailed Spring with Field's recently had a foretaste of the annual recital when the chorus gathered in the store each morning, opening the day with a song.

We are proud of the Field Choral Society—all of us. The ability to think together, pull together and work together for a common end is one of the most significant qualities Field workers have.

Choral singing may seem far separated from the successful operation of a great store. To us there is a close parallel. In each case the result is accomplished by a symphony of effort—a fusing of individual talent and ability—to produce a single, harmonic result. Each singer contributes to the pleasing effect of the music—and a single discord can undo the entire chorus.

A lot of pleasant things grow out of just singing together. It forms associations deep and fine and lasting. For thirty years and more the Chorus has been a Field tradition—and some of its members today have sung with it steadily during most of that time.

John Charles Thomas, celebrated baritone, will assist as soloist on this year's program, and we'll enjoy him. But somehow the greatest pleasure of all is going to be watching our own folks—just singing together.

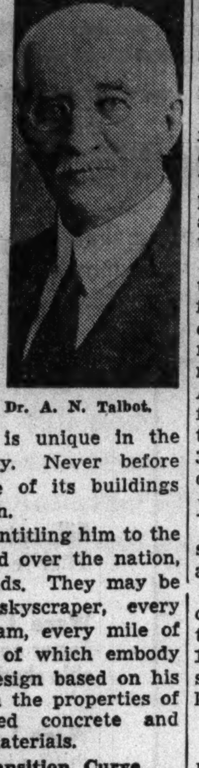
ILLINOIS TO NAME LABORATORY FOR ARTHUR N. TALBOT

Honors Leading Authority on Concrete.

Champaign, Ill., April 17.—[Special.]—In recognition of a spare, blue-eyed octogenarian who knows more about concrete than any other living person, the University of Illinois is holding a special convocation Thursday to rename its materials testing laboratory the Arthur Newell Talbot laboratory.



Dr. A. N. Talbot.

The honor paid Dr. Talbot, one of the world's leading investigators and teachers in the engineering field, is unique in the university's history. Never before has it named one of its buildings for a living person.

The credentials entitling him to the honor are scattered over the nation, and in foreign lands. They may be found in every skyscraper, every great bridge or dam, every mile of concrete road, all of which embody fundamentals of design based on his pioneering work in the properties of concrete, reinforced concrete and other structural materials.

Contributes Transition Curve.

Every time a railroad train swings into a curve without lurching and tossing its passengers in their berths or seats it testifies to another of his contributions—the railway transition curve. In the last century railroad curves were based on circles, which gave centrifugal force maximum opportunity to exert itself, to the discomfort of the passengers.

Dr. Talbot developed a curve based on the spiral in 1891, which with later developments, is still in use in railroad design. Its advantage is that it eases the train on and off the curve without sharp changes of direction incident to a circular curve.

Another major field of Dr. Talbot's investigation has been on track stresses. It is as a result of his discoveries of the manner in which trains pound rails and roadbeds that rights of way were designed to carry streamliners safely at their 100 mile an hour speeds.

Dr. Talbot's work on concrete is considered his greatest contribution to engineering science, however. In 1909 he led the movement which resulted in codifying engineering knowledge of reënforced concrete.

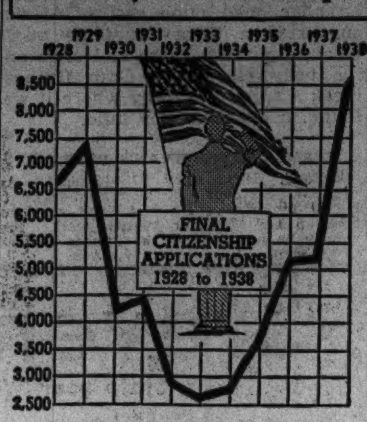
Pupils Leading Engineers.

Always too busy to write textbooks, Dr. Talbot's influence was felt in two ways—through his bulletins published by the university's engineering experiment station and in engineering periodicals, and through the younger men whom he trained.

M. L. Enger, dean of the university's engineering school, who will preside at the convocation Thursday, was one of his pupils. Another was Dr. Robert E. Doherty, president of Carnegie Institute of Technology, who will be the principal speaker at the convocation.

At 80 Dr. Talbot is still active in research work. He retired from teaching in 1926. His connection with the university covers a span of sixty years.

Rush for Citizenship



Graph of the number of applicants for final citizenship papers during first quarters of the years since 1928. The rush this year set a record for the ten year period.

A study of naturalization statistics for the first three months of 1938 disclosed yesterday the apparent attractiveness of WPA employment, old age pensions, and other public benefits to aliens, who must gain citizenship to take advantage of them.

During the quarter 8,576 applications for final citizenship papers were filed, according to Fred J. Schlotfeldt, district director of immigration and naturalization. This is the largest number recorded in a ten year period. Applications totaled 5,225 during the first quarter period of 1937, 5,119 in the corresponding period of 1936, and 3,671 during the first three months of 1935.

FOUND DEAD UNDER VIADUCT.

James Woods, 40 years old, 20 North Racine avenue, was found dead yesterday hanging from a pillar under the North Western railroad viaduct at Kinzie and Noble streets.

CHICAGO STARTS WEEK DEVOTED TO YOUTH TODAY

Chicago's observance of Youth week begins today and will continue through next Monday. Programs designed to center attention on the activities of young people have been prepared for each of the eight days. More than 75 organizations have agreed to take an active part. Mayor Kelly urged citizens to participate in the observance.

The subject of the programs today will be the home and family; tomorrow, health and athletics; Wednesday, vocations and industry; Thursday, creative group activity; Friday, school and citizenship; Saturday, the out-of-doors; Sunday, church and religion, and Monday, leisure time.

Special activities have been planned in the public schools, where parents will be given the opportunity to see their children at work. Community centers will observe Youth week with special programs and churches and young peoples' organizations have reported that they will participate also.

3 RAPISTS ROUT ESCORT, ATTACK WOMAN IN AUTO

Three young men were being hunted as rapists yesterday by North Damen avenue police. They attacked Mrs. Cathryn Hanson, 21 years old, of 1835 Wellington avenue, who is separated from her husband and who had just been escorted home by De Wille Semerau, a salesman living at 2305 Roscoe street. The rapists climbed into the automobile driven by Semerau when it stopped in front of Mrs. Hanson's home. After driving for several blocks they forced Semerau out.

Nino Martini, 11 Others Injured in Train Wreck

New York, April 17.—(AP)—Nino Martini, the tenor, and 10 other passengers and a brakeman, were injured early today near Hudson, N. Y., when the second section of the New York Central's westbound Iroquois rammed the first section. Martini phoned his manager here from Cleveland, where he stopped for treatment of a leg injury which caused him to cancel a concert engagement in Denver. All the injured except Martini were taken to Vassar hospital in Poughkeepsie. None of them, it was said, was seriously hurt.

OPEN C. M. T. C. ROLLS TO 1,200 IN COOK COUNTY

The army's vacation opportunity for young men between 17 and 24 years of age is offered today with the beginning of the enrollment for the Citizens' Military Training corps. Enrollment will continue for 30 days or until Cook county's quota of 1,200 is filled.

From July 7 to Aug. 7 four courses of instruction will be given at Fort Sheridan [elementary], and Camp Custer, Mich.; Camp McCoy, Wis., and Jefferson Barracks, Mo. [advanced]. Transportation to and from camp, board, lodging, medical attention, uniforms, equipment, and laundry service is provided free of charge.

Mornings in camp are devoted to setting-up exercises, military drill, lectures on citizenship, and other training activities. Afternoons are given over to sports.

EASTER'S AUTO TOLL IS 5 DEAD; SEVEN INJURED

Girl of 14 Killed as She Walks with Sister.

Easter brought a series of automobile accidents that resulted in the death of five persons and injury to seven others.

While crossing the street with her sister last night, Rita Donovan, 14 years old, of 1322 South Claremont avenue, was struck and fatally injured by an automobile in front of 944 Ogden avenue. The driver, Edgar Bemmish, 625 Green Bay road, Wilmette, a mechanic, was held. Rita and her sister, Agnes, 16 years old, were returning from a visit to their grandmother when the accident occurred.

One Killed, Six Hurt in Crash.

Harold Spencer, 25 years old, 3904 Forest avenue, Western Springs, died in the Berwyn hospital early yesterday. He and six other persons were injured Saturday night in a collision between two cars at Austin boulevard and Ogden avenue.

Mrs Gusta Hrabe, 24 years old, 4718 Lemoyne street, was killed, and her husband, Jerry, 28, was injured when their car skidded into a light pole at Western avenue and 47th street.

Teofil Kurowski, 53 years old, 1532 Tell place, a WPA worker, was killed when he was run over by three automobiles at Waveland and Kimball avenues.

Widow Killed in Street.

Mrs. Nancy Scarlett, 73 years old, 5114 North Ashland avenue, a widow, was fatally injured early today when she was struck by an automobile as she attempted to walk across the street in the 5400 block North Ashland avenue. The driver, Robert Kelly, 19, 2414 Farwell avenue, a student, took her to the Edgewater hospital, where she died.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 253 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan 1. Of these 204 were killed in Chicago, where 4,841 were injured in the same period.

ONE DIES, 15 HURT WHEN COAST BUS AND CAR COLLIDE

Canton, Ill., April 17.—(AP)—One man was killed and fifteen other persons injured today in a collision between a Santa Fe Trailways bus en route from Los Angeles to Chicago and a passenger automobile on U. S. highway 100, near Astoria.

The dead man was Lloyd Merrill, 23 years old, of Astoria, who was riding in the passenger car. Twelve bus passengers and three who were riding in the passenger car were brought to Graham hospital here.

Among the passengers injured are Mrs. Hilda Edstrom, 1138 South Maple avenue, Oak Park, Ill.; Mrs. Nellie Gaston, 820 South 16th street, Maywood, Ill.; Mrs. Leoni Leman, Kansas City, Mo., who was on her way to Chicago to visit a daughter, Mrs. Marie Depre, 1626 Mohawk street. William Johnson, Quincy, Ill., bus driver, and Mrs. J. P. Thatcher, 1319 Touhy avenue, Chicago, were seriously injured.

Irish Rebellion Vet Taken Back East to Face Charges

Patrick Deane yesterday accompanied two New York detectives back east to face charges that he defrauded 100 Irish immigrants by taking money for jobs which he failed to provide. Waiving extradition, Deane said he is innocent. He was arrested when he called at the Chicago postoffice for his pension check from Ireland, where he fought the British in the Easter rebellion of twenty-two years ago.

Pershing Leaves

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Gen. John J. Pershing yesterday as he left Tucson, Ariz., for the east.

Tucson, Ariz., April 17.—(AP)—Gen. John J. Pershing, hand raised in salute, left on a special car today for New York to attend his son's wedding. Tired, but his shoulders as straight as before his almost fatal heart attack two months ago, the general promised to return next winter to the "one place I feel best."

On the special lounge and compartment car were Dr. and Mrs. Roland Davison, Miss Rachelle Marlaire, Capt. George Adamson, aide, and Master Sergeant C. C. Schaeffer, orderly. All were invited to the wedding Friday at St. Thomas church of Warren Pershing to Miss Muriel Bache Richards.

LAWYER SHOOTS SELF TO DEATH IN UNION STATION

Herbert Haase, a corporation lawyer with offices at 231 South La Salle street, was found shot to death, evidently by his own hand, in a washroom of the Union station early today. A gun and a nine page letter were found near him. Haase was 64 years old, and lived at 1400 Lake Shore drive.

The letter, addressed to a Hinsdale undertaker, gave directions for burial, and mentioned ill health as the motive for suicide. It also told that Haase's wife has been visiting her sister in Roanoke, and might be reached at the New Shoreham hotel in Washington, D. C., today. Mrs. Haase, the lawyer's second wife, is the former Miss Evelyn Keith King, member of a prominent Tennessee family.

Haase's mother, Delia, lives in Hinsdale, and a brother Edward C., in Winnetka. George W. Burton, a lawyer, with whom Haase shared offices, said that Haase specialized in corporation law. L. E. Fischer, 1500 Lake Shore drive, a utilities executive, who also shares the office, said Haase formerly represented power and railroad interests.

Eats Big Steak Dinner; Shoots Self Near Heart

After eating a large steak dinner and drinking four cups of coffee, Roy Henken, 21 years old, 1238 North Clark street, shot himself above the heart in the Presto restaurant, 4752 North Western avenue, late last night. Twenty other patrons heard the shot. Henken was taken to the Ravenswood hospital. He is expected to die.

Andrew Anderson, 59 years old, a chauffeur, hanged himself in the dining room of his apartment at 5732 Ridge avenue last night. He left a note to his wife and children explaining he was despondent over illness.

JAIL MRS. LOOMIS AGAIN ON DRUNK DRIVING CHARGE

Mrs. Grace Loomis, 40 years old, of Lombard, was being held in the Du Page county jail at Wheaton last night for the second time since February on a charge of driving an automobile while drunk. Relatives were trying to raise $1,000 bail.

Mrs. Loomis, whose foster son, Roger, 5 years old, was mysteriously strangled to death near his home in February, 1937, allegedly drove her car into another in St. Charles road, Lombard, Saturday night. She was slightly injured and taken to the Elmhurst hospital. Thomas Muldoon of Lombard, a truck driver, and driver of the other car, signed a complaint against her.

When Mrs. Loomis left the hospital yesterday she was arrested on a warant and taken to jail. Her case was assigned to Justice of the Peace Andrew Anderson of Lombard for hearing Thursday. The earlier charge of drunken driving is to be heard by the Du Page county grand jury on April 25.

OUR SINCEREST THANKS

APRIL is the birth month of this Institution. In 1867, just 71 years ago this April 17th, our Store was established in Chicago and today it is one of Chicago's oldest firms, managed and owned by the family of the founder. All through the 71 years of our existence we have been ever mindful of the faith that our customers have in our integrity and honesty of purpose. Every day we try to discharge that obligation. We owe our very existence to our Customers' goodwill and it is their recommendations to their friends that keep alive our establishment.

To all of our Customers who may read this, we wish to express our sincere gratitude for their loyalty and the kind words that they have said about our Store. Again, many thanks.

Respectfully yours,

John M. Smyth

DELAYING LASTING RECOVERY.

The President's plan to bring the depression to an end has two main aspects:

1. Increase the lending power of the banks.

2. Put more money in circulation by increasing government expenditures for WPA, public works, CCC camps, and the National Youth administration.

Saturday's strong and active stock market was not needed to prove that by such a program it is possible to bring about a speculative flurry. The markets have responded similarly in the past when inflationary steps were being taken. But in the succession of fitful rises and relapses in markets and business during the Roosevelt administrations there is warning of the temporary character of such influences.

The wisdom of these or any other measures now to be adopted should be determined by reference to their probable effect upon a sustained and lasting recovery of business. By such a standard the President's program is one which should be sternly opposed.

Why increase the lending power of banks now? Mr. Eccles, chairman of the federal reserve board of governors, said in Washington last week that it would create an inflationary psychology. Is that the crying need of the times? An addition to banking funds would help business if banking funds were scarce and rates were high. But banks are oversupplied with money for which they cannot find any takers and rates are the lowest this or any other country ever experienced.

The competition for loans is so great that banks complain that they cannot make any money out of their savings accounts, although the savers get only half of what they used to. Before the action was taken last week the banks could increase their loans by 7 billion dollars if safe borrowers for such amounts of money could be found. The steps taken by the treasury and the federal reserve board in "desterilizing gold" and "reducing the reserve requirements" increases the unused lending power of the banks from 7 billion dollars to more than 20 billion dollars.

What is needed is an increase in the demand for money; the supply is already redundant. If a solution for this unemployed money problem is to be found in increasing the amount of unemployed money then we might expect to find the solution for the unemployed labor situation in letting down the immigration bars, thus increasing the number of laborers seeking work.

Putting money into circulation by public works, or make-believe work, out of borrowings creates at the time of doing it an artificial purchasing power not derived from current production of goods and services. While it lasts this synthetic purchasing power stimulates prices, production, private employment, and profits. But there is an end to it. In the first three quarters of the present fiscal year spending has been at the rate of 7½ billion dollars a year. If the President's plans are carried through and the spending rate is raised to 10 or 11 billion dollars we'll get a temporary upturn.

But no one pretends that spending at such a rate can be continued. When it ends the people who directly received their income from it will again be unemployed and others will be thrown out of work who were indirectly employed in private industry as a result of the swollen government expenditures.

Recovery from depression comes when business men have their confidence restored in the soundness of conditions and begin to make long term commitments on the basis of it. An upturn which is due to increased spending of public money cannot create the kind of confidence in future prosperity which can be made the basis for long term investments. Even the President admitted in his message that "we do not believe that we can get an adequate rise in national income by investing or spending public funds." The President's plan would lay the kind of unsound upturn which collapsed last year. Its adoption will further delay lasting business recovery.

EVEN IN PRISON.

The introduction of the profit system for the benefit of convicts in British prisons has resulted, according to the report of the directors, in a remarkable improvement in disposition, discipline, and general conduct. It is found that behavior is better, health is improved, that there are fewer complaints of physical ailments, and the men are in better spirits. "There is a general air of interest," says the report, "and a liveliness which no one can remember before."

The convicts aren't earning much, but they are on a scale of weekly payments for their work. The men in the skilled trades obtain higher pay and the prison authorities found that a number of prisoners who had not been known to have skill in a trade now reveal that they have. With a weekly pay, no matter how small, the individual has been put partly on his own and he may make purchases at the canteen, buying tobacco and other articles for small comforts and gratifications.

Not even the prison could take out of the individuals their innate desire to have the moral luxury of partly supporting themselves, of doing work which paid them, and of bettering their condition by their own efforts. Unless a system of government has beaten that instinct out of people it is the most valuable social force there is. Opportunity and ability to better a condition of life by gainful work combine to make the most important influence in society.

When opportunity has been closed and the ability has been lost, the social and economic system begins to rot. Apparently the British experiment proves that even among social misfits, and within walls and under severe discipline, the profit motive will produce a regeneration where other methods fail. The men were given something, however little, to work for and to live for, and they responded, according to report, in a remarkable fashion to this simple, new incentive.

They were offered a reward for doing work properly and their morale immediately improved. A system of government which tries to put free men into prison, depriving them of the opportunities they most want and can most benefit by enjoying, kills its supposed beneficiaries and drags itself down with them.

FINAL PHASES OF THE SPANISH WAR

The Spanish civil war when it began was an attack by a military junta on a dissentious civil government within which a civil war of another sort might have soon been broached if a common enemy had not appeared to persuade the leaders of antagonistic factions that if they did not hang together they would hang separately. What appeared to be a somewhat desperate military adventure of Franco and his troops from Africa soon gathered stride, and for a year, in spite of the defense of Madrid, it has been plain that a government constantly losing territory and recovering none was losing the war.

This government has been an outcast from the family of nations. There was nothing morally prepossessing to most Americans in Franco's attack and he did not gain in grace when Italy and Germany made his war their own. The Spanish government was the recognized government, whatever other peoples may have thought of its constituent elements. The United States has asserted the right of a government to buy arms and supplies for defense against rebels. One element of federal supremacy in the civil war was access to world markets. Last year we made new law by amending the neutrality act to apply to civil war and shut off American supplies.

What we did was honest and lucid compared with what Great Britain and France did. They set up and maintained the extraordinary nonintervention commission which has permitted the uninterrupted flow of troops and materials to Franco while depriving the Spanish government of supplies, and this was done ostensibly as a method of getting Italians and Germans out of Spain and of preserving a hands off neutrality.

Presumably the United States does not care who wins, which is the proper attitude, although it need not have wrecked our valuable right of purchase in time of need. Presumably France would prefer a government victory. The British government, as distinguished from a great many of the British people, wants Franco to win and, just to make that absurd, wants Hitler and Mussolini to lose.

Probably nearly every bystander now wishes the winner would win quickly and have it over with, expecting that after a period of recuperation there will be another internal explosion. The dejected Spaniard who said that no one would win without a 60 per cent extermination of the people—maybe it was larger—may have been right.

THE BUILDING CODE.

Now that the primary is out of the way it is to be hoped that the city council can again direct its attention to the revision of the building code. The job has been in progress for something more than a decade. A number of the new provisions have been approved in recent months, but other important sections of the code remain to be acted upon.

A new building code will be a stimulus to construction and to that extent will relieve the depression in Chicago. Any one who has motored in and around Chicago in recent months could hardly fail to observe the contrast. Houses by the hundreds were being erected in the suburbs, while inside the city limits there was no corresponding boom. The Chicago building code was not the only reason for the inactivity in the city, but was an important one and remains an important one.

The proposed code has been before the council in completed form for several years. The draft was prepared by experts after the most painstaking study. It reflects the judgment of architects, contractors, labor, and engineers. The remaining chapters ought to be acted upon without further delay.

Editorial of the Day

ABUSE OF PENSIONS.

[Palm Beach Post.]

John T. Flynn, noted economist and political commentator, warns in the current Collier's that several states are plunging headlong into bankruptcy through maintenance of old age assistance systems ridden with graft and inefficiency.

Flynn charges that in Missouri, in Oklahoma, Ohio, Texas, Illinois, and Colorado the old age pension funds and facilities are being so misused by politicians seeking to curry favor with the public in order to promote their political ambitions that the issue has assumed the proportions of a national scandal.

Launching a bitter attack on men who are using the pension systems for the express purpose of getting votes at any price, he writes:

"The whole thing has become just another plum tree full of little plums for little people too old to work but not too old to vote. The beneficiaries of this scandalous misuse of public funds are the chiselers who get on the rolls without right. The victims are the worthy old people who have to be satisfied with inadequate pensions so that there will be enough for the politicians to hand around to the ineligibles."

Old age pension systems, however, are not to be confused with the social security plan. Pensions are controled by state agencies and were designed to supply aid to those who were too old at the time of the passage of the social security act to benefit by it.

ASK FATHER.

"Mother, isn't it funny that hats cost more than radios?"

Mother: "But they don't, dear. What makes you think so?"

"Well, a sign in a window back there said, 'Hats, $10 up,' and we just passed another window with a sign that says, 'Radios, $10 down.'"—Santa Fe Magazine.

New Service?

A department store delivery wagon stopped at the entrance to a little park on Astor and Goethe streets frequented by nursemaids and children. Two lads in uniform jumped out and assisted a nicely dressed little old man to the sidewalk, then escorted him to a park bench. "We haven't a return order for you," one of them said. "Would you like us to pick you up and take you back?"

And shadow in a fragile bowl,
Yet I only bring
These first tulips with their blaze
Of brave buds opening.

Parker's Reply.

The lady in Waterbury, Conn., who received a warning ticket in rime when her car was discovered parked with one wheel on the sidewalk, might have replied to the offended policeman as follows:

Because my car stood one wheel on the walk,
You haggle me with your poetic squawk;
If 'twas the angle which abused the code,
Don't look when I am burning up the road.

Alpha to Omega.

A survey of the names of towns in Illinois show that this state has an Alpha and an Omega. Fidelity, Equality, and Confidence are represented. One can travel within its borders to Vienna, Venice, Havana, or even America. Games represented are Polo and Rugby. Fair Weather is not very far away from Snowflake, and Rising Sun isn't much farther south. There is Chili and Sandwich, if one is hungry. Spankey may have been named for the "Our Gang" hero. There are Prince, Diamond, Zenith, Raven, Meadows, Eagle, White Pigeon, Rosebud, and Romeo, all evidence of the romantic strain in the early settler. The towns too often show no evidence that the dream of the early settler was justified. Your old contributor, Anonymous.

Old Sampler Puzzler.

Chicago's leading collector of old samplers is Dr. James E. Walker of Hyde Park boulevard. One has troubled him for many years because of the mysterious first line. The sampler reads:

SASIDU BY EOVER
AND TO MISFORTUNE BORN
BY MAN FORSAKEN
AND LEFT MY COMPANIONS SCORN
FRIENDS I SEEK IN VAIN
I MYSELF AND GOD REMAINS

Dr. Walker has asked many persons for a solution to the first line. Once he wrote to Notes and Queries, the famous English journal, about it. The only answer received that makes sense said that probably the first line was intended to read, "Seduced by lover," and that the little girl's needle faltered. Her needle was overzealous in the last line when by adding an "s" to the last word she ruined the rime as well as the grammar.

Torture Note.

A Miss Martha Walsh always learns something new when she spends the week-end with her friends the Bresnahans. Last week Mrs. B. told her that when her husband tries to stay in bed the morning after, she turns on the vacuum cleaner and puts it under his bed.

HOUSE CLEANING.

The gent who wears that hunted look,
Is not perforce some missing crook.
There's reason for his harassed air,
His tie askew, his tousled hair,
One sock of green and one of gray—
They're cleaning house at home today.

The furniture is stacked about,
And if he eats, he's dining out;
Life sweet and tranquil heretofore,
Is all at once a dreadful bore.
This gloomy Gus was erstwhile gay—
They're cleaning house at home today.

B. L. Bruce.

REVERSE OF THE USUAL FLOOD STORY. A friend back from Hollywood tells of the young couple who saved up enough money to build a little house. They were saving and planning to add a colonial wing and when the floods came the water pouring into the arroyo beside their house brought a colonial wing, and deposited it there, completely furnished.

ECZEMA—A DISEASE WITH MANY CAUSES.

WE all have met people who complain that they never are free from eczema. The word itself, particularly in its popular use, covers a multitude of lesions. Physicians have encountered almost every outbreak that arises on the surface of the body labeled with this all-embracing term.

What is eczema? Really an inflammation of the skin or a dermatitis. The ravages of the itch mite [scabies], impetigo—that common infection of childhood—and many fungus growths may be included.

At the appearance of an abnormality the first rule is to determine its source. More often than not a thorough study will show that the patient has come into contact with an irritating substance or that the manifestation has occurred because he is sensitive to something in his environment or his diet. Everything must be suspected, even milk. Eggs are frequent offenders; so is wheat. Furthermore, many a case will clear up as soon as an impairment of general health is corrected. If constipation has been bothersome, if indigestion has been the rule for weeks or months, if a tooth is abscessed, or if tonsil crypts are filled with pus—one of the evidences of trouble may be a scaly, crusty eruption.

All too often we fail to recall that the skin constitutes an avenue for the excretion of body wastes and, in the course of throwing off certain poisons, it may rebel. Thus it becomes necessary to make certain that the alimentary tract is carrying out its full function before we begin to blame the cuticle for protesting against an overload.

Again, friction occasioned by clothing which has been dyed or has become soiled must not be overlooked. In a young woman, a severe scaling about the neck and the lower portion of the face, which extended upward to the scalp, was traced to the fur collar of a new coat. The itching, which was intense, led to scratching, which in turn aggravated the irritation. When the garment in question was laid aside recovery was prompt. The same wrap was worn by the patient's sister without the slightest evidence of discomfort. After an interval of several weeks the coat was again used by the owner and the episode was followed by a return of the symptoms.

Every one prone to any form of eczema should protect the epidermis far more carefully than may be required of the average individual. For example, sunshine will need to be shunned as well as the use of ordinary soap. If a tub bath is taken, areas showing eruption should receive a heavy coat of vaseline prior to immersion. This should be allowed to remain. If soap is used it should be of the special, superfatted variety, so that no infinitesimal quantity of free alkali can come into contact with the lesions.

The first move in treatment then becomes a game of detection in which the irritant is sought for, identified, and avoided. For immediate relief a mild dusting powder is helpful and if bacteria have invaded the blemishes ammoniated mercury ointment will serve to deter their growth. X-ray possibly affords our best agent in the chronic, stubborn form. In many instances, after one or two mild exposures at the hands of an expert, oozing will cease and the thickening will vanish. Unless the origin is found, however, the difficulty will probably return as soon as the causative irritant again becomes sufficiently concentrated.

Itching, which is nearly always an annoying complication, may be combated with sedatives. Several physicians have reported that eliminating all condiments from the diet has been followed by good results. A dusting powder that contains a small amount of camphor or phenol [carbolic acid] will prove soothing.

IT'S ONLY PROTECTIVE.

L. N. writes:

1. Is it advisable to have a child of 7 months inoculated against whooping cough?

2. How long does immunity last?

REPLY.

1. Whooping cough vaccines are used by some physicians at an early age—six months to one year. The process is protective, but no absolute guarantee of immunity can be given.

2. If protection is secured it may hold for several years.

CAUSES ARE VARIOUS.

U. R. writes: What are the causes of a psychoneurosis? Is there a cure?

REPLY.

There are many types, from simple "nervousness" to acute melancholia. The cause varies with the individual. Many episodes can be forestalled through good mental hygiene. Long standing and serious cases are best handled by a physician specially trained in psychiatry.

ARTHRITIS.

M. R. writes: Should one who is troubled with arthritis avoid tomatoes and grapefruit?

REPLY.

Tomatoes and grapefruit do not aggravate arthritis.

SHARE IN ESTATE.

Chicago, April 15.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Our mother died and left children [not the homestead]. Now a brother who was married but had no children died last October and [1] in his will left everything to his wife [he had his own home and a small shop], but [2] by not making his will in joint tenancy by right of survivorship we are entitled to a share of his property.

3. We have had notice to that effect from the lawyer. Now, what I want to know is [4] can she claim her husband's share of the property our mother left us. We heard she cannot because there are no children and that his share goes back to the rest of us. H. E.

1. We see no reason why the wording of the will should not control.

2. We do not understand what you mean by this. If you mean that he left with the will a letter or similar writing that was not executed as a will, then, in general, such writing would be ineffective.

3. This leads us to feel that the facts are different from what you have above stated to us.

THE HIGH COST OF POLITICS.

Chicago, April 15.—People wonder why salaries are being slashed, why business is poor, why the stock market is dipping, why private construction is stagnant, why 11,000,000 people are unemployed. The answer is the twenty or thirty parasites or bloodsuckers that were standing in front of each polling place with badges on their coats last Tuesday.

Kicking out one gang of bosses and pushing in another gang of bosses won't solve our economic problems. The salaries of all those bloodsuckers plus cost of the banners, automobiles, billboard posters and all of the honey given out by all the bosses over the radio, was paid by monies extracted from the pockets of the tax payers in this county. What we need is not new bosses but less bosses. This can be solved only by a huge reduction in government costs.

JOHN J. MANGAN.

COMPARISONS DISCOURAGED.

Libertyville, Ill., April 14.—The Republican nominee to the United States senate, Richard J. Lyons, has challenged Scott W. Lucas to a series of debates to take place throughout the state. His proposal is based upon the belief that these encounters would indicate his superiority over his Democratic opponent.

Gov. Horner appears to accede to this view, for in THE TRIBUNE on April 14 he stated as follows: "I would not advise Lucas to accept this challenge because in doing so he would be providing audiences for Mr. Lyons which he would not otherwise have."

The obvious imputation of Gov. Horner's statement is that Mr. Lyons' appearance before Democratic audiences would undermine Mr. Lucas' support. Gov. Horner is well aware of Lyons' sincerity, ability, and statesmanship, and he knows that the appearance of Lucas and Lyons on the same occasion would tend to illuminate Lyons' superior qualifications.

Dick Lyons' Libertyville neighbors extend their appreciation to Gov. Horner for starting our candidate's campaign with his implied admission.

CHARLES E. TWADELL JR.

CORRECTION FOR TRACY.

Chicago, April 13.—Allow me to point out an error made by Chester Gould in his strip, "Dick Tracy," in this morning's TRIBUNE. The strip shows the line of vision of the gangster reflected from a window across the way into the room below him. The way this line of vision is reflected from that draped window is in flagrant violation of one of the laws of physics. This law, in simple language, states that the angle between the line of vision and the flat reflecting surface is equal to the angle between the reflected line of vision and the reflecting surface. Mr. Gould made that latter angle much larger than the former. All other things being equal, the line of reflected vision would have hit the building about eight feet below the window sill of Tracy's room.

BOB SHEPHERD, age 17.

A GOOD STORY BUT A BAD ANALOGY.

Mount Morris, Ill., April 15.—In handset days on some newspapers, if a headline written by the editor did not fit, the compositor was allowed to substitute one that did. The editor wrote a head "A Level Headed Business Man." The line being too long the compositor used the word "flat." Your complicated spelling is confusing. You had a head reading something about a "Lether Company." I suppose the old time compositor might have changed it to read "A Lether Headed Company."

PRINTER.

RAILROAD PASSES.

Waukegan, Ill., April 14.—Mr. F. W. Sargent, president of the Chicago and North Western railroad, urged that congress stop all free transportation on the railroads. This is indeed an unwise recommendation, particularly if it would apply to ticket agents, sellers, and information clerks. It would mean that the sales organization of the railroads would be deprived of their samples.

Imagine any sales manager telling his staf that they need no longer carry their samples. The merchandise is advertised nationally in magazines, newspapers, and circulars which will enable prospects to familiarize themselves with the product.

Mr. Sargent is aware, and appreciates greatly, the increased efficiency made by the railroad ticket agents in the last fifteen years. Credit is due to the American Association of Railroad Ticket Agents, of which the writer is a member. This progressive organization, with its 1,285 members spread throughout the land, makes an educational trip every year in special trains or cars furnished by the railroads. In October they will go to San Francisco to preview the World's Fair. I know that Mr. Sargent's railroad will transport hundreds of these ticket salesmen west. Why? Because these men will be in far better position to explain the merits of this trip to future prospects than could the man who remained at home and read about it in railroad literature.

In addition, many of us take trips over foreign lines only to familiarize ourselves with the equipment and service rendered by that line. When we visit large cities we study location of various railroad stations and visit points of interest. And it is not a free trip, either. It is true the railroad issues the pass, but we use our own funds to meet hotel bills and Pullman berths in addition to the loss of pay while away from our stations.

If the railroad pass is abolished it will eventually reflect upon the efficiency of the ticket staf, particularly where new men are replacing those retired.

ARTHUR WAEHNER.

THE RELIEF CRISIS.

Chicago, April 14.—I can't understand why Chicago should be short of relief funds. At the end of April its relief funds, according to a recent article in this paper, will be exhausted, and unless additional funds are provided the city will be approximately $1,500,000 short in its relief needs each month.

At the rate of 3 per cent, the sales tax on every purchase made by every one of us should provide quite a collection of the good old bucks, or what's it all about, anyway?

G. D.

YES.

La Grange, Ill., April 14.—In the "Royal Maundy" story in today's TRIBUNE there is evidently a transposition of two figures, for it is stated that James II. washed the feet of the poor in 1658. The commonwealth was in existence in 1658, and James II. began his reign in 1685, so presumably the year should have been stated as 1685, not 1658; but does it matter?

E. S. H.

THE ADVANCES MAY BE REPAID LATER.

Chicago, April 14.—The editorial in Wednesday's TRIBUNE regarding the Hospital Service corporation, is not quite clear. Will you please elucidate the following statements further:

You say in the first paragraph that "many persons who need hospital care were not receiving it because they would not accept charity." In the next to the last paragraph is the statement: "The costs of organization were subscribed by men and women who saw an opportunity to help their fellow citizens." It would appear that these people who "would not accept charity" were not too proud to accept the "costs of organization" subscribed by these men and women who wish to "help their fellow citizens." If this is not charity, will you please define the term?

In the next to the last paragraph is the statement regarding "men and women . . . who know that anything they get from the government must be paid for twice over in taxes." I wonder if you are referring in this instance to the air mail which is an expense to all the tax payers, although only a few use it?

E. B.

WE THOUGHT WE HAD MENTIONED IT.

New York, April 7.—Will you not, through your valuable column, warn the people in this country of the President's determination to destroy business so that it may be taken over by the federal government?

That he has already begun this work is obvious; and he will continue it to the bitter end, if not by one bill then by another.

The President is the greatest purchaser in the country. We have already given him all the money he wants to buy all the votes he wants. We have given him the liberty to take our liberty from us. Stop the President's determination to destroy business.

LIBERTY.

A LEAKING VIADUCT.

Chicago, March 14.—There is a viaduct on Polk street from La Salle to Sherman street. Over this viaduct run the New York Central and Rock Island trains, going in and out of La Salle street station. Under the viaduct and over the sidewalk there used to be galvanized sheeting protecting the pedestrian from rain and melting snows. In the last couple of years this sheeting has rusted away and now any time it rains or snow is melting it is impossible to walk under this viaduct without getting all wet from dirty, greasy water running down from the tracks above. Would it be possible to get the railroads to replace the galvanized sheeting so the pedestrian would have some protection?

PEDESTRIAN.

FROM A SCOUT EXECUTIVE.

Racine, Wis., April 14.—Thanks very much for the cartoon about scouting which appeared in today's TRIBUNE. It makes a man proud to be a Scouter.

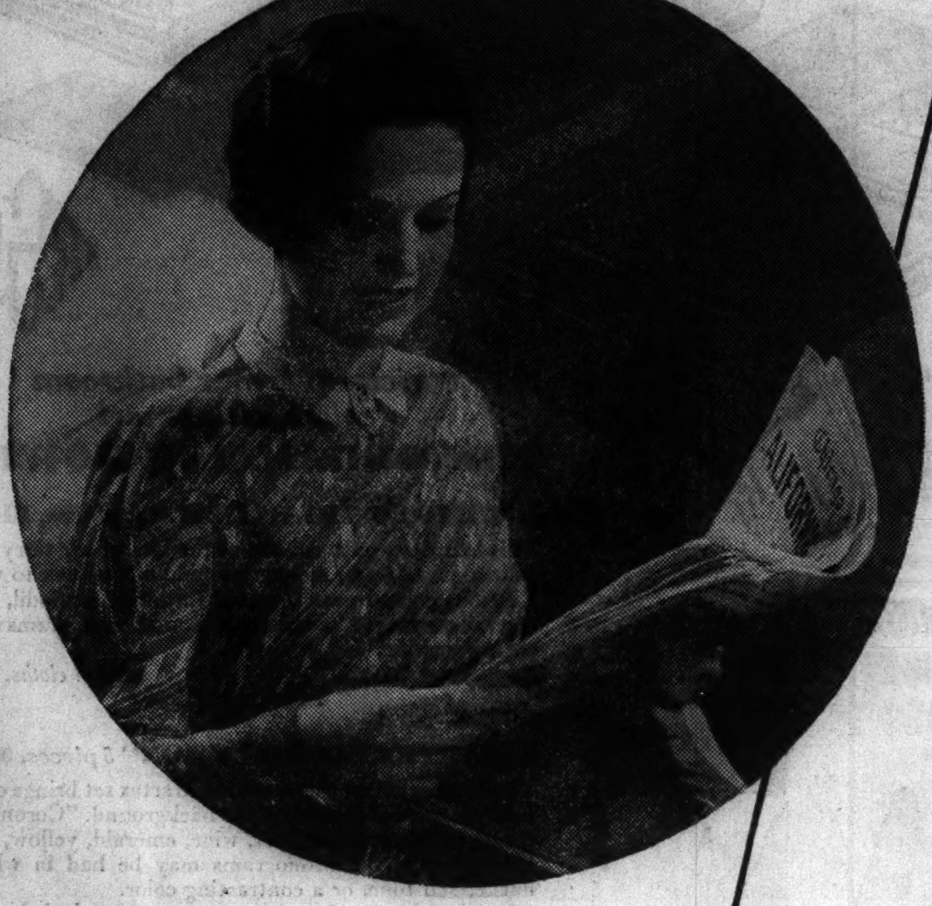
"OUR 1938 CAMPAIGN IS BUILT AROUND THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE"

—R. COOPER, JR.
General Electric
Chicago Distributor



THE TRIBUNE enables advertisers to address Chicago's largest constant audience of women. It is an attentive, friendly audience, accustomed to frank solicitations—and in the habit of looking to the Tribune for buying ideas. In demonstration of this fact, Chicago department stores, specialty shops, all retailers as a group, spend by far the largest part of their advertising budgets for Tribune space.

Mr. C.S. Benham,
Chicago Tribune,
435 N. Michigan Ave.,
Chicago, Illinois.

Dear Mr. Benham:

You may be interested to know that sales of General Electric Triple Thrift Refrigerators increased 42.8 percent in the Chicago territory last year.

In making this record, we give the Chicago Tribune much of the credit for enabling us to get across to our prospects the outstanding features of GE Refrigerators.

One of the most gratifying things about the campaign was the enthusiastic way dealers tied in with it. Their comments about the Tribune's influence in reaching their customers was further proof that we chose the right medium.

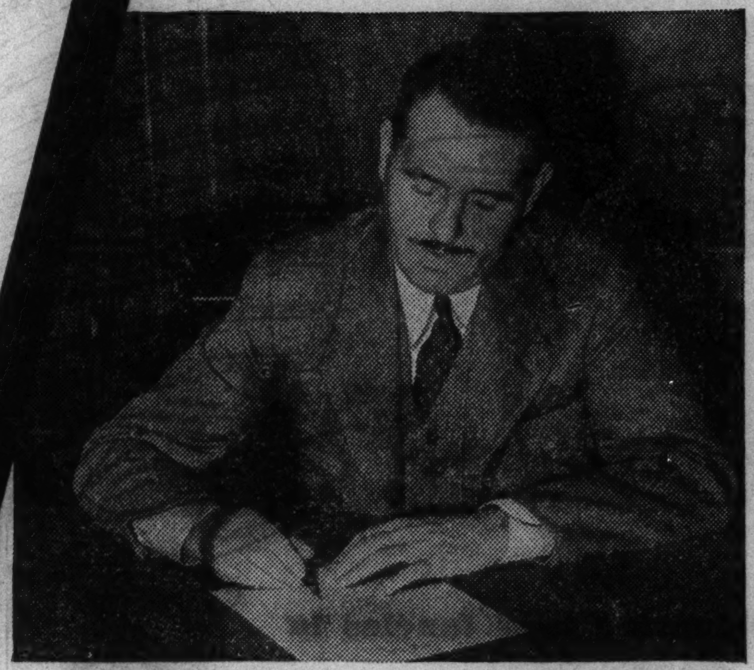
In view of these facts, our 1938 campaign for this territory is built around the Chicago Tribune and will include extensive use of coloroto advertising in your Sunday GRAPHIC section.

Very truly yours,

RC:C

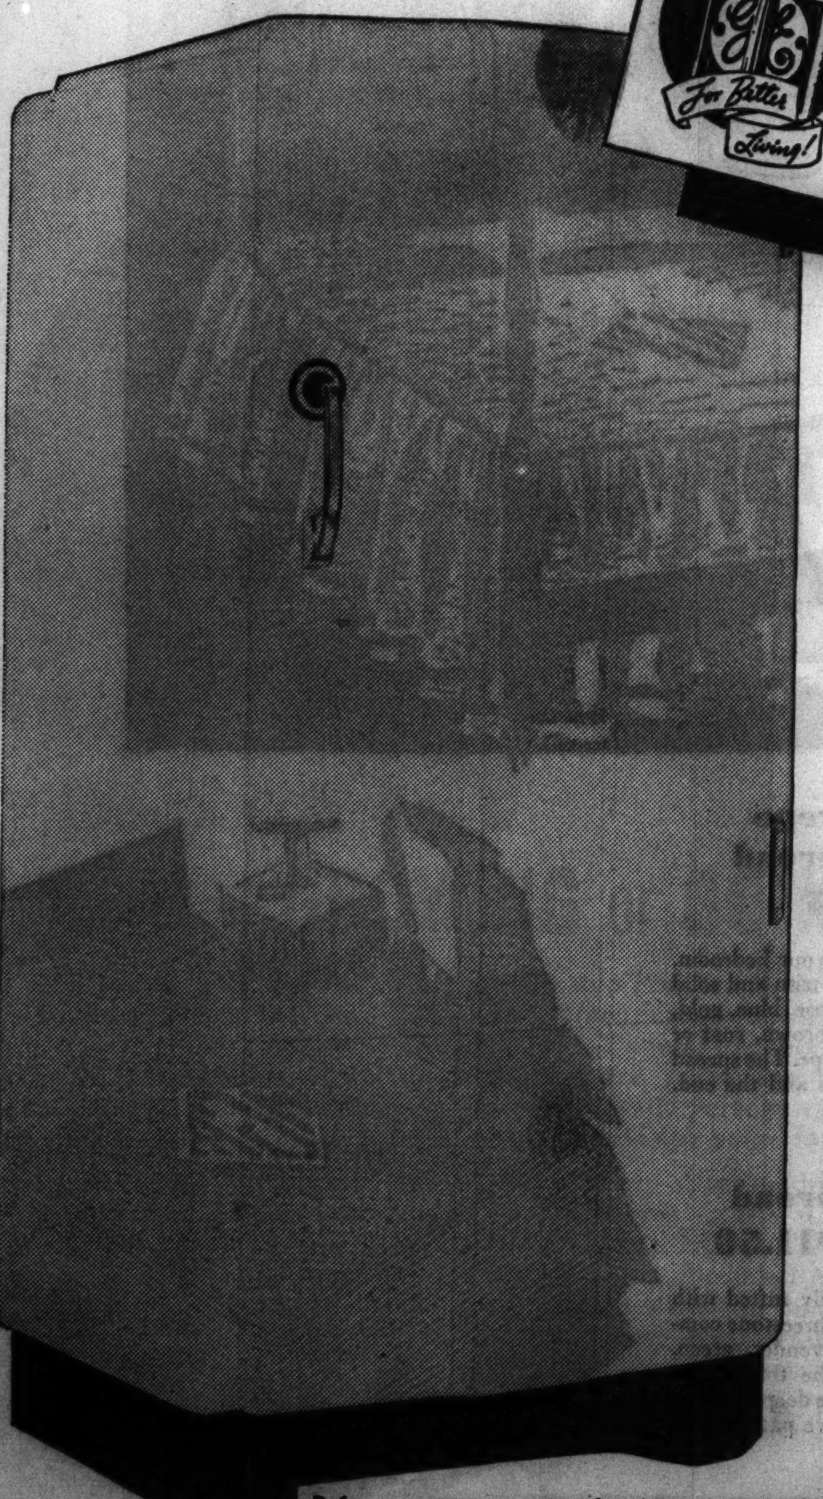
For Better Living!

Electrical Servants for every Task



"WE GIVE THE TRIBUNE much of the credit for enabling us to get across to our prospects the outstanding features of GE refrigerators," writes R. Cooper, Jr., (above) president, R. Cooper Jr. Inc. During the past 11 years, R. Cooper Jr. Inc. has placed major dependence on Tribune advertising to generate customer response and dealer enthusiasm.

SALES RECORDS demonstrate that the women who pack the stores, day after day, as the result of Tribune advertising, buy practically everything and buy in carload and trainload quantities. You can sell more of your product to the women of Chicago when you employ the Tribune—the advertising medium on which Chicago women rely.



Refrigerators or cosmetics, infants' wear or women's shoes—no matter what you want to sell to women—the Tribune with its coverage of more than 670,000 families in Chicago and suburbs is the logical medium around which to build your advertising program in order to increase sales in this market.

"Sales of GE Refrigerators increased 42.8% in the Chicago territory last year . . . In making this record, we give the Tribune much of the credit"

R. Cooper Jr. Inc. and General Electric are going after greater sales in the Chicago territory this year by building their advertising program around the same powerful medium to which they give major credit for last year's 42.8% sales gain.

And to give the 1938 drive extra punch and persuasiveness, these experienced advertisers are capitalizing the selling advantages of full pages in the Sunday Tribune Coloroto Graphic section.

Eleven years of experience

The aggressive sales tactics of R. Cooper Jr. Inc. are backed by eleven years of successful cultivation of Chicago's largest constant audience.

Starting with the year 1927, this company has placed major dependence on Chicago Tribune advertising to generate consumer response and dealer cooperation.

The Tribune delivers for R. Cooper Jr. Inc. because it is the medium which exerts pressure coverage and is keyed to the temperament of the region from which this company and its dealers draw their sales.

Market-wide, all-income coverage

Every day of the week, the vital quality of Tribune news reporting, its features, comics and service departments attract more than 670,000 families in all income groups and in all sections and suburbs of Chicago.

To this majority coverage of all the families of metropolitan Chicago, the Tribune adds hundreds of thousands of other families living in the rich territory adjacent to metropolitan Chicago. This huge Tribune audience is an attentive, friendly audience, accustomed to frank solicitations—and in the habit of looking to the Tribune for buying ideas.

Chicago retailers, on the basis of returns, depend chiefly on Tribune advertising to sell hundreds of millions of dollars' worth of merchandise annually.

First choice of retailers

Because Tribune readers are their largest and most responsive market, department stores, specialty shops, all retailers as a group, spend by far the largest share of their advertising budgets for Tribune space.

No matter what you have to sell or to whom you wish to sell, you can get more sales from the Chicago territory by building your advertising program around the Chicago Tribune. Rates per 100,000 circulation are among the lowest in the country.

RUMANIA SEIZES NAZI CHIEF AND 300 FOLLOWERS

Iron Guard Raided for Plotting Revolt.

BUCHAREST, April 17.—(AP)—Rumania promulgated sweeping new internal defense laws tonight as Corneliu Zelea Codreanu, pro-Nazi leader, and 300 followers were arrested for plotting against the government.

Corneliu Codreanu.

The arrests were made in night police raids throughout Rumania.

Codreanu was taken into custody at his Bucharest headquarters, known as the Green house, and held there with eighty followers.

Details of the alleged plot were withheld, but police intimated they seized evidence that a putsch had been planned, apparently by Codreanu's illegal extreme rightist Iron Guard.

Defense Measures Decreed.

The government quickly decreed new defense measures forbidding propaganda for a change in the form of the state, reduction in taxes or conflict between classes. The latter was believed aimed especially at Codreanu's anti-Semitic program.

The laws further forbade marching, singing of political songs, organization of private armies, or the distribution of political pamphlets.

Authorities intimated Codreanu would be tried by a military court on charges of instigating anti-government intrigue. It was expected the worst sentence would be to a concentration camp in event of conviction.

Aids Also Arrested.

All chief lieutenants of the tall, 38 year old Codreanu were under arrest, including a number of clergymen. It was reported a large amount of arms and ammunition had been confiscated. Among the documents seized, authorities said, was a letter they alleged Codreanu had written to his supporters bitterly assailing the premier, Dr. Miron Cristea, patriarch of the Rumanian Orthodox church.

The Iron Guard was declared illegal after the assassination of Premier Ion G. Duca in December, 1933, and Codreanu then organized the semi-military, pro-Nazi, intensely anti-Semitic All for Fatherland party.

On Feb. 21 he agreed to dissolve the organization after King Carol offered the nation a new constitution centering greater authority in the crown.

REEVES, OFFICE BUILDING THIEF, DIES IN PRISON

Melville Reeves, known to Chicago police for twenty-five years as the skyscraper burglar, although convicted only once, died yesterday in the Stateville penitentiary. He was 50 years old.

First arrested in 1913 and accused of burglaries which netted him half a million dollars, Reeves escaped conviction in the ensuing years although he was arrested scores of times. On June 30, 1934, he was found guilty of stealing $53 in stamps from an office at 360 North Michigan avenue, and sentenced to one year to life for burglary.

Eleven months after he entered prison on Dec. 5, 1935, Reeves applied for parole, on the basis of a doctor's report that his heart could stand only a few years of prison life. The parole board ruled he would not be eligible for release until 1948.

MOSQUE SPIRES AND DOMES GREET ISTANBUL VISITOR

Rich Carpets Cover Floor of Famous Shrine.

Here is the first of a series of stories by Capt. Corpening on Turkey, which he visited before going to Spain.

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ISTANBUL, Turkey [By Air Mail].—The trip from Athens to Istanbul takes two days by ship. Athens harbor is so small and congested that the aid of a tug is necessary to get our little liner under way. Small islands that dot the Ægean sea keep land in sight.

Next the Dardanelles strait presents an everchanging color of verdure and contour of terrain on both sides. Little towns and villages appear on the shores. Several forts of ancient vintage are located along the water line at what used to be strategic points.

A bit of excitement develops halfway up the strait. During a pause to clear a medical customs point, the captain gets careless and lets a heavy current ground his ship. The engines jerk and the boat squirms for four hours before getting clear. Faulty discipline shows up, too, when different members of the ship personnel want a say so in what to do.

Istanbul, formerly Constantinople and erstwhile capital of Turkey, is located on the west bank of Bosporus strait, the connecting link between the sea of Marmora to the south and the Black sea to the north. Istanbul's 900,000 population makes it by far the largest city in Turkey. The closest competitor is the new capital, Ankara, with 170,000 inhabitants.

Istanbul's harbor is large, well sheltered and busy. The principal contact with the world is by steamer. One railroad goes inland [westward] to Europe and another operates east to Ankara from the other side of the strait. There is no air service here. There are regular—that is regularly scheduled—sailings to the Black sea ports as well as outward to Egypt, Europe, and America.

Exports totaling 118,000,000 Turkish lira [the lire is worth 80 cents in American money] in 1936 included tobacco, fruits, cereal grains, coal, wool, and carpets. Imports in the same year totaled 92,500,000 lira and included cotton yarn, iron, steel, woolen textiles, coffee, automobiles, and radio sets.

Capital Moved Inland.

The leading pursuits of this section of Turkey include agriculture and stock raising; cotton, wool, and silk textile manufacturing; carpet weaving, mining, lumbering, and fishing. Shoes and clothing also are made locally.

The reason for moving the capital to Ankara in 1923 was purely military. Authorities were of the opinion that in case of war or attack the capital would be much safer 250 miles inland than on a waterway. To make the change the officials gave up a shore climate with a mean of 41 degrees in winter and 72 in summer for one colder and hotter in the corresponding seasons.

The first impression on approaching Istanbul from the Sea of Marmora is of the many mosques with their old Turkish architecture and free use of domes surrounded by their tall needle-like minarets. Five times a day the muezzins, ministers of the Moslem faith, climb the narrow, steep, winding stairs of the minarets, go through their chants, and call the faithful to worship.

Mosque Floor Carpeted.

Turkish buildings of later years are modern, and some construction work is observed. The old ones are built on similar and unique lines—plain on the outside and having many domes [some dovetailing into each other]. Stone and brick are the building materials. One of the most spectacular Moslem mosques here, and still in use, is the Sultan Ahmed mosque.

A huge thing, nearly 100 yards square, with a main dome 150 feet high, it is decorated inside with a medium shade of blue throughout. The great floor is covered completely with expensive rugs, two and three deep. The visitor must put on slippers to enter.

In addition to the mosques the underground water cisterns and covered bazar passages and alleys are worth seeing. A museum of ancient military exhibits is one of Istanbul's interesting spots. The museum presents every small arm weapon used since war began. Many interesting battle pictures adorn the walls and large assortments of wax figures of famed horses and men offer variety. Many ancient cannons dress up the outside.

City Hilly and Compact.

The city is hilly and fairly compact. Streets are mostly narrow and made of rough cobblestones. Many people are in conventional western dress, and the streets seem to be busy, but not particularly prosperous.

The town is not clean and there are quite a few peddlers in the streets. Streetcars, motor buses, and good taxis are plentiful, but there are no trucks. All freight is handled by one or two horse wagons with the pack horse extensively used even in the business district.

The principal pastime consists of gathering in the numerous coffee houses to drink java, discuss political views, and play backgammon.

PRE-MARRIAGE EXAMINATIONS

With separate departments for men and women, and with both men and women physicians in attendance, the Public Health Institute is especially well fitted to make the medical tests which the law requires every couple to have before a marriage license can be obtained. A thorough physical examination, including urinalysis, smears and Wassermann, Kahn and Eagle blood tests, costs $3.00 per person.

Those examined before 2 P.M. can have their certificates the same day.

"50% INFECTED INNOCENTLY" says an outstanding health authority about the victims of syphilis!

Because syphilis can be acquired in a number of ways, an examination by your family physician or this reliable clinic is advised!

Dr. Thomas Parran, Surgeon General of the United States Public Health Service, declares: "I estimate that half the victims of syphilis are infected innocently!"

"Remember that a kiss may carry the germ. One of our health officers traced 17 cases of syphilis to a party where kissing games were played!"

Dr. Parran adds that many cases come from the use of contaminated drinking cups, towels, cigarettes, pipes, eating utensils, etc., and in receiving personal services from diseased individuals. In his expert opinion, few persons past 21 have escaped exposure to syphilis!

Thus every man and woman, whether married or unmarried, should have a thorough physical examination which includes a blood test. Only in this way can you be sure you are free from a disease that causes more total disability and premature deaths than any other!

What syphilis can do to you!

Unless detected and properly treated, syphilis may lead to sudden death from heart disease in the early forties. It may rob its victim of sight or hearing, strike as paralysis or apoplexy, or result in a nervous breakdown that may terminate in insanity!

Even worse is the effect of syphilis on helpless infants. Unless an expectant mother with syphilis is carefully treated during pregnancy, she is likely to give birth to a dead, deformed or feeble-minded baby!

When the danger of neglecting syphilis is so tremendous, why put off being examined for it another day? The examination involves no discomfort, requires the expenditure of but little time and money, and can be conveniently obtained from your family physician or the skilled doctors of the Public Health Institute.

For 18 years the Public Health Institute has been specializing in syphilis and gonorrhea—an almost equally destructive disease which, if neglected or improperly treated, may cause a sight-destroying eye infection, sterility, stricture, crippling rheumatism, or serious prostate, bladder, kidney and other troubles. Those who come to the Institute receive the benefit of the experience gained in giving almost 5 million examinations and treatments for venereal diseases!

The Public Health Institute is noted for its friendly, sympathetic men and women physicians, and for its arrangements for privacy. Each patient is promptly attended in a private room, and to avoid embarrassment is known by number instead of by name.

Treatments as low as $1.00

Organized by public-spirited citizens as a corporation "NOT-FOR-PROFIT" under the laws of the State of Illinois, the Public Health Institute puts specialized treatment within the reach of those with limited incomes. A thorough examination for syphilis and gonorrhea, including blood tests, urinalysis and smears, costs only $3.00, while some treatments for syphilis cost as little as $1.00 and some of those for gonorrhea still less.

Hence there is no reason why any man or woman should continue to guess as to whether he or she has syphilis or gonorrhea. For not only can a dependable examination be obtained confidentially, conveniently and economically, but even persons temporarily pressed for funds can arrange to be cared for!

NOTE: The Public Health Institute has no connection with any other Chicago health or medical institute, and should not be confused with those operated for personal gain!

Single Family Home...

In Philadelphia, a home is traditionally a single-family dwelling.

Naturally, life in Philadelphia has a different outlook from life in cities of apartment houses, flats, multi-family dwellings.

The Philadelphia housewife as a rule has no employment outside of home.

As general manager of a Philadelphia single-family home she is a continuous buyer ... getting more happiness out of adding to her home, its conveniences and the comfort of her family, than in spending money in any other way.

She buys with pride for her kitchen. The range, the refrigerator, the cabinets. Yes, and more food products! Getting up meals for family and friends is part of the fun of living.

She buys laundry and bathroom equipment. More electric appliances. More cleansers and other grocery products, because usually she has more rooms.

Her dining room has generous space and ample appointments for the entertaining she so much likes to do.

The home heating plant is—or she will see that it soon shall be—automatic! For many homes, a bit of lawn and garden, a family garage, are part of the Philadelphia picture.

There are in Philadelphia more single-family homes than in any other American metropolis.* 364,457 of them! Nine out of ten Philadelphia dwellings are of this type.

And manufacturers of products for homes find in Philadelphia another distinction.

These managers of Philadelphia single-family homes almost unanimously read one newspaper—The Evening Bulletin. Advertisers need use only The Bulletin to carry their messages into nearly every home in Philadelphia.

For thirty-three years The Bulletin has led all Philadelphia daily newspapers in number of readers—maintaining that position, year in and year out, by devotion to the interests of family and home.

No prize, premium or subscriber contest has ever been used. The Bulletin is bought for its value as a newspaper.

More Individual Homes

Philadelphia has more single-family dwellings than all New York City plus Buffalo; more than Chicago and St. Louis together; more than Detroit and Cleveland. More than in any of twenty-two states. (U. S. Census 1930).

*More Home Coverage

The Evening Bulletin reaches 78.9% of all Philadelphia families . . . 89% of those with incomes of $3,000 per year and up ... 94% of those in the $10,000 yearly income class. (From Survey by American Association of Advertising Agencies).

Few newspapers in America equal The Bulletin in circulation, and none of comparable circulation approaches The Bulletin in years of leadership!

Today The Bulletin's circulation of 517,086 (1937 daily average net paid) far exceeds that of any other Philadelphia daily newspaper.

And The Bulletin's circulation is almost entirely within the city and retail trading area.

The home interest of the readers of The Bulletin—a reason for the growth of this newspaper itself—extends naturally to the home products which are advertised within The Bulletin's pages.

For your share of America's greatest home market buying volume, advertise in The Bulletin—at one of the lowest costs per reader among the Nation's newspapers. For merchandising plans, consult your advertising agency.

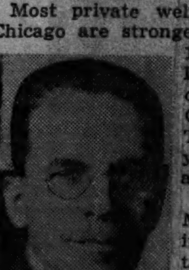
Increased Service Told in Trust Report.

Most private welfare agencies in Chicago are stronger today than in 1929, Frank D. Loomis, secretary of the Chicago Community Trust, reported yesterday in his annual statement.



Frank Loomis.

These agencies, Mr. Loomis said in summarizing the disbursement of the trust's income from its $6,625,000 fund, are out of debt, better financed, and doing more work. This, he said, is a tribute to the agencies and to the Chicagoans who supported them during the emergency.

The volume of private charity, although insignificant compared with the public relief funds now being poured out in Chicago, is of great relative importance, Mr. Loomis said, in view of the guidance, support, and public service such charity has given in recent years.

Lauds Social Workers.

"The service of the private agencies, of the private social workers, and of the people who support and direct private social work and philanthropy may have been and still may be," he asserted, "the most important factor in saving private charity from collapse."

The administration of trust funds has not been easy in recent years because of declining values and interest rates, Mr. Loomis pointed out. Yet the trust's values have been maintained with remarkable uniformity, the average income on all its capital funds in 1937 being about 4 per cent.

The slight reduction in rate of income has been more than offset by new capital gifts, Mr. Loomis reported. Consequently distributions were increased from $130,000 in 1936 to $178,994.08 in 1937. One thousand dollars was paid from principal, the balance from income of endowment or trust funds.

113 Institutions Benefit.

Nine schools and colleges, all in Illinois, received $27,476.72. Twelve family service and relief agencies, all in Cook county, received $45,168.61; twelve agencies for the care of homeless children, $10,549.59; four homes for the aged, $13,021.18; twenty-four health agencies, hospitals, and clinics, $30,873.21, and forty-one agencies devoted to informal education and organized recreation, $36,349.43.

The Community Fund of Chicago was given $8,750, and the Council of Social Agencies, $2,500. In all, the report summarized, 113 charitable and educational institutions in Chicago and vicinity benefited from the twenty-six trusts and two general funds in the trust's care.

The accredited private agencies, charitable, cultural and educational, have shown remarkable resiliency during the depression, Mr. Loomis concluded. Although burdens have increased vastly and resources declined they have not only maintained their position and service, but, strengthened and increased them.

DATE FOR SECOND SHANAHAN TRIAL TO BE SET TODAY

A date for the second trial of the contest over the $850,000 estate of David E. Shanahan, veteran Illinois legislator, will be set today by Judge John Prystalski in Circuit court.

The first trial ended in a deadlock last November, the jury being unable to decide the validity of a will drawn on Oct. 5, 1936, favoring Helen Troesch Shanahan, the legislator's secretary, whom he married on the same day. Shanahan, who died thirteen days later, had made an earlier will leaving 80 per cent of his estate to two cousins, Misses Margaret and Mary Flynn, who sought to set aside the will.

After the jury disagreement William J. McGah, attorney for the sisters, and Irwin N. Walker, Mrs. Shanahan's counsel, sought a compromise. Walker said yesterday that negotiations had failed.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

Allotment Confusion

April 17, 1938.

THE delay of national administrators of the new farm law in announcing state acreage allotments for wheat to be harvested in 1938 has added to confusion among farmers who are attempting to work out their planting plans so they will qualify for full federal payments and loans. The recent announcement of the state wheat allotments will make it necessary for many farmers to go back to the county AAA committees and revise their preliminary work sheets, particularly in some of the central west areas where the winter wheat, spring wheat, and corn belts overlap.

The 1938 national wheat acreage allotment of 62,500,000 acres was divided among forty-two states by AAA officials in Washington last week. State committees now are passing the allotments on down to counties and county committees soon will relay them to individual farms. Wheat growers of the nation are eligible to receive a federal subsidy of 12 cents a bushel on the normal yield of these 62½ million acres this year, provided they follow the government's farming program. The state allotments run from 84 acres for Mississippi to 12,519,879 for Kansas.

Illinois got 2,039,411 acres. Indiana was allotted 1,689,970 acres, Michigan 765,831, Iowa 456,037, and Wisconsin 108,001.

Seven Higher Allotments.

Only seven states were given higher allotments than Illinois. In addition to Kansas they were North Dakota, with 9,431,355 acres; Oklahoma, 4,291,784; Texas, 4,146,240; Montana, 3,973,939; Nebraska, 3,466,075, and South Dakota, 3,345,403 acres.

The national wheat acreage allotment for this year was written into the new farm law, although most of the crop was seeded last fall before the law was passed. The allotment was put into the law primarily as a basis for subsidy payments to wheat growers.

Farmers who now are working out their cropping plans for the year with the AAA county committees are asking what will happen to those who seeded more acres to wheat last fall than their allotment.

There will be no cut in a farmer's pay for having exceeded his wheat acreage allotment this year, provided his total acreage of crops that fall in the same government classification as wheat does not exceed his total acreage allotment for such crops. A farmer who has sown more acres to wheat than his allotment can cut down on oats, soy beans to be harvested for grain or some other crop belonging in that class and still collect his full wheat bonus.

For example, a farmer who seeded sixty acres to wheat last fall may be given a wheat acreage allotment of only fifty acres. He will be paid the 12 cents a bushel on the normal yield of his allotted 50 acres if he does not exceed his total acreage allotment for crops similar to wheat. One way for such a farmer to qualify for the full federal wheat payment might be to seed ten acres less oats than he had planned to sow.

In this case he would not be paid the 12 cents a bushel bonus on the excess ten acres of wheat, but he would not have his payments cut for having sown more than his allotment. However, should the extra ten acres of wheat run his total acreage of crops in the class with wheat over the total allotment for such crops, the farmer's bonus check would be reduced. The cut would be eight times the wheat bonus rate of 12 cents a bushel, or 96 cents a bushel on the farm's normal yield of wheat for each acre in excess of the total allotment for crops such as wheat.

Questions and Answers.

Q.—If an individual farm is given a wheat acreage allotment this year, will it be necessary for wheat to be seeded on the farm for harvest in 1938 in order for the farmer to collect his wheat bonus?

A.—Yes. To collect his full federal wheat bonus of 12 cents a bushel on the normal yield of the allotted acres, the farmer must sow at least 80 per cent of his allotted acres of wheat. If he sows less than 80 per cent of his allotment, he will be paid on the basis of 125 per cent of the acreage actually seeded. But if he sows no wheat, he will get no wheat bonus.

Q.—Is there likely to be a marketing quota on wheat this fall?

A.—No. The new farm law specifies that there can be no marketing quota on the 1938 wheat crop, regardless of the size of the crop, unless parity payments are made on wheat this year. No federal parity money is available for wheat or any other crop. The senate recently voted down a proposed tax amendment that would have imposed processing taxes on wheat, corn, cotton, tobacco, and rice to raise money for making parity payments.

OBITUARIES

Dorothy Cummins Bartoli.

Funeral services for Mrs. Dorothy Cummins Bartoli, who was killed in an automobile accident Saturday, will be held at 1 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 1460 Sherman avenue, Evanston. Mrs. Bartoli, a commercial artist, was 33 years old, and lived at 5842 Lake street. She was a graduate of the Chicago Art institute art school, the Chicago Academy of Fine Arts, and the University of Arizona. Surviving are her husband, Ralph; her parents, two sisters, and a brother, Paul Cummins of Evanston.

Rose Elizabeth Squire.

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, April 17.—Miss Rose Elizabeth Squire, first woman to attain high rank in the English civil service, died Friday at Ingateston, Essex. She was 76 years old. Her rise to prominence was made possible by Lord Asquith, who, as home secretary in 1894, appointed her inspector of factories to determine whether women were capable of filling responsible positions.

Edward Garvin Gilbert.

Edward Garvin Gilbert, 90 years old, an employé of Marshall Field & Co., wholesale, for 54 years, died yesterday in the home of his niece, Mrs. Ralph Kelley, in Savannah, Mo. Since his retirement ten years ago, Mr. Gilbert had made his home in California and Missouri. Funeral services will be held tomorrow in Savannah.

Charles O. Baltzell.

Evansville, Ind., April 17.—[Special.]—Charles O. Baltzell, 65 years old, attorney and brother of Federal Judge Robert C. Baltzell of Indianapolis, died yesterday at the Methodist hospital in Princeton, his home town, following a two weeks' illness.

Arthur Bahr.

Funeral services for Arthur Bahr, retired, will be held at 2 p. m. today in the chapel at 1458 Belmont avenue. Mr. Bahr, who was 77 years old, died in the Augustana hospital Saturday morning. Born and educated in Berlin, Germany, he came to Chicago as a youth and entered the tailoring business. Later he was a real estate operator. Surviving are two sons, Alfon E. and Arthur W. Bahr, both in the insurance business, and two daughters, Mrs. Amanda Wagner and Mrs. Katherine Olson.

Mrs. Edwin Markham.

New York, April 17.—(AP)—Mrs. Edwin Markham, 79 years old, author, educator, and wife of the poet, died today in her home in Staten Island after an illness of four years following a paralytic stroke. She is survived by her husband, who published his famous "The Man with the Hoe" two years after their marriage in 1897; a son, Virgil Markham, and a sister, Miss Mary Sheila Murphy of Los Angeles, Cal.

Thomas F. O'Connell.

The funeral of Thomas F. O'Connell, retired vice president of the Paramount Textile Machinery company, will be held at 9:30 a. m. today from the chapel at 1353 Devon avenue to St. Gertrude church. Mr. O'Connell died Wednesday in St. Petersburg, Fla., at the age of 68. Surviving are his wife, Mary, and a daughter, Mrs. C. E. Caestecker.

Gustave H. Schuhl.

Funeral services for Gustave H. Schuhl, a retired battalion fire chief, will be held at 10 a. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 245 West North avenue. Mr. Schuhl, who was 58 years old, died Saturday in his home at 2257 Berwyn avenue. He retired from the fire department in 1936 after thirty years' service. His widow, Elizabeth; two sons and a daughter survive.

TAXES REDUCE WHEELER ESTATE NEARLY A THIRD

Federal and state taxes have taken or will take approximately $400,000 of the $1,459,000 estate of the late Leslie Wheeler of Lake Forest, who died in Florida in February, 1937, according to a final appraisal which is to be filed with Judge Perry L. Persons of the Lake county court, in Waukegan, today.

The report, prepared by Attorney Benjamin H. Miller as court appraiser, will show that federal inheritance taxes amount to $280,000, state inheritances taxes to $87,070, and federal income taxes to $13,958. The grand total is $381,028.

This and other deductions, including $50,000 for administration expenses, will reduce the estate to $1,009,167. Virtually all of the gross estate is in stocks and bonds. Income sufficient for her needs will go to Mr. Wheeler's widow, the former Rhoda Violet Patten. On her death the estate goes equally to the two children, Leslie and Harry.

Mrs. William Hill, Carthage College Dean's Widow, Dies

Carthage, Ill., April 17.—[Special.]—Mrs. Katharine Griffith Hill, 75 years old, died yesterday in her home here. She was the widow of Dr. William K. New York has acres of Bright Lights

NOWHERE else in the world is there such a dazzling concentration. Successful experience, however, proves that the sure way to sell profitably in New York is to support worthwhile retail stores with powerful newspaper advertising that reaches homes in good residential districts.

The Sun provides direct access to the homes of buying families all through the market. Surveys consistently show it goes and stays home to a greater extent than any New York weekday newspaper. A Sun schedule can up the sales of any product with merit, whether high or low in price, and do it with real economy.

Large Audience Hears Swedish Tenor, Violinist

BY CECIL SMITH.

The weekly Sunday afternoon concert at the Beaux Arts salon in the Medinah club was sponsored by the American Daughters of Sweden as a part of the celebration of the Swedish-American pre-tercentenary. One of the largest audiences in the two year history of this concert series turned out to hear Ebba Sundstrom, violinist, and Carl Strum, tenor. In the intermission period Mrs. George E. Q. Johnson spoke on "Sweden's Gift to America."

Mr. Strum, a young Chicago lyric tenor, made his professional debut at this time. In two groups, ranging from Italian operatic arias to Swedish folk songs, he gave a good account of himself in most regards. In the middle register his voice is extremely agreeable in texture and is produced with exemplary freedom and fluency. The top of his range is still hard for him. Here his voice begins to lose both focus and cogency, so that he cannot make a forceful climax above an A flat. Much of the time, however, his voice is a real pleasure to hear, even though he has not yet developed much variety of color or inflection. Moreover, he is a good musician, and that counts for a great deal.

After several years in the conductor's stand of the Woman's Symphony orchestra Miss Sundstrom has now returned to her first love, the violin. While there were many attractive episodes in her playing yesterday, and a few brilliant ones, it must be confessed that her work was in the main disappointing. Of course, the humid weather was hard on the intonation of a stringed instrument. Yet whatever the reason her instrument committed more lapses from true pitch and tonal purity than the law usually allows.

The Beaux Arts salon concerts derive from their setting in the attractive Medinah club lounge an atmosphere of informality which is further increased by a tea and reception for the artists at the close of the program. Properly guided upon a disinterested basis of strict artistic discrimination the concert series arouses a vista of interesting future potentialities for the development of young talent in Chicago.

Jascha Heifetz, the last big name violinist to appear in Chicago this spring, will play a recital in the Civic Opera house next Sunday evening. Accompanied by Emanuel Bay, he will play a program including Handel's E major sonata, Lalo's popular "Symphonie Espagnole," and Mozart's D major concerto. After this concert Mr. Heifetz is scheduled to go to Hollywood to make a motion picture.

NOVELTIES BY ORCHESTRA

BY EDWARD BARRY.

If the Illinois Symphony orchestra ever plays Mendelssohn's "Spring Song" you can be sure that the world will come promptly to an end. Izler Solomon and his men moved another step forward yesterday on their novelty strewn path, offering for the edification of a good sized Great Northern theater audience a program consisting almost exclusively of seldom or never played music.

The concert opened with a first performance anywhere of David Van Vactor's orchestral version of the D major organ prelude and fugue of Bach. The transcriber has successfully brought to the greater medium the attractive improvisatory air and the sense of immediate, direct expressiveness that marks the original. His tone colorings are for the most part moderate. The spirit if not the letter of the shrill mixtures of the organ is admirably embodied in the new version.

A religious tone poem, "Ecce Homo," by Felix Borowski, came yesterday to its first Chicago performance. Here, certainly, is a remarkable feeling for instrumentation. The brass section has been handled with especial skill, and its chants apocalyptically in two or three of the most mystical passages of the piece.

Van Vactor and Borowski are both Chicagoans. From the pen of Riccardo Zandonai, living Italian composer, came the Rapsodia Trentina, whose presentation on yesterday's program was the first in this country. It is a terse, sophisticated treatment of folk themes and folk idioms, and it managed to display effectively some of the virtuoso qualities which the Illinois Symphony orchestra is beginning to acquire.

Granville Bantock's comedy overture, "The Pierrot of the Minute," was the other purely orchestral item of the afternoon. This did not rank as an absolute novelty since it has been played here a few times by the Chicago Symphony orchestra.

Soloist of the afternoon was Leonard Sorkin, violinist, who tackled such contrasting items as a Vivaldi-Nachéz and a Schelling concerto with equal confidence. His performance of the former was distinguished by rich tonal effects which carefully avoided the oversweet and by expressive phrasing which kept successfully away from any suggestion of the unctuous. In the latter were ample opportunities for technical fireworks.

Izler Solomon, now apparently recovered from the illness which kept him on a low schedule for so long, is to be congratulated on the precision and flexibility with which he has endowed the Illinois Symphony orchestra.

Plans Are Laid, Dates Set for Debut Parties

BY JUDITH CASS.

PLANS are well under way and the dates have been set for a number of autumn and winter parties that will introduce to society the group of young women who are making their debuts next season. There are many indications that the debut season will start in June this year instead of in September, for a few parties are being planned for the early summer.

Mrs. John Adams Chapman, who returned from Palm Beach last week, has made tentative plans for a dinner-dance at the Onwentsia the end of June for her youngest daughter, Miss Carolyn Chapman, who will arrive at home from her first year at Vassar the middle of June. Because Miss Chapman plans to return to Vassar and finish her four years of college she will miss the late fall debut parties, so Mr. and Mrs. Chapman will entertain again for her at the Casino on Dec. 23.

Miss Edith Farwell, who is a classmate of Miss Chapman and who also plans to return to college in the fall, will be introduced to society at a tea in the early fall at the Lake Forest home of her parents, the Albert D. Farwells. Another autumn tea in Lake Forest is one the William F. Peters will give for their debutante daughter, Miss Phyllis Peter.

Tea in November for Margaret Anne Burrows.

The senior Mrs. William F. Burrows will give a tea in Chicago some time in November for her granddaughter, Miss Margaret Anne Burrows, daughter of the junior Mrs. William F. Burrows and the late Mr. Burrows. There will be several other parties for Miss Burrows for which the dates have not yet been set.

Miss Barbara Mechem's introduction to society will be at a tea Oct. 15 at the home of her parents, the John C. Mechems, in Lake Forest, followed by a dinner-dance at one of the country clubs for her assistants and their escorts. The Mechems also are planning a Christmas holiday party for their daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Mechem will go east for Barbara's graduation from Concord academy at Concord, Mass., n June 16. From Concord they will go to their home at Annisquam, Mass., for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Payne have made plans for two Christmas day parties for their debutante daughter, Priscilla, who will be graduated from the Madeira school in June. There will be a tea for Mr. and Mrs. Payne's friends, beginning at 5 o'clock, Christmas afternoon, and a dance later for the young people. Both parties will be given at the Payne home, 191 Wentworth street, Hubbard Woods. Miss Payne will enter the Finch school in New York next fall.

Arthur Freytag's Fiancee Introduced at Dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Freytag gave a family dinner party at their home in Highland Park yesterday so that their relatives could meet the fiancée of Mr. Freytag's brother, Arthur. The young lady is Miss Louise House, daughter of Mrs. Herbert House of Good Morning!

Well, they've got Dorothy Lamour jungling again!

Since she, as an unspoiled child of nature, made such a hit in "Jungle Princess," Dorothy has, so to speak, been cast to the four winds of the South Seas. This trip Ray Milland teaches her the meaning of the word "kiss."

If you're looking for something out of the ordinary you won't find it in "Her Jungle Love." You can practically write your own from the moment the two airmen, Bob and Jimmy, crash on Tura's island till the one when the yacht bearing Bob's blonde fiancée and his prospective papa-in-law, heaves into sight.

There are savage tribesmen who perform awful rites under the direction of a leader who has been to school in England. There are tame wild animals, coconuts, crocodiles, a subterranean earthquake, and, indeed all the customary ingredients for this sort of melodrama, including a great deal of synthetic jungle.

With remarkable rapidity Tura learns to speak and sing in English the while Bob looks at her dotingly and Jimmy wisecracks and solos about. What the magazines say is true, he affirms, there's never more than one girl on these desert islands . . .

O well—it's all in fun. Dorothy Lamour is cute, Ray Milland is handsome and romantic, Lynne Overman is a joy—as always—supporting players get by, and the director is expert with his flimsy story material.

See you tomorrow.

SYNOPSIS.

Gordon Stone returns to Barranca after 8 years in prison. Gordon was framed by Lyn Gilbert, owner of the Bar B B ranch, and his foreman, Curt Ford. Because Gilbert's niece, Karen, has a friend, Hal Ferguson, take her to the hideout of Gordon and Jack Turnbull, and warn them in time to save them from a posse of Gilbert's riders, her uncle threatens to make her marry Firkins, his secretary, and imprisons her at his ranch. Gordon and Jack start a campaign against Gilbert. The affidavit of Linc Conway, who was kept by threats from coming to Gordon's aid, is published in the Courier. It accuses Gilbert and Ford. Gordon rescues Karen from the Ranch. Heading a band of men Gordon captures four Bar B B riders rustling cattle belonging to Gordon's uncle, John Fitming, owner of the J F ranch. Gilbert offers his rider Cheyenne Karen's hand in marriage if he will kill Gordon. He has Ford abduct Karen and take her back to the ranch. At the Longhorn Club Gordon confronts Gilbert, who has Webb, one of the released rustlers with him. Gordon is forced to kill Webb in self-defense. Gordon is released on bond. At the ranch one of Ford's men tells Karen he has a message for her.

INSTALMENT XXXVII.

A TRAP.

To Rogers Karen said, "You have something you want to tell me?"

He nodded after making certain they were out of hearing of others. "Yes, ma'am. A message from your friend, Hal Ferguson. He's been fixing up a plan to help you escape from here. I was to tell you he'll have a car waiting for you tonight on the road outside the southwest corner of the big pasture. You're to send him word through me that you'll try to be there."

"How can I be there when I'm watched all the time?"

"Mrs. Ford likes you and feels kinda sorry for you. We figured you could talk her into letting you slip away. He says for you to write him a little note. Don't put his name on it in case it should be discovered. Just tell him you'll be there at a set time. If you can't make it the first night maybe you can the second."

"When did you see Hal Ferguson?" she asked.

"Yesterday, when I was in town. On the street."

"Are you a friend of his?"

"You couldn't exactly call me a friend," admitted Rogers. "We say Hello!"

"You are one of Lyn Gilbert's men. Why would you be bringing messages from Mr. Ferguson about helping me to escape?"

"Lyn ain't bought me body and soul," the young man said with weak violence.

"You're in trouble about rustling and you are expecting him to get you out of it, but you want me to believe you are working for me and against him. Is that reasonable?" Her keen eyes searched his putty face.

Rogers was embarrassed. He looked down and drew a mark in the sand with one side of a worn boot. "If you got to know, Ferguson crashed through with fifty bucks for me to get this message to you. You'll have to keep your mouth shut or I'm sunk, Miss Gilbert."

This sounded probable. Karen pointed one more question at him. She knew he would not have any money from his wages until the end of the month. "Can you show me the fifty dollars?"

He looked at her resentfully. From the hip pocket of his Levis he drew slowly a roll of bills. After a swift glance around to make sure they were not observed, he flipped back the edges of the notes to show they were tens.

"Seeing is believing," she said, with a little nod. "Excuse me for doubting, but you know I'm in the enemy country."

"I'm driving in to Barranca this aft to get supplies. If you figure you can slip away tonight—and it looks to me like you could—write a note for me to give Ferguson."

Karen wrote a note and handed it to the puncher an hour later. She did not entirely trust him, but she could see no reason why he would find it to his advantage to deceive her. If she slipped out to the rendezvous and did not find Hal there, there would be no profit in it for the cowboy.

After the midday dinner Karen saw Rogers start for town in an old car. The foreman gave him instructions, and after the man had gone walked back to the house. At the porch he stopped to turn his ugly grin on Karen.

"Having a nice visit here?" he asked.

There was something disturbing in his manner, as if for some secret reason he was gloating over her.

"I expect Miss Karen is getting bored with us," Glenna volunteered. "It's nice to have her here, but she must miss all the good times she has in town."

"I do. But you've been very nice to me, Mrs. Ford."

The foreman sat down. "We've certainly tried to make Miss Gilbert feel we wanted her to stay. The welcome sign is hanging right out for her."

"I've noticed that," Karen mentioned. "But after all a guest ought not to impose on her hosts. Time I was going."

From the corner of his cold shallow eyes the ranch manager slid a look at her.

"Maybe you might get one of your friends to pick you up and run you to town."

Karen thought furiously. So it had been a trap after all. They were tempting her to try to escape, yet Ford was practically admitting this by openly exulting in the frustration of her hopes. Was it possible that something had taken place which made it necessary for them to get Hal Ferguson into their power? It did not seem likely. How could he be a menace to Lyn Gilbert?

Behind a closed door Karen sat down in her room and tried to think out the meaning of the enigma with which she was faced. Carefully she checked all her impressions and remembrances of the hours between the time when Parke Rogers had spoken to her and the present moment. She essayed a reconstruction of what had been said.

A word of the cowboy Rogers came to her mind and brought sudden light. He had told her not to address her note to Hal by name for fear it might be discovered. His warning had struck her as unnecessary, but she had obeyed it. Now she knew why it had been given. The note was to reach Gordon Stone and not young Ferguson. It was to draw him into an ambush where his enemies would be waiting for him. She had been used as a lure for his destruction.

Karen tried to recall how she had worded the note. Was there anything in it to make Gordon suspicious of the rendezvous? Had she mentioned the message sent by Ferguson? She was afraid not. All she had written was that she would be on the road outside the southwest corner of the big pasture about 10 o'clock that evening [Tuesday] if she could slip away unnoticed.

He would walk into the trap and meet a blast of gunfire. It was 4 o'clock now. In six hours, unless she could save him, his splendid supple body would be lying lax and lifeless in the dust. She had to prevent it. All her life was wrapped up in his. With the hard and reckless force that was Gordon Stone wiped out, existence would have no meaning. The world would be a desert waste too empty for travel.

She fought down her panic to consider ways and means. In the evenings Glenna was her companion, a chaperon given the task of making sure she was locked in her room after they separated for the night. There were others in the house, a maid and the Chinese cook, Sing Toy. Of late a guard patroled the place from sunset to sunrise. Curt Ford was never in evidence after supper.

The most important obstacle to escape was Glenna. With her help, Sing Toy and the maid could be decoyed to another part of the house. Karen would have to take her chance with the sentry. But first Glenna had to be won. This would not be easy. She was a good sort, kindly, indolent, of a pliable disposition. Her impulses were all to friendliness. But she had a deep rooted fear of her husband. He was a man of violent temper, harsh and dominating, and when he was angry he lashed out at her as he did at his horse. She had been a complaisant wife, had never crossed his will in any matter of importance. If she ever did he would make her pay with savage and enduring cruelty.

Fathers Enjoy Share in Daily Life of Child

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Like magic, the right feeling about your children smooths out so many rough spots. Much of this "right feeling" consists of three things; patience; a warm loving interest in and enjoyment of your child; and almost above all I sometimes think, a willingness to give time to him. And I don't mean give time to his general physical care but to him as a person.

I like the following letter:

"Dear Mrs. Bevans: "Apropos of the subject—A Pleasant Bedtime for the Children—I know many mothers who would like to make bedtime a pleasant, leisurely process, but the fathers are the stumbling block!

"Many men resent their wives spending any time on their children in the evening. They seem to think if the child is undressed quickly and washed it should get into bed and say good night—all in no time in order that the father may have the mother to himself at the end of the day.

"Why do mothers punish small children by sending them to bed and then expect them to think of bed as a pleasant place?

"For years I have had the habit of settling my little boy comfortably into bed, putting the light out and, while sitting in the dark, telling him a quiet bedtime story in a subdued voice; then prayers and good night. It quiets their minds and is cosy and intimate. But my boy is blessed with a loving, understanding stepfather who wants him to be happy.

"If mothers would let their housework and washing go sometimes and get some tools and empty reels and sticks and make a few things such as: model boats, docks, little houses, and so forth, they would draw near to their little ones.

"I always try to manage a free Saturday. I clean on Friday and on the day of no school my little boy and I have a lovely, happy day together ending with a pleasant bedtime."

There are several points here worth elaborating on—but the one I want to touch on is the mention of husbands resenting any time spent on the children's bedtime, beyond making it a snappy utilitarian proceeding. Here's a suggestion:

Sometimes a father has been made merely the onlooker in the care of the baby and small child. If he could be inveigled into putting his small son or daughter to bed himself, into overseeing their bath, or telling the quiet evening story, he might change in his feeling. They would come to greet him eagerly, to turn to him, and to make him feel important in their lives and in the whole evening scene.

Humbler Beef Cuts Achieve Palate Appeal

BY MARY MEADE.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune.]

The more humble beef dishes, such as the stews and pies, are quite as good to eat as expensive roasts and the higher priced steaks, although pampered appetites sometimes refuse to believe this fact.

Round steak usually is within the limits of a slim budget and may be made into goulash, steak and kidney pie, and similar dishes which stretch a little steak a long way.

Beefsteak with Kidney Pie.

[Serves Six.]

6 veal kidneys
1½ cups hot water
1 pound round steak
2 tablespoons fat
Salt, pepper
Baking powder biscuit dough

Wash kidneys, slice, and cut into pieces. Season, place in a saucepan with one cup hot water, cover, and cook slowly for half an hour, or until tender. Brown steak on both sides, add salt and pepper, cut into strips, and add the remaining half cup water. Cover and let simmer for half an hour or longer, until tender. Remove steak from pan and make a gravy, using three tablespoons flour to three tablespoons fat in the pan, and adding 1½ cups milk. When gravy is smooth and thickened, add meat and kidneys. Pour mixture into casserole and cover with a biscuit dough crust. Or cut small biscuits and arrange them over the top of the meat mixture. [Meat should be hot.] Bake at 425 degrees until biscuits are done.

Beef Cubes in Sour Cream.

[Serves Four.]

2 pounds beef shank or neck
2 medium onions
½ cup thick sour cream
½ cup water
2 tablespoons grated cheese
Salt, pepper

Have the beef cut into one inch cubes. Dredge with flour and brown in hot fat. Add onions, sour cream, water, cheese, and seasonings. Cover and let cook slowly until tender, about two hours. Add more water if necessary. Serve hot meat on a large platter with the sour cream sauce.

Goulash.

[Serves Six.]

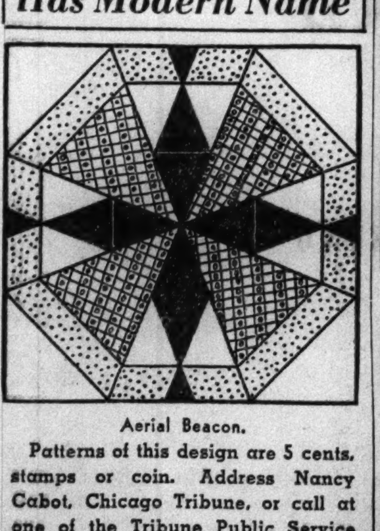
½ pound lean veal
½ pound pork
1 tablespoon paprika
1 pair pork kidneys
4 tablespoons fat
2 onions, sliced
1 green pepper, shredded
1 cup tomatoes
1 sprig parsley
4 medium potatoes, peeled and quartered
Salt

Cut meats in inch pieces and sprinkle with paprika. Soak kidneys an hour in cold water, drain, and plunge into boiling water for one minute. Cut into small pieces, discarding the tougher parts. Cook onions and pepper in fat until tender. Add meat and kidneys and brown them. Add tomatoes and parsley. Barely cover with hot water and simmer, covered, for an hour. Add potatoes, salt to taste, and more water if needed. Simmer another half hour. The liquid should be reduced to about 1½ cups. Thicken with one tablespoon flour rubbed smooth with one tablespoon butter.

Applique Quilt, Although Old, Has Modern Name



Aerial Beacon.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

"Aerial Beacon" is not a new applique design, although its name is modern. Many years ago it was called "Lighthouse Block" when it first was set together in a small town on the coast of Maine. Two shades of blue print materials, red and white, formed the original color combination, while present day choices are vermillion, orange, yellow, white, and a dash of violet print material. The fifteen inch applique blocks are set together with four inch bands of material between blocks, surrounded with an eight inch border and a half inch bias binding. The quilting on this design is done in outline.

For a limited period Nancy Cabot offers 10 quilt patterns of her own choice at a price of 10 cents for the group (12 cents by mail). Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower.

Kansas City, Mo., and she is visiting in Chicago for several days.

Arthur Freytag, who is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, and Miss House plan to be married in June. They both are fond of riding, so they expect to spend their honeymoon in New Mexico. It was while vacationing last summer on a Great Lakes cruise that Mr. Freytag met the young Kansas Cityan. They plan to live in Evanston. Mr. Freytag's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Walter Freytag of Chicago.

Billee White Engaged to Thomas Z. Hayward.

At a tea at home in Barrington yesterday afternoon Seldon White announced the engagement of his daughter Wilhelmina to Thomas Zander Hayward. The party was also a welcome home to Mr. White and his daughter, who always is called Billee, for they have just returned from a two months' cruise around South America.

Miss White attended the Roycemore school, Miss Weaver's, and the Finch school in New York. Mr. Hayward is a graduate of Northwestern university. The wedding will take place early in July, and Mr. Hayward and his bride will make their home in Barrington.

Dorothy May McManus Engaged to W. B. Adams Jr.

Mrs. Walter B. Adams and her daughter, Miss Jean Adams of Plymouth, Mass., have arrived to visit Mr. and Mrs. Ralph D. MacManus at the Blackwood hotel and to be here for the announcement Mr. and Mrs. MacManus are making of the engagement of their daughter, Dorothy May, to Walter Blair Adams Jr.

Miss MacManus is a graduate of Miami university at Oxford, O., and her fiancé attended Dartmouth. The wedding will take place in the early autumn and Mr. Adams and his bride will make their home here.

Virginia Milner-Preston Weds D. E. Albright Today.

A three months' wedding trip to Germany, Holland, England, and Scotland is in store for Miss Virginia Milner-Preston, daughter of the Gilbert G. Milner-Prestons of Wayne, Ill., who is to be married today to David Edgar Albright, son of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Edgar Albright of Milwaukee. The services will be read at 4 o'clock in St. Luke's procathedral in Evanston by Bishop George Craig Stewart, with a reception following at the Fortnightly club in Chicago.

Miss Lucia Kerr of San Diego will be maid of honor and Betty Hurlbut, daughter of the Harry C. Hurlbuts of Winnetka, will be flower girl. John L. Wilkin Jr. of New York will be Mr. Albright's best man and ushering will be Gaylord Donnelley and A. Thomas Taylor of Chicago; George P. Earling of Salisbury, Conn.; Edward S. Tallmadge of Milwaukee, and Gelston B. Morris of Pittsburgh, Pa.

From New York yesterday came news of the birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hewitt Smith [Virginia Ashcraft] in the French hospital. The former Miss Ashcraft, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin M. Ashcraft Jr. of Evanston, and Mr. Smith were married in St. Mark's Episcopal church, Evanston, Sept. 3, 1936. The baby has been named Ann Ashcraft.

Evanston N. U. Settlement Board Gives Benefit Today.

A traditional Easter Monday benefit that always is a gay and successful one is the card party the Evanston board of Northwestern University settlement gives every year. Today's party will be held at the Country club of Evanston with Mrs. George A. Paddock as general chairman. During the afternoon Mrs. E. V. L. Brown of Winnetka will give a play reading. Members of the settlement's north shore junior board will serve tea.

The Chicago Drama league is giving a tea for Burgess Meredith and Lillian Gish and members of their cast playing in the "Star Wagon" at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the Blackstone. William D. Saltiel will speak on "What Hope the Road."

The various committees working for the annual Madonna Center dinner-dance April 30 at the Palmer house will meet for tea at the Skyline club on top of the building at 307 North Michigan avenue at 5 o'clock this afternoon.

The annual meeting of the Woman's Symphony Orchestral association will be held this afternoon.

Meet Today to Plan Maternity Center Benefit.

The North Shore Service league of the Chicago Maternity center will meet at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Melville C. Bingham in Evanston to make final plans for the league's benefit barn dance Saturday night at the Vista del Lago club in No Man's Land.

A two day invitation badminton tournament will be held at the Woman's Athletic club today and tomorrow.

The Chicago Arden Shore association, which supports a camp in Lake Bluff for undernourished boys, mothers, and children, will begin its annual subscription drive today. Several of the Chicago committee members have been working for the last two weeks on the drive. Among them are Miss Julianna Holmes, Mrs. Dwight Green, and Mrs. Lawrence Barrett.

Pretty Frock or Beach Coat

WOMAN'S AND MISS' FROCK.

You'll find this pattern a good investment, because it fashions both a pretty cotton frock and a beach or house coat. The lines for both are much the same, except that the coat extends all the way to the insteps and employs a slide fastener.

The frock has either a high and round or a V neckline. In the former case the collar is a shirtwaist type, and in the latter it is a soft rolled one of self material. The sleeves are puffed and short and take to either contrasting or matching cuffs. At the waistline are plentiful shirrings to assure an excellent fit and to provide fullness for the waist. Two patch-pockets may grace the skirt, and the dress may have rather large buttons for trimming.

Both garments make up beautifully in colorful cottons. If you are a busy housewife or have occasion to wear a house coat a great deal you will appreciate this pattern, because it enables you to make either or both of these garments with a minimum of trouble.

Style No. 2854 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, and 46 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 5 yards of 39 inch material, with ⅝ yard of 39 inch contrasting and 2 yards of braid.

A Girl in Style These Days Is Mentally Alert and Gay

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

Style. Style. Style! It's what we're hearing on every hand. Style in this! Style in that! Style in everything from shoes to hats, from food to house furnishings. And now a new one, girls. A reverse English one. Not "are you, yourself, in style," but "are you out of style?" That last question, you must know, is quite a different thing. It doesn't mean are you wearing an outmoded hat, coat or frock? You probably are doing no such thing. You are probably just as up to the minute in clothes as any other woman. BUT—

That's not the question! The question is whether you have gone out of style in your attitude toward life, in your conversation, in your whole mental attitude.

You see, the smart thing in this phase of style is to be a woman with a wide-awake mentality. You know what is going on every minute, not only in your own part of the world, but you read and read intelligently what is happening all over the world today. You may be at sea as a consequence, as one woman said. But, at least, you are not talking or thinking in terms of other days.

You aren't a mourner, either. My gracious, but the mourners' bench is overcrowded these days with folk who see no good, hear no good, think no good of what the world's coming to. They're the mourners, as said, not the smart personal stylist who says: "Well, things being what they are, let's see what can be done about them!"

Nor is this snappy new creature who styles herself or restyles herself on the most up-to-date plan guilty of reminiscing over the "good old days." They must have been good days, but they aren't ours, and never will be, so the present day is the one to wrestle with and the one in which to look for good.

The modern women are not full of tales about the awful morals of our young. Maybe in certain groups there is reason to deplore the lack of moral standards, but the new style woman and mother doesn't groan. She's too busy setting an example and setting a worthwhile standard by which her young ones may pattern.

Now, the obvious question to ask is, "Are you new style or outmoded?"

40,000 Attend Soldiers' Field Dawn Service

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

As gauged by the Greater Chicago Easter Sunrise service in Soldiers' field, where at least 40,000 persons worshiped, it was estimated last night that the 2,000 city and suburban churches had their greatest Easter in history yesterday.

Last year only 12,000 persons attended the Soldiers' field service although the weather conditions were favorable. Yesterday, however, an overhung sky threatened to bring plenty of April showers during the earlier morning hours.

The Soldiers' field service, the sixth and largest to be held, was organized by a committee under the leadership of Harry Saulnier. Music was led by a chorus of 2,000 voices under the leadership of J. Stratton Shufelt, choirmaster of Moody Memorial church, and accompanied by an electronic organ and the ninety piece band of Wheaton college. Dr. Charles E. Fuller, radio evangelist of Los Angeles, Cal., was the preacher.

Another spectacular service was the procession of 1,500 Knights Templar from fifteen local commanderies to Medinah temple where the Easter ritual of the order was performed. The knights marched north in Michigan avenue to Ohio street and the temple with drawn swords in token of their willingness to defend tenets of the Christian faith.

Accompanied by five bands, the procession formed a great cross in Tribune square. Frank I. Hooper, deputy grand master of the Illinois commandery, Knights Templar, was master of the procession and the Rev. Dr. J. Morriston Thomas of Ravenswood Congregational church was the preacher. Crowds estimated at 10,000 persons witnessed the procession and ceremonies.

Attention of more than a million Catholics of the Chicago archdiocese was focused on Holy Name cathedral where at high noon Cardinal Mundelein presided at solemn pontifical high mass. The music, led by the Rev. Dr. Edwin V. Hoover of Quigley Preparatory seminary, was accompanied by the Cardinal's Cathedral choristers and the Cathedral Symphony orchestra.

Officers of the mass included the Very Rev. Msgr. Joseph P. Morrison, rector of the cathedral; the Very Rev. Msgr. James J. Horsburgh of the diocesan Propagation of the Faith, and members of the staf of Holy Name cathedral. The Rev. Dr. E. M. Burke preached the Easter sermon.

Bishop George Craig Stewart of the Episcopal diocese of Chicago preached sermons at two identical services in St. Luke's procathedral, Evanston.

Bishop Ernest Lynn Waldorf of the Methodist Episcopal area of Chicago was the Easter preacher last night at Sunday Evening club, Orchestra hall. At the early Orchestra hall service the Youth Organization of the Hyde Park Methodist Church presented a musical dramatization of the Easter story entitled, "The Dawn." The drama was directed by the Rev. Ralph Hall Collis of the Hyde Park church. Elden Benge, first trumpeter of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, played obbligatos to some of the musical numbers at the late service.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

We saw what we can only describe as a "permanent in reverse" the other day. This is a special service —and you'd be surprised at how much demand there is for it—for women with kinky hair. We were surprised at it—not only at its popularity but its effectiveness.

There are more women than you realize who wish their hair were less curly. Somehow we just don't stop to think about them because they are so greatly outnumbered by the ones who wish they had curls.

This treatment to soften coarse, too kinky hair begins with two special conditioning shampoos, one right after the other. After that a special softening solution is combed in ever so carefully. Following this the hair is shampooed and set in the usual manner.

We were present during most of the operation, watching the operator work with a head of hair as full of "body" and kink as any we've ever seen. It was very thick, very coarse, and so hard to manage we didn't marvel a bit at its owner devoting a couple of hours to having it softened. And softened it was so that it took a wide, sleek wave. It didn't look oily, as hair does plastered down with dressing. It did seem that its unruly texture had been licked—at least for the time being.

The softness lasts about the length of a permanent, depending on how fast the client's hair grows. For most women three or four treatments a year are sufficient to tame the wild locks. Women with too curly hair are very crazy about the whole idea strollers completely stealing the show.

Nowhere was there seen a handsomer couple than Miss Rose and Master Potter Palmer, 5 year old daughter and 3 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Potter Palmer III. Their gentian blue coats were alike and their hats were the same soft color, but Rose's [she is called Posy by her family] was of velvet and her little brother's was of the same wool as the coats. Early in the morning they walked with their nurse, each child carrying a huge bunny, but later they were joined by their mother and father, who took them to Grandfather and Grandmother Palmer's for luncheon.

Shreve Badgers' Little Girls a Smart Pair.

Smart, too, were the two daughters of the Shreve Badgers, who were walking with their mother. The little girls wore forest green coats lined with Scotch plaid that matched their Glengarry bonnets. On their lapels were yellow jonquils matching in color their mother's straw sailor.

Kyle and Mervyn Adams, who, with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Adams, and Bobby Adams, worshiped at St. James', were in sisters' coats and hats of cornflower blue. They wore little bunches of pansies and their mother, chic in navy blue, wore yellow daisies on her shoulder that matched in color the roses that trimmed her jaunty blue straw hat.

One of the smartest appearing worshipers at St. Chrysostom's church was Miss Julia Patterson, who was accompanied by her fiancé, Ralph Applegate. Miss Patterson wore a black coat with a silver fox collar and a black pillbox hat with lilies of the valley and a large gardenia directly in the middle of the hat. On her shoulder were four huge gardenias. Another smart young woman at this church was Miss Joan Ford, who wore a light beige coat and a stunning hat with a black suede brim and a huge mustard color crown.

Many Smart Worshipers at St. Chrysostom's.

Some other attractively clad members of St. Chrysostom's yesterday were the Richard M. Lamports, Miss Ethel Husband, the I. Newton Perrys, Mrs. Jacob Baur, the Vincent Healys, and their son, Tommy; the junior Charles S. Deweys, the Fletcher Durbins, and the Gaylord Donnelleys.

One of the most impeccably groomed of the many handsome women at St. James' was Mrs. Patrick A. Valentine, who wore a toque trimmed with bachelor buttons and a tailored pinstripe blue and white coat. Her Easter flowers were orchids, pinned to a silver fox scarf.

Ranunculus gleamed greenish white against the black cape suit trimmed with silver fox worn by Mrs. George Meeker. Her escort at St. James' was George B. Farnam, the young man who is to marry her granddaughter, Miss Nancy Forgan.

Mrs. Orville J. Taylor, whose husband is one of St. James' vestrymen, was accompanied to church by Arthur Crary of New York. Mrs. Taylor looked especially smart in tailored blue, with white orchids pinned to her sables, and gloves and bag of copper.

Corsages Adorn Wraps Suited to Weather.

Mrs. Heaton Owsley, who arrived with Mrs. Robert G. Peck, wore her caracul coat as protection against the chilly breezes, but pinned a corsage of springlike lilies of the valley to its collar. Mrs. Peck, whose husband also was ushering, wore orchids. White iris were the flowers Jacob Bischof gave his wife to wear with a sheer black wool coat and pretty black straw hat. Miss Virginia Thatcher pinned a single large gardenia to her black coat which was fastened with gold metal buttons.

Very young and very smartly turned out was Ellen Ryerson, daughter of the Joseph T. Ryersons, who arrived with her mother. Little Miss Ryerson wore a light blue tailored suit, with a crisp pink blouse and a tiny blue hat. Bright spring flowers waved from the natural straw pancake the junior Mrs. Joseph Ryerson wore with her black coat.

Mrs. Lewis Bernays, wife of the British consul general, and her three tall sons; Mrs. Nathan S. Davis III. and three of her sons; Mrs. Henry Hooper and her daughter, Alice; Mrs. Aldis K. Browne and her daughter, Elizabeth, were other family groups at St. James'.

Mrs. Hayden B. Harris, in the black and white that is so fashionable this spring, and Mrs. Leo M. Nicolson and Miss Caryl Nicolson went up the church steps together. A long flowing veil of raspberry tied to a navy blue tricorne hat floated from Miss Nicolson's head.

Blue polka dotted veiling fell from Mrs. Clarence A. McCarthy's navy straw bonnet, and poppies in two shades nodded from the very top of Miss Madelon Search's natural straw pancake.

Miniature Parade Gathers at Casino.

At about 1:30 a miniature parade of limousines, taxis, and promenaders gathered in front of the Casino, where an Easter luncheon with music was planned for the entertainment of members. Mr. and Mrs. Adams and their youngsters, and Mrs. Davis and her boys, as well as scores who worshiped at other churches, ended their morning walks at the entrance to the club.

The Walter Carrs and their daughter and son-in-law and son, the Marshall G. Sampsells, and Robert A. Carr; his uncle, Robert F. Carr, and the latter's nieces, the Misses Martha and Katherine Carr, converged from different directions by motor and on foot, but all at about the same time, to enjoy the Casino's party. Miss Martha Carr's fiancé, Peter G. Moon, and Miss Elise Clow and some beaux also were in the group.

Two unusual green orchid corsages were observed at the Casino worn by Mrs. John L. Cochran and Mrs. Charles S. Dewey. The former's was of tiny orchids combined with red carnations and was effective with the wearer's coat and off the face hat of rose beige wool and sables. Mrs. Dewey's corsage was of larger green orchids combined with lilies of the valley, and was smart with her black wool coat and black straw hat.

Mrs. Bryan S. Reid Wears Navy and Roseberry.

From St. Chrysostom's came Mr. and Mrs. M. Paul Noyes, their daughter and son-in-law, the Roger D. Shaws, and the Bryan S. Reids. Mrs. Shaw wore a becoming hat of navy enlivened with a crown of paler blue and rose stripes. Mrs. Reid wore a turban and short coat of roseberry with a navy and roseberry print frock.

Mrs. Frank Hibbard in a print dress and turban; Mrs. Walter J. Cummings, with a mink cape over her print gown; the John Stevensons, Mrs. Charles W. Dempster in a bottle green suit and gardenias; the Allyn Warrens, Miss Harriet Stuart in a gray suit trimmed with gray fox, and the Silas Strawns were others in the parade toward the Casino.

On the windy, thronged corner of Michigan and Delaware, crossing from the Fourth Presbyterian church, were, among others, Miss Louise Forgan in a cartwheel black straw hat tied with a print ribbon to match her frock; Mrs. Ralph Otis, Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Sims, the John R. Thompsons and their daughter, Miss Eleonore Thompson.

Safe from the wind, but with a good view of the parade none the less, were those who lingered in the International room at the Drake, sipping Easter toasts and watching the world go by. The Allan Ripleys and Mrs. Ripley's sister, Mrs. Walter Goodwillie, and the Richard Hacketts were some of those at the windows in the Drake.

According to CULBERTSON

PLEASANT SURPRISE.

[Copyright: 1938: By Ely Culbertson.]

The advantage accruing from good sacrifice bidding is twofold. The normal, predictable advantage is that fewer points will be given to the opponents by such an overbid than they would gain from their own, presumably cold, contract. The other advantage appears only occasionally but, nevertheless, is worthy of consideration. It is just this: That many a contract reached only in the sacrifice spirit turns out to be makable. North-South had a pleasant surprise on the following hand:

South, dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

NORTH
♦ 10 5

WEST
♠ K Q 10 6 3 2
♥ A Q 7 4 2
♣ Q

EAST
♥ K J 6 3
♦ J 8 7 4 2

SOUTH
♦ A K Q 9 3
♣ J 7 5 4 2

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 diamond	2 spades	Pass	2 no trump
3 clubs	3 hearts	4 clubs	4 hearts
Pass	Pass	5 clubs	5 hearts
Pass	Pass	6 clubs	Double
Pass	Pass	Pass

North did not have the slightest hope of actually making a slam in clubs against the strong East-West bidding. However, when South passed over both four hearts and five hearts North felt certain that the opponents' game could not be stopped and, therefore, went on as a sacrifice measure.

East did not have the values for a penalty double, but it was quite clear to him that North and South were not bidding six because they thought they could make it. Their bidding had the unmistakable sound of "saving," and since East was sure that a slam could not be made his way, he doubled to stop West from bidding further.

Let it be understood that I do not approve East's double nor the motive back of it. He was not in a position to decide whether or not a six heart bid by his partner would be a good or bad idea, and he should have left it to West's judgment.

The spade king was opened and, at sight of the dummy, declarer took a new lease on life. It was apparent that, far from being a sacrifice measure, six clubs had an excellent chance for success. Winning with the spade ace, declarer led a low club to the king, then returned to his own jack. He then laid down the diamond ace to guard against a possible, although not likely, singleton jack in West's hand. When West followed low, declarer carefully played dummy's ten spot as a vital unblocking measure. He reëntered dummy with a trump and led the diamond five through East, finessing his own nine spot. When it held, he was home. The king and queen of diamonds were cashed, and dummy's spades were discarded. Dummy still had two trumps with which to ruff declarer's fifth diamond and losing spade and, thus, only one heart trick had to be conceded.

The Housewife

Instead of using a lot of cleaning cloths, why not supplement your supply with sanitary ones made of crinkled vegetable parchment, the purest paper known? These cloths, when wet, become very soft and pliable and may be used for scouring bathtubs, sinks, tiling, etc.

You can put soap on them, just as you do on regular cloths. After using simply rinse them and hang them up to dry. Each one may be used again and again.

These parchment wash cloths measure 16 by 16 inches and come two in a package for a few cents. Once you try them you'll put in a supply.

Fashion Expert Bets on Sheers in Spring Race

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Equipped with post-Easter fashion notes and the necessary cash, the spring clothes collector can settle down to the job of completing her wardrobe. It's ten to one she'll spend her budget for sheers, the thin summer things that have wandered into town.

Sheers are versatile models this season. They've been concocted by experts with a flair for practicalness and this stunt has been achieved without sacrificing a single stitch of smartness.

For instance—a silk crêpe dress, short sleeved and young of streamline, teamed with a long swinging topcoat of filmy sheer in the same color and the same print as the dress. The same ideal summer and spring mixture is assured with simple dresses of sheer and short jackets of silk crêpe.

Poresa, a fabric of fine wool that is as thin as a sieve, keeps a pressed line indefinitly, and can be had in all those mouth watering pastels, as well as oyster white and dark street shades, makes stunning outfits. This fabric achieves some of the finest, the neatest, sharpest plaits. Its seams refuse to sag. And it will wear for years.

Startling contrasts are provided by white and frost with black and navy. And there are prize winning assortments of all white hats with a bit of navy, black or green veils to wear with these black and white get-together. Piqué is "in" in dozens of fetching small hats with crisp bows and crisper outlines.

Next to lure your money are the copper and white combines. One knockout all-purpose outfit features a long copper colored crêpe coat lined with copper dotted white silk. The copper colored dress is plaited and additional swank is achieved with tailored details. On the lapel of the chest is a double flower made of the dotted silk. Others as distracting are being shown all over town.

CUBS WIN; 2 AMERICAN LEAGUE GAMES TODAY

EPPERLY STOPS WHITE SOX IN 7 TO 5 VICTORY

Walker Hits Homer for Hose.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Although their pitching wasn't particularly impressive, the Cubs, who have had a fairly good time for themselves all spring, concluded their training chores in the same enjoyable fashion yesterday. They dusted off the White Sox, 7 to 5, in Comiskey park for a final pre-season edge of ten victories in sixteen efforts against the team that usually drives them daffy.

The biggest flaw in the defense arranged by the Cub boss was Larry French, the lefty, who, for the second time since the nine inning training edict was issued, fell short of the distance. Larry almost was annihilated and might have been if a rescuer hadn't reached him in the fourth inning. But just when the Sox partisans were howling loudest over French's misery something happened to their own favorite, Ted Lyons. The Cubs plastered him with four runs in the third and thereafter never were worse off than in a tie.

Epperly Does His Part.

When he saw his nine inning plan for French squashed by the Sox bats, Manager Grimm elected to see what his choicest pitching rookie, Albert Paul Epperly, could do in a tight spot. The Moline graduate did right well for himself, not by keeping out of trouble but by proving he could escape after getting into the jams. He surrendered only one run in six innings. Meanwhile Bill Dietrich, after two perfect innings, was clouted for Cub runs in both the eighth and ninth.

Gerald Walker, whose outfielding wasn't particularly brilliant, headlined the hitters for the afternoon. He uncorked a homer which started French off in the wrong direction in the first inning. Later on the ex-Tiger came up with a pair of singles off Epperly. Mike Kreevich retained second place hitting honors for the Sox with a triple and a pair of singles, not to mention two passes. And as a third placer, Marvin Owen, also of the Sox, slipped in with a brace of doubles.

Larry Is Fortunate.

French really was fortunate to escape with no more than two runs against him in the first inning. After Hayes, leading off, had popped out, Kreevich lined a single to right. Walker aimed a liner to left and it kept going until it had nestled in the seats for two runs. Radcliff lined to right and the ball missed being a homer by inches, bouncing back for a two bagger. Kuhel sent a fly to deep right and Demaree by sprinting to the scoreboard, managed to make the catch. Radcliff, who was almost to third by this time, tried to retrace his steps but stumbled and was doubled off second.

Before getting under way with their four run splurge in the third, the Cubs had a little harmless fun with Lyons. Hack opened the first inning with a pass and, as Herman missed a third strike, was picked off first by Sewell. Collins came through with a single to right but Demaree grounded to Hayes. In the second, after Lyons had slipped over a third strike on Triplett for the second out, Hayes fumbled Jurges' grounder and O'Dea walked. Lyons quelled this slight disturbance by inducing French to roll to Berger of a force play at second.

The profitable Cub third began

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Cubs, baseball authors, and fans, had more or less difficulty getting their minds off Dizzy Dean and onto the city series final yesterday. Dizzy was in town during the morning and might have put on a great trained seal act in Comiskey park, if he hadn't had to dash back to St. Louis to get his toothbrush and other shirt, as the saying goes.

Just why Dizzy dashed right in and dashed right out again was not made exactly clear. If it was to put a touch on President P. K. Wrigley, the great man was thwarted, for the Cub prexy had stepped out of town to enjoy his Easter eggs and lilies. Diz had met Manager Charley Grimm several times before, so the journey seemed quite futile.

It's All Very Mysterious.

One thing is certain: the trip was not for publicity purposes. Charley Drake, Cub press agent, all morning remained in a haze on Diz's whimsical pilgrimage, as to time of arrival, time of departure, kind of conveyance used in getting here, kind of conveyance used in getting home, what he had for breakfast, why Pants Rowland had him in leash, and where was Mrs. Patricia Dean.

If publicity had been the reason for the trip Mr. Drake could have put on a great pageant by dressing Diz in the Gen. Grant whiskers and uniform used in Ford Frick's National league tableau in Wrigley field a couple of years ago. Think what a natural it would have been for Charley to lead Diz once around Comiskey park en costume, then unbeard him at the plate, revealing that it was in truth Diz himself.

He's a Ball Player First.

This observer, for one, is glad that Diz didn't do a lot of off the field circus stuff and popping off. He long has been one of our favorite athletes, a favoritism borne of his showmanship skill and sincerity on the field rather than through his speeches, some of which were hopped up considerably between the time they left Diz's lips and the time they appeared in print or over the air.

Yesterday, in his brief visit in Chicago, Diz gave every assurance that he is happy in his new connection and that he will do his best for his team. He said it with dignity, but he didn't have to say it. Once Diz enters a ball park he's all ball player, rarin' to go.

He's mulish only when there are interviewers about.

The hurried trip developed one bit of news. Manager Grimm told Diz and the world that he will pitch against the Reds in Cincinnati Wednesday and that he will go against the Cardinals in Wrigley field next Sunday. Dizzy Dean vs. the Cards. That ought to bring 'em through the turnstiles.

No Tag on Cub Trio.

No statements were given out as to the amount of cash involved and Cub officials said there probably would be no announcements. Every one was entitled to his own guess, however, and these ranged from $75,000 to $200,000. Mr. Drake said no record had been set and recalled the $250,000 Joe Cronin deal.

The Cubs would make no estimate of the monetary value of Pitchers Clyde Shoun and Curt Davis and Outfielder Tuck Stainback, who were included in the deal.

RICKEY SAYS LITTLE

St. Louis, Mo., April 17.—(AP)—What was the real reason behind the trade of Dizzy Dean to the Chicago Cubs?

General Manager Branch Rickey of the Cardinals declared it was not because of Dizzy's reputed bad arm. But he refused to answer more specific questions.

"If you will remember, back in 1936, I said no pitcher could make a baseball club," Rickey said. "While Dean was with us we were three years without a flag. Even when he's good, one pitcher doesn't make

Welcome, Dizzy, and Good Luck, Boys

JUNIOR MUST REGISTER IF HE CADDIES FOR DAD

Milwaukee, Wis., April 17.—[Special.]—If Junior goes along when his dad plays a Wisconsin golf course, Junior can't caddy for his father unless he registers as a caddy with the Wisconsin Industrial commission. The last Wisconsin legislature made it the law that caddies must register, cannot be younger than 14 years old, and if younger than 16 cannot work more than twenty-four hours a week.

C. Stanley Perry, assistant corporation counsel, today advised the Milwaukee county park commission that a caddy is entitled to industrial compensation if injured in a golf accident and that on a public course the county is liable for the compensation.

GAMBLERS MAKE CUBS FAVORITES TO WIN PENNANT

New York, April 17.—[Special.]—With Dizzy Dean a newcomer on the Cubs' pitching staf, the Chicago club today was installed favorite to win the National league penant by Jack Doyle, Broadway betting commissioner. Whereas the Cubs were second choice at 2 to 1 prior to the trade, Doyle today quoted 3 to 2 against the Chicago team finishing on top.

The Giants, previously rated first at odds of 8 to 5, became second choice at the same price, while the Cardinals, whom Dean left, jumped from 3 to 1 to 4 to 1. At the same time the odds against the Pirates went down a point from 6 to 1 to 5 to 1.

ALEXANDER AND CLUB LOSE TO O'FARRELLS, 13-6

Bloomington, Ill., April 17.—[Special.]—The St. Louis Cardinal battery of the 1926 world series took the field again this afternoon but in managerial capacity only as Bob O'Farrell's Bloomington Three-Eye club defeated the Springfield Empires, managed by Grover Cleveland Alexander, 13 to 6.

Orioles Pound Chase; Run Over Senators, 8-2

Baltimore, Md., April 17.—(AP)—The Baltimore Orioles made the most of the eleven hits they registered against the Washington Senators today to win, 8 to 2. Chase yielded all the hits in the seven innings before he gave way to Krakauskas. Wasdell, Washington pinch hitter, hit the only home run of the game. The Senators used the lineup which will see service tomorrow in Washington in the opening American league game.

Newark Pitchers Baffle Phillies; Bears Win, 12-1

Newark, N. J., April 17.—(AP)—The Newark Bears outclassed the Phillies both at the plate and on the mound to score a 12 to 1 victory today. While Bithorn, Russo, and Makosky held the National leaguers to four hits, the Bears pounded Pete Sivess and Tommy Reis for fourteen and were never behind. Newark coupled five walks with four hits and an error to score seven runs in the fifth inning.

Bryant Grant Says He'll Return to Tennis Soon

Atlanta, Ga., April 17.—(AP)—Ten pounds off weight but feeling "much better" after an appendectomy, Bryant M. Grant Jr., Atlanta tennis star, said today, "my big time days in tennis aren't over; they're just halted temporarily." Stepping off a plane from Houston, where his operation eliminated him from a tournament, Grant added he would skip the National Clay courts tournament in June. "I hardly will have my strength back by then," he said.

Pirates Rout Hutchinson, 16-2, in Final Exhibition

Hutchinson, Kas., April 17.—(AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates wound up their spring training tour here today with a 16 to 2 victory over the Hutchinson Larks of the Western association.

The game was called after the eighth inning to permit the Pirates to catch a train for St. Louis, where they open the National league season on Tuesday.

SPARTAS DEFEAT BROOKLYN, 3 TO 0, IN 1ST CUP GAME

Four Players Injured in Rough Battle.

The Sparta soccer team defeated the St. Mary's Celtics, 3 to 0, before 7,000 yesterday in Sparta stadium in the first of the two game series for the national championship. It was one of the roughest games ever played in Chicago, four players, three for Sparta and one for Brooklyn, suffering injuries.

The series will be resumed in Brooklyn next Sunday, with the total goals determining the champion. The three goals yesterday give Sparta an advantageous margin, but the injuries may weaken their attack sufficiently to offset this lead.

Sparta Takes Early Lead.

Sparta led at the half, 2 to 0, on goals by Jimmy MacDermott and Frank Trimmell. James Wolf fortified this with the third and final score late in the game.

The Chicago players injured were MacDermott, star center forward; James Monroe, outside right, and Jerry Silvosky, goalie. Al De Rostaing was the Brooklyn victim.

MacDermott's injury caused the Spartas the most concern. Kicked in the head late in the game, MacDermott was carried from the field and taken to St. Anne's hospital for examination. No serious injury was discovered, however, and he was released. Twice earlier in the game MacDermott had been subjected to rough treatment, but he was able to carry on. Munroe suffered a flesh wound above the knee in the first period and Goalie Silvosky's hand was bruised. De Rostaing's ankle was bruised in the first period. These men were able to resume play after receiving first aid.

MacDermott Scores First.

When the game wasn't being delayed because of penalties and injuries, the two teams, and especially the Spartas, managed to play some excellent soccer.

MacDermott made the first Sparta goal after five minutes of incessant bombardment of the Brooklyn goal, taking a pass from Wolf twelve yards out and beating the Brooklyn goalie with a speedy shot.

Trimmell, next to score for Sparta, found the net at the thirty-five minute mark of the second period, counting with Vlcek's assistance. Wolf's goal, with only five minutes to play, came after he had eluded Kelso of the Brooklyn defense to get his shot.

Celtics' Threat Fails.

Brooklyn's most determined effort came immediately after the start of the second period, but ill luck on its shots and a quickly mobile Sparta defense prevented it from scoring.

KAINRATH PLOTS TO GET EUROPEAN ON A MAY NIGHT

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Frank Kainrath, veteran of many amateur boxing campaigns, will work as eagerly as a rookie when Chicago's Golden Gloves fighters start preparation for the international matches with the champions of Europe. There will be a good reason for this ambition. In the international matches, which are to be held in the Chicago Stadium May 18, Kainrath will get an opportunity to redeem himself for two hairline defeats—one in last year's fight with Europe and the other in the recent intercity matches with New York.

Frank Kainrath.

That defeat at the hands of Ulderico Sergo of Italy was nothing of which to be ashamed. Sergo was not only the greatest amateur bantamweight in all Europe, he was also one of the greatest amateur bantamweights Europe had seen at any time in its boxing history. Kainrath fought him blow for blow and the bout was so close that even the judges were divided in their opinion of the winner, the vote going two to one for Sergo. These two great fighters may meet again this May, for Sergo again is a contender for a place on Europe's team.

Elected Captain of Golden Gloves Squad.

Undiscouraged by the setback in last year's internationals, Kainrath started another campaign last fall, winning the Catholic Youth organization championship, and being chosen captain of the C. Y. O. team. Then came the Golden Gloves tournament last February and March. Frank marched right through to another championship. Again his teammates demonstrated their regard by electing him captain of the team that represented Chicago in the intercity Golden Gloves bouts with New York.

There was more hard luck waiting for Kainrath in New York. After one of the most spectacular bouts of the night—a slugging match from start to finish—the officials returned a hairline decision in favor of the New York boy.

Came to U. S. from Austria Six Years Ago.

Kainrath is a good sport, however, and he later joined in the celebration of the Chicago team's victory. Those setbacks will only make him work all the harder for an opportunity to get even with Europe's representative in their forthcoming match. His opponent has not yet been named, for the outcome of a tournament in Berlin April 29 will decide Europe's representatives. Last year the international matches ended in a 4 to 4 tie.

Kainrath was born in Austria and came over to this country with his parents about six years ago. He now lives in Riverdale.

Kainrath does most of his boxing at the C. Y. O. gymnasium under the scrutiny of Coach Paddy Kane. Frankie is one of the most polished amateur fighters to come up in the last few seasons. He combines considerable tactical skill with the courage and ability to stand up and slug with any one.

Kainrath May Lose, but He Also Learns.

Now thoroughly accustomed to fighting before large crowds Kainrath knows how to give the fans a good show. There are many fighters who have his bull-like aggressiveness, but most of them are awkward and futile in their efforts. There are also many who have his polish, but lack his aggressiveness. Combine these qualities as they are combined in Kainrath and the result is a fighter who can bring the fans up yelling.

A defeat will discourage some boys and it will sharpen others. Kainrath's coaches and followers are united in the opinion that Frank is the kind of a fellow who learns something while he's taking a beating. Maybe they're right. Frankie will be out to show them in the international matches.

SENATORS MEET A'S AND RED SOX PLAY YANKEES

National Leaguers Wait a Day.

New York, April 17.—(AP)—Odds shifted sharply toward the Chicago Cubs and away from the New York Giants today as baseball's sixteen major league clubs lined up for their getaway tomorrow and Tuesday.

By the acquisition of Dizzy Dean the Cubs have skyrocketed into the driver's seat as favorites to end the Giants' two year National league championship stranglehold during baseball's 100th season.

While Dean's arrival, on the one hand, makes it all the more certain that the National league race is going to be another one of those knock down affairs, there also is nothing in the Yankees' present form to indicate that their forecasted American league conquest figures to be as lopsided as it has been for the last two years.

It's Big Monkey Wrench.

Provided, of course, that there's nothing wrong with the comeback efforts of Dean's pitching arm, the Cubs have tossed a major monkey wrench into the National league pennant machinery by the purchase of the "Great One" at a reported price of $100,000 and three players. His loss softens up the Cardinals to where they may be reduced to second division consideration.

The deal sending Dean to work for Manager Charley Grimm gets the big league season off to a sensational start in its two game American league preview in Washington and Boston tomorrow, and its regulation schedule on Tuesday.

For the moment the Dean shift serves to take the play completely away from such other details as [1] the fact that the Yankees appear anything but ready for the start of their world championship defense, [2] the considerably strengthened stands of last year's second division clubs in both leagues, and [3] the importation of as promising a set of rookies as the big time has seen in three seasons.

Roosevelt Is Pitcher.

To begin it all President Roosevelt makes his annual pitching start tomorrow by tossing out the first ball to get the Athletics-Senators party going in Washington. At the same time the Yankees and Red Sox celebrate the 163d anniversary of Paul Revere's big league gallop in the other half of the program in Boston.

Manager Bucky Harris has nominated Wesley Ferrell, the slow ball artist, to pitch for Washington. Manager Connie Mack never commits himself before the game, but Almon Williams is expected to be his pitching choice.

Preceding the President's first pitch Vice President Garner will lead a march of both teams and the Army band to raise the American flag in center field. The only sad note in the pre-game outlook is the weather. The forecaster said there might be showers.

With fair weather a crowd of close to 25,000—including Gov. Charles F. Hurley, who is to throw out the first ball, and Mayor Maurice F. Tobin—is expected in Fenway park. But, as is generally the case with openers in Boston, the forecast was for rain.

Cronin Picks Bagby.

The Red Sox, picked generally to finish in fifth place this year, have a tough task in playing their first four games against the strongest team in baseball. After the opener they will meet the Yankees in a double-header Tuesday, Patriot's day, and a single game Wednesday.

Manager Joe Cronin surprised baseball observers late tonight by nominating 21 year old Jim Bagby, rookie from Atlanta, Ga., to be his starting pitcher against the world champions. It will be the first major league start for young Bagby, a right hander, who performed ably—but not spectacularly—during the Red Sox training season. Bagby came to the Red Sox this year from the Hazleton club of the New York-Pennsylvania league.

Joe McCarthy, New York manager,

FIVE MAN EVENT CLOSES TONIGHT IN A. B. C. MEET

16 Teams Roll Better than 3,000.

Competition in the five man division of the American Bowling Congress tournament will close tonight with 120 teams rolling in the Coliseum. Singles and doubles will be concluded early tomorrow afternoon, but a Chicago sweepstakes in which thirty-six men's teams and forty-four women's lineups will compete, will be held following the windup of the regular A. B. C. schedule.

The general scoring in the five man class is the highest in the thirty-eight year history of the congress. Sixteen teams have bettered 3,000, topped by the record 3,234 score of Chicago's Birk Brothers. Fifty other lineups scored better than 2,900. The former high was established last year in New York when eleven squads hit better than 3,000, and forty-nine lineups scored better than 2,900.

These Totals in Prize Money.

Despite the general high scoring in all divisions of the tournament, the following totals are still eligible in the $198,300 prize list. Team event, 2,690; doubles, 1,122; singles, 573, and all events, 1,795.

While an official checkup on attendance figures has not been made, Al Lea, president of the Chicago A. B. C. tournament committee, has announced that the tournament is a financial success. The largest paid admissions in national tournament history have paid to see the 24,785 entries perform.

Chicago and central states lineups will monopolize the first two squads of five man competition scheduled tonight at 7:30 o'clock and 9:30. An added Chicago shift listed at 11:30 o'clock will close the main event.

Live Stock Press on Program.

The Live Stock Press, Chicago, with five veterans, and Melba Recreations, Lakewood, O., will be among those on the closing program. Included in the lineup of the Ohio squad is Harvey Braatz, who set a world league record last year in totaling 864 with games of 276, 300, and 288.

Eddie Hartke and Art Klein of Detroit topped the doubles yesterday with 1,272 and Jay Chapple Jr. of Wichita, Kas., was high in the singles with 668 on 209-222-237.

Gabby Hartnett of the Cubs proved a consistent if not a sensational contestant.

Getting in his bowling before going to the ball park, Hartnett rolled games of 156, 155, and 156 in the doubles for a 467 series. In the singles he compiled 461 on games of 162, 150, and 149.

Jimmy Dykes, manager of the White Sox, contributed games of 163, 172, and 172 as his Colonials of Upper Darby, Pa., totaled 2,676. Jimmy had difficulty bunching his strikes and ran into an array of splits. The Sox pilot will roll his doubles and singles events at 3:20 and 4:05 today. Dykes will pair up in the two-man event with Eddie Dilworth of Philadelphia.

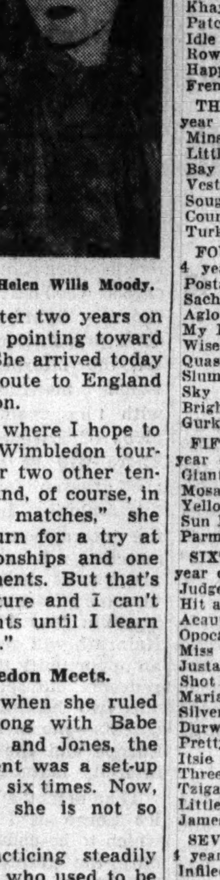
SMILIN' JACK—CUPID'S OBITUARY

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off. Copyright, 1938, by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.

Confidence Is Only Need —Helen Moody

New York, April 17.—(AP)—The queen stood quietly in the center of Grand Central station's Easter rush and said wistfully, "All I need now is confidence. I feel my game is as good as ever but I won't know until I get some real competition."



Helen Wills Moody.

The queen was, of course, Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, the poker-faced Californian, who once dominated the women's tennis field as completely as Bobby Jones did the golfers. Now, after two years on the sidelines, she is pointing toward another campaign. She arrived today from California en route to England and tennis competition.

"I sail Wednesday where I hope to play not only in the Wimbledon tournament but in one or two other tennis events as well. And, of course, in the Wightman cup matches," she said. "Then I'll return for a try at the national championships and one or two other tournaments. But that's pretty far in the future and I can't say which tournaments until I learn the summer schedule."

Wins Six Wimbledon Meets.

Back in the days when she ruled the sports pages along with Babe Ruth, Jack Dempsey, and Jones, the Wimbledon tournament was a set-up for Helen. She won it six times. Now, back in competition, she is not so sure or so confident.

"I have been practicing steadily with Howard Kinsey, who used to be doubles champion and is now a professional," she explained. "I feel that I am hitting my shots as well as ever and that my game is substantially the same. The only thing I haven't got is the confidence I used to have and, of course, only competition can bring that. I think I'll be more nervous in my first match, wherever it is, than I ever was in international competition.

"My back feels well and I'm sure it will be all right, no matter how strenuous the season. It's really good to get back. You know, once you're in tennis you miss it very much."

Some one mentioned turning professional and Mrs. Moody smiled.

Not Turning Professional.

"Well, it's pretty obvious I'm not turning professional now," she said, "not with this competition ahead."

"Really," she continued, "I think we have more first rate women players than ever before. Anita Lizana, the national champion, is a fine player and so is Jadwiga Jedrzejowska, the Polish girl. Unfortunately I've never seen either of them at their best. Miss Lizana played only in doubles when I saw her on the coast and Miss Jedrzejowska was handicapped by a bad foot. But they are both excellent players. I really believe this is as capable a field as any I've ever faced.

A lot of tennis balls have gone over the net since Helen Wills, a leggy youngster with pigtails, first startled the tennis world. Did a 32 year old ex-champion still get the same kick?

"I'm really just as excited about this campaign as I was when I first came east. As excited and, as I said, more nervous. Tennis is always thrilling, but this year will be doubly so."

AURORA RUSHES WORK FOR ITS MAY 2 OPENING

The final two weeks of preparation for the opening of the Illinois racing season on May 2 at the Aurora track will begin today. A checkup over the week-end by President Robert S. Eddy revealed that all departments will be ready. His chief concern was over the installation of the new electric totalizer board, and the report he received was that it would be ready by the middle of next week.

The board was so big that it partly obstructed the back stretch view from the stewards' stand. A crew of workmen will go to work today to elevate the stand to the necessary height.

Meyer Is New Iron Man of 500 Mile Race

Indianapolis, Ind., April 17.—(AP)—Louis Meyer of Huntington Park, Cal., only three-time winner of the 500 mile race, officially became the new iron man of the Indianapolis motor speedway today.

Chief Steward Charles O. Merz, member of the A. A. A. contest board, said a tabulation just completed disclosed Meyer had overthrown Ralph De Palma as the endurance star of 500 mile races by rolling up 4,385 miles in actual competition since 1927. De Palma's record of 4,061 miles had stood since 1925, the year he retired from Indianapolis racing.

Officials Wire Congratulations.

Merz and T. E. [Pop] Myers, speedway vice president, telegraphed congratulations to Meyer in California, where he is building a new one man car for the race Decoration day.

"His is truly a remarkable record," Myers said. "He has finished seven of eleven races without relief. He is the only three-time winner, and his prize money in speedway racing tops all others."

The tabluation showed Ralph Mulford of Red Bank, N. J., who quit Indianapolis racing in 1922, was in third place with 4,009 miles of actual competition. Tony Gulotta of Detroit was fourth with 4,005, and Cliff Bergere of Hollywood, Cal., fifth with 3,965. Wilbur Shaw, 1937 winner, was down in twelfth place with 2,929.

First Start Was Failure.

Meyer started his campaign for endurance honors two years after the retirement of De Palma. In his first speedway race Meyer gained only 133 miles, but in 1928 he went the entire route to win his first victory. In 1929 he finished second to Ray Keech, but added 500 miles to his mileage. He was fourth in 1930, going all the way. He ran out of the money the following two years, but added 522 miles to his chart.

Meyer scored his second victory in 1933, but received credit for only 230 miles the following year. Although his car finished twelfth in 1935, he went the route. In 1936 Meyer won his third speedway race. Last year he drove another 500 miles without relief.

GIANTS, INDIANS FINED $200 EACH FOR TEXAS ROWS

Commissioner of Baseball K. M. Landis announced yesterday the New York Giants and Cleveland Indian baseball clubs each had been fined $200 following investigation of two disputes involving the two clubs in their recent exhibition game swing in Texas.

The statement by Landis said the Giants had been fined for their row in Houston April 3 when "members of the New York team, including the manager [Bill Terry] held up the game twelve or fifteen minutes" in a dispute about an umpire's decision.

The Cleveland fine followed the Indians' forfeiture of their game to the Giants in Longview, Tex., April 6, when Manager Oscar Vitt ordered his team off the field after disputing a decision by Umpire Claude Tobin. Citing ground rules, Tobin ruled a hit by Joe Moore, which Outfielder Julius Solters ran into the crowd to catch, a double. Vitt contended it was an out.

Landis ordered the fines paid on or before April 23. He had conferred with both Terry and Vitt in Cleveland last week.

HOWARD CHATT MAKES PERFECT CASTING SCORE

Howard Chatt made a perfect score in one event and finished first in two others to win high honors in the weekly fly casting meet of the Illinois Casting club in the University of Chicago fieldhouse yesterday. Results:

ACCURACY FLY—Won by Howard Chatt, 100; Chester Gardner, second, 96; Noel Weaver, third, 95.

¼ OUNCE ACCURACY—Won by Howard Chatt, 98; Charles Donaldson and Nick Schroeder tied for second with 94.

DRY FLY ACCURACY—Won by Howard Chatt, 98; Chester Gardner and Noel Weaver tied for second with 94.

⅝ OUNCE ACCURACY—Nick Schroeder and Noel Weaver tied for first with 97; Margaret Weaver, third, 96.

Midwest League to Draw Opening Schedule Tonight

The opening schedule of games in the Midwest Baseball league will be drawn tonight at a meeting of officials at 169 North Franklin street. According to Secretary Bob Bennett, more than fifty teams have entered the league and will compete in the first games of the season next Sunday afternoon.

Western State Relay Team Seeks Penn Title

Kalamazoo, Mich., April 17.—[Special.]—The Western State relay team has entered the Penn relays, seeking the mile relay championship for the fifth time in six years. Roscoe Washington, high jumper, also is entered.

East Enters Two Teams in Open Indoor Polo Play

Play in the open class, with all teams starting their games from scratch, will feature the indoor polo tournament tomorrow, Thursday, and Saturday nights.

For the first time in the tournament the east will have two teams in the open division. They are Winston Guest's Optimists and the New York Athletic club, led by Billy Nicholls, seven goal player, who is topped in rating only by Guest, Mike Phipps, and Stewart Iglehart.

The New York Athletic club Winged Foot trio, senior champions for four years, arrives today for the inaugural program tomorrow evening with the 124th Field Artillery as the opposition in the Washington Park armory, 5200 Cottage Grove avenue.

The second game of the evening will be announced today, according to Herbert J. Lorber, chairman of the tournament committee.

Teaming up with Nicholls for the New York A. C. will be Tommy Bradley and John Pflug, rated at 5 goals, and Bradley at 3.

Lieut. Bill Fergus, captain of the 124th Field Artillery, said that his team will line up with Capt. Romeo Mura and Lieut. Don Rice against the easterners. This threesome, undefeated all season, won the Metropolitan Polo league senior and junior tournament championships, capturing the latter in two straight games from the Ridgewood, N. J., Polo club, eastern champions.

The west gets a chance to even the count in championships by winning the open class tournament. At present the east holds the Sherman cup, or low goal, and the senior crowns, won Saturday night by Blue Hill Farm of Philadelphia and Guest's Optimists, respectively.

HOWARD ADMITS SEABISCUIT IS NATION'S FASTEST

San Francisco, Cal., April 17.—(AP)—Seabiscuit's smooth triumph in the $15,000 Bay Meadows handicap left Owner Charles S. Howard more convinced than ever today that his black racer would beat War Admiral in their match race at Belmont Park on May 30.

Elated by Seabiscuit's performance, Howard said: "I am more convinced than ever that Seabiscuit is the best horse in the country, and I look for him to win from War Admiral."

Seabiscuit won by three lengths and set a track record of 1:49 for the mile and an eighth. Carrying 133 pounds, he never was under pressure and responded perfectly to the ride Jocky George Woolf gave him. That track record tickled Howard, as the eyes of the nation's racing fans were on Seabiscuit in his final western start before his midweek departure for Maryland to resume training.

"The fact that he had to break the track record is the best evidence of Seabiscuit's ability," Howard said. "The fast time also shows that he didn't have any ordinary horses to beat. The pace was terrific from the start."

WESTERN STATE TO MEET MIAMI AND BALL STATE

Kalamazoo, Mich., April 17.—[Special.]—Coach Charles Maher's Western State Teachers' college baseball team will take a two day trip into Ohio and Indiana this week, meeting Miami university in Oxford, O., Friday, and Ball State Teachers in Muncie, Ind., on Saturday.

Coach Maher is expected to use George Timmerman and Harry Bailey in their first collegiate games on the trip, holding Geno Selmo, only experienced hurler, for relief duty, if needed.

ROCKFORD ELKS GET SECOND HIGH DOUBLES GAME

Milwaukee, Wis., April 17.—[Special.]—R. Clobes and D. Frost of Rockford today coupled 265 and 204 for a 469 and second high game in the doubles in the Elks National Bowling tournament. They totaled 1,126. L. Gaa of Anderson, Ind., with 655, took seventh place in the singles. L. Woodman and W. Perkins of Janesville, Wis., posted 1,220 to take tenth place in the doubles. Woodman had 585 and Perkins 635.

A's Lose Final Exhibition Game to Jersey City, 5 to 4

Jersey City, N. J., April 17.—(AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics wound up their spring exhibition campaign in defeat today, losing to Jersey City's International league team, 5 to 4. Rollie Stiles, Jersey City's star pitcher, held the Athletics to one hit, a double by Gene Hasson, after relieving Joiner in the fourth. His teammates nicked Relief Pitcher Bill Kalfass for three runs in the sixth and scored the winning run off Bud Thomas in the eighth.

Covelli Meets Milling; It's a Grudge Fight

Varias Milling and Frankie [Kid] Covelli, junior lightweight from New York, will clash tonight in Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street. They meet in one of three matches of eight rounds.

It will be a grudge bout, inasmuch as the boys will be fighting for the third time. Both of the earlier decisions have gone to Milling. Because of the feeling between the two, the match will receive top billing.

The opening bout of eight rounds matches Billy Celebron, Rockford middleweight, and Wild Bill McDowell of Louisville. The second pairs Johnny Barbara, strong welterweight entrant, and Tony Petroskey, rugged Muskegon, Mich., fighter.

In the four round curtain raiser Tom Kenneally, Catholic Youth Organization heavyweight, will meet Al Rowe, a newcomer from Colorado.

Ole Olson is paired with Fritz Von Schacht in a one hour match heading the wrestling show this evening in White City, 63d street and South Park avenue. Rudy Kay, north side heavyweight, will hook up with Jerry Meeker in the 30 minute semifinal. Art Van Saxon and Jack [Bad Boy] Brown will meet, as will Jack Zeravich and Joe Dvorak, and Buck O'Neil and Phil Gruber.

Davey Miller, referee of the recent heavyweight championship fight between Joe Louis and Harry Thomas, will officiate at the yearly amateur boxing program presented under the auspices of the Rev. Thomas Burke of St. Hilary parish in the church hall, Bryn Mawr and California avenues, May 3. . . . 26 MILE BOSTON RACE ATTRACTS A FIELD OF 200

Boston, Mass., April 17.—[Special.]—The Boston Athletic association's forty-second annual marathon will be held Tuesday along the Hopkinton-to-Boston route. Five winners in other years head a field of more than 200 runners.

Spectator interest, snowballing along since 1897, reached a point many years ago where conservative estimates place the number of sightseers along the route of twenty-six miles 385 yards at 500,000.

The five former winners entered this year include Clarence De Mar of Keen, N. H., 50 year old school teacher who has captured the Boston race seven times; Bill Kennedy of Port Chester, N. Y., 1917; Leslie Pawson, who set the course record of 2 hours 31.7 seconds in 1933; Dave Komonen of Sudbury, Ont., 1934; Johnny Kelley of Arlington, Mass., 1935 winner and runnerup to Walter Young last year.

WALTHOUR TEAM HOLDS POINT LEAD IN SIX DAY RACE

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 17.—(AP)—Eleven teams whirled away tonight into Pittsburgh's sixth international six day bicycle race, and two and a half hours after the start the American duo of Jimmy Walthour and Al Crossley held a slight lead.

They had 29 points gained from the early sprints, but were tied in mileage with the veteran Piet Van Kempen of Holland and Freddie Zach of Switzerland, who had covered fifty-five miles and seven laps, but collected only nine sprint points.

The standings at midnight:

	Miles.	Laps.	Pts.

SUCCESS STORY: YANKEES FINALLY DEFEAT DODGERS

Triumph, 14 to 13, After Two Defeats.

Brooklyn, N. Y., April 17.—(AP)—The Yankees and Dodgers ended their spring training today with a hilarious contest which the Yankees won, 14 to 13. It was the Yanks' only victory in the three game exhibition series in Ebbets field.

The Dodgers at one time trailed the Yankees 9 to 1 and only started to click in the last two innings when they scored eight runs. The Yankees won out with a three run rally off Max Butcher in the ninth and then had to call on Bump Hadley to stop the Dodgers in the last of the ninth with the bases loaded and one run needed to tie.

Red Rolfe for the Yankees and Ernie Koy and Dolf Camilli for the Dodgers hit homers. Frank Crosetti hit two doubles and two singles and scored five runs for the world champions.

GIANTS, 5; INDIANS, 3.

Cleveland, O., April 17.—(AP)—The New York Giants defeated the Cleveland Indians, 5 to 3, today in the final game of their exhibition series with the Tribe.

A double by Mel Ott in the third inning, driving in Bartell and Moore, clinched victory. Mel Harder, pitching the first seven innings for the Indians, yielded all eight Giant hits.

It was the Giants' tenth victory over the Tribe in their sixteen game series, including a game forfeited by Cleveland at Longview, Tex.

MacQUINN WINS IN 100 LAP RACE; LEWIS SECOND

Harry MacQuinn of Indianapolis won the 100 lap auto race in the 124th Field Artillery armory last night, profiting by the bad racing luck of Jimmy Snyder of Chicago. MacQuinn's time was 19 minutes 27 seconds.

Snyder was running in second place after forty laps and was cutting down MacQuinn's lead on each lap, but his car failed him on the sixty-first circuit and he left the race. After Snyder dropped out Marshall Lewis of Los Angeles took up the chase, finishing second one-half lap back. Ted Duncan was third, Ted Tetterton fourth, and Art Hartsfeld fifth.

Reds Rally to Beat Tigers in 10 Innings, 7-6

Cincinnati, O., April 17.—(AP)—The Cincinnati Reds came through in the pinches today to score a ten inning victory over the Detroit Tigers in the final of the teams' exhibition series. The score was 7 to 6.

Breaking down a six run Detroit lead, the Reds scored one run in the sixth and four in the seventh. Ival Goodman tied the score in the ninth with a homer into the bleachers.

BEES, RED SOX SPLIT.

Boston, Mass., April 17.—(AP)—Boston's six game city baseball series which started in the south ended in a draw today when the Red Sox tripped the hustling Bees, 2 to 1, in the final before a crowd of 10,120.

Three hit pitching over the last six innings by Emerson Dickman, young rookie from North Carolina, put the Sox back in winning stride.

Successive doubles by Pinky Higgins and Ben Chapman scored the decisive run in the sixth off Ira Hutchinson. The Bees made their only run in the second off Johnny Marcum, who gave up three hits in the first three innings. The National leaguers were shut out the rest of the way by Dickman.

THREE-EYE SETS ALL-STAR DATE, ADOPTS PLAYOFF

Springfield, Ill., April 17.—(AP)—Representatives of the eight Three-Eye league baseball clubs, meeting with President Tom Fairweather tonight, adopted the Shaughnessy system of playoffs and selected July 11 as the date for an intra-league all-star game.

The game will be played in Clinton, Ia., between teams of the southern circuit—Springfield, Bloomington, and Decatur, Ill., and Evansville, Ind.—and those of the northern—Cedar Rapids, Waterloo, and Clinton, Ia., and Moline, Ill. Selections will be made by ballot of fans.

Although Shaughnessy playoffs were approved, it was ruled the winner of the regular season, which opens May 1, will be designated the league champion.

A Little Help from a Master

with singles by Hack and Herman, the former going to third. He ran home on Collins' fly to Radcliff. Demaree whacked a single to right and Marty walked. Triplett hoisted a fly to right, but not where Walker could make the catch. It dropped for a double, Herman and Demaree scoring. Jurges enjoyed a similar bargain double to right, Marty scoring. In hopes of getting out of the jam without further jolting, Lyons gave O'Dea a pass, filling the bases. The scheme was successful. French fanned and Hack bounced to Owen.

Good fortune in the shape of tight support aided French again in the third, when the American leaguers scored once. Hayes galloped home on Kreevich's single to center. Walker took his three allotted swings and sat down. Then Kuhel spanked a low, hard liner toward right, but Collins speared it and stepped on first base to double Radcliff.

Kreevich Drops One.

Lyons was guiltless in the incident which gave the Cubs a run in the fourth for a 5 to 3 lead. Herman fanned for the first out and Collins hoisted a fly to center, but Kreevich, after getting his hands on the ball, let it drop. Collins went to second on the error and scored on Demaree's single to right.

French wasn't present long after the Sox fourth opened. Owen sailed a two bagger down the right field line and scored on Berger's single in the same direction. This was where French started on the long walk, his successor, Epperly, completing the inning without delay.

Both sides did a little threatening in the fifth. Jurges led off for the Cubs with a single to center, but O'Dea flied to Walker, Epperly fanned, and Jurges decided to steal. He didn't make it. In the Sox portion Kreevich tripled over Demaree's head after one was out, but the next two gentlemen couldn't poke the ball beyond the infield.

Sox Finally Tie It.

On the strength of a couple of hits wrapped around a pass in the seventh, the Sox finally got possession of the run needed for a 5 to 5 tie. Epperly retired two men before running into trouble. Hayes launched it with a single to right and Kreevich assisted by chiseling a pass from the rookie right hander. Walker punched a single into center, Hayes scoring and Kreevich going to third. The south siders' fun stopped on Radcliff's tap to Epperly.

The Cubs produced only one hit in the eighth, but it was sufficient to put them back in front by 6 to 5. Dietrich walked Jurges, the first Cub to reach base since the fifth, when Lyons retired. O'Dea sacrificed, Epperly fanned, and Hack singled to center, Jurges scoring.

Owen tried to get the Sox started on the tying run in the home half of the eighth, but his effort was wasted. The ex-Tiger doubled against the left field wall with one out, only to expire in his tracks as Berger flied to Marty and Sewell popped to Hack.

Cubs Waste Hits.

The Cubs scored one in the ninth, but that wasn't the feature of the inning. The feature was that one run was all that blossomed from a pass and three hits. Collins opened with a double, Demaree fanned, and Marty walked. Triplett's pop in short right center fell out of Hayes' reach for a single, Collins scoring. Jurges fanned and Hartnett, who had relieved O'Dea, beat out a single to deep short, filling the bases. Epperly then flied to Berger.

Whitehead Faces Lawson in Sox, Detroit Opener

Manager Jimmy Dykes of the White Sox, doubtless glad to be through with the training season, an unhappy span in many ways, yesterday turned his thoughts to the season opener. He'll start John Whitehead against the Tigers tomorrow in Comiskey park. Sewell will catch.

The Tigers will start Roxie Lawson and Rudy York.

The Tigers will work out in Comiskey park at 1 o'clock this afternoon. The Cubs left last night for Cincinnati and this morning will work out in Crosley field.

The crowd of 15,000 just about took the teams out of the red on their training expense. The Sox would have made money if they hadn't been snowed out in Sweetwater and Abilene, Tex., where big crowds had been indicated by advance sales. The biggest crowd either team played before between Los Angeles and Chicago, was the Sox-Pirates turnout in Wichita, Kas.

It appears the Sox will start the season with Boze Berger at short.

a club. He hasn't pleased us altogether, since."

Rickey believes his team "is the best in the league, outside of pitchers," but he would not say whether or not the trade of Dean started activity toward a deal for new pitchers.

How Much? No Answer!

"How much cash did the Cardinals receive in the trade?" Rickey was asked.

"I am not at liberty to answer that."

"How do you estimate the value of the players you received in trade for Dean?"

"Well, I would say the three of them were worth in the baseball market about $85,000."

"What was Dean's value?"

"At his peak I would say he was about the most valuable player in baseball."

"Then are we safe in assuming the cash received by the club represented the difference between $85,000 and the $400,000 value once placed on Dizzy?"

Aw, That's Unfair.

President Sam Breadon insisted the deal had been brewing only a short time and that it merely was a transaction between the two clubs by which they thought each would benefit.

Asked if he thought the Cards got anything like Dizzy's worth, in playing material, he said:

"Not if Dizzy proves to be a twenty-five or thirty game winner this season, certainly we did not. But who knows if he'll win that many?"

Breadon was asked if the trade was brought about by more trouble with Dizzy.

"No, we had no trouble this spring but I think the team will be a twenty-three player club now and not a Dizzy Dean club. The boys will know that when they win a game, twenty-three players had a hand in it."

Manager Frankie Frisch had little to say about the transaction. He merely stated the deal was made and he thought Curt Davis would be helpful.

The Globe-Democrat will say tomorrow the Cardinals followed the Dean trade with an immediate but unsuccessful attempt to buy Van Lingle Mungo, Brooklyn pitcher.

REFUSE MUNGO BID

New York, April 17.—[Special.]—Commenting on the Cardinals' attempt to obtain Van Mungo from the Dodgers, Larry MacPhail, executive vice president of the Brooklyn club, said tonight that Branch Rickey of the St. Louis Cardinals had made an offer for the pitcher.

"I told him, as I'll tell all the other fellows, that we don't intend to let him go—certainly not to any of the first division clubs," MacPhail said.

"I told Branch that an offer could be made that perhaps we couldn't turn down, but that I knew he wouldn't make such a proposition and that he was wasting his money on long distance calls."

Mungo will pitch the Dodgers' opener in Philadelphia Tuesday. Waite Hoyt was to have had the assignment, but his injured leg has not responded to treatment.

LAKE FOREST NINE PLAYS WHEATON; OPEN TITLE RACE

decided on Charley Ruffing to oppose Bagby. Ruffing, who won twenty and lost seven games last year, was selected over Lefty Gomez, who won twenty-one and lost 11.

Missing from the Yankees' lineup will be Joe Di Maggio, still holding out for $40,000 in his San Francisco fish place, and Tony Lazzeri, gone to the Cubs and away from the American league champions for the first time in twelve years.

Di Maggio, however, is virtually certain to end his holdout any day now, by signing for $27,500—a $2,500 concession by Col. Jake Ruppert. Lazzeri's absence is going to be felt keenly. Certainly, the seven errors the Yankees made in two week-end losses to Brooklyn demonstrate that Lazzeri's steadying hand would come in handy to the Yankee infield.

Gordon to Play Second.

Nearly every club is going to give regular work to one or more rookies. Most celebrated freshmen in the lot are Joe Gordon, who will take over Tony Lazzeri's second base spot in the Yankee infield; Ken Keltner, third baseman of the Indians; Max West, a slugger who will fit into the Boston Bees' picture somewhere; Roy Cullenbine, who will start in Detroit's outfield; Rosy Rosen, fine looking Brooklyn prospect; Will Hershberger, Cincinnati catcher up from Newark; Johnny Rizzo and Enos Slaughter, heavy hitters with Pittsburgh and the Cardinals, respectively, and an assortment of pitchers on just about every roster.

Gone from the scene for the first time in twenty-three years is Rogers Hornsby, greatest right hand batsman of a generation. In his place as manager of St. Louis' improved Browns is Gabby Street, one of four managerial changes in the big time. Also master minding in new spots are Oscar Vitt, promoted to Cleveland after winding up with Newark last year; Casey Stengel, back with Boston's Bees, and Will McKechnie, transferring from the Bees to Cincinnati, where he succeeds Chuck Dressen.

Fans probably will respond with a crowd of 200,000 or more for tomorrow's festivities and the opening games Tuesday, in which the Browns tangle with the Indians in Cleveland, the Tigers invade Chicago to meet the White Sox, Boston meets the Giants in the Polo Grounds, Brooklyn is in Philadelphia, Chicago in Cincinnati, and Pittsburgh in St. Louis.

F. M. ZEILER CO., OLD BROKERAGE FIRM, DISSOLVES

Open Accounts Will Be Transferred.

F. M. Zeiler & Co., La Salle street securities brokerage house of forty years' standing, will be dissolved on April 30, and its open accounts will be transferred to Paine, Webber & Co., Thaddeus R. Benson, partner of the Zeiler firm and president of the Chicago Stock exchange, announced yesterday.

Thaddeus R. Benson.

The dissolution marks another of the numerous changes which have taken place on La Salle street in the last few months, when the combination of a small volume of securities business and burdensome overhead costs has brought consolidations and dissolutions.

Partners of the Zeiler company are Benson, Frank R. Wilkinson, and George P. Williams.

Fifteen Employed by Firm.

The firm has about fifteen employés, some of whom have secured positions elsewhere, according to the partners. Harry C. Benson, brother of Thaddeus Benson, will join Paine, Webber & Co. as a customers' man. The partners announced no plans.

The Zeiler accounts are not being sold to Paine-Webber, but an agreement has been completed whereby the latter house will handle Zeiler customers, it was pointed out.

The Zeiler firm has done a substantial part of its business in unlisted securities. It holds a membership in the Chicago Stock exchange and an associate membership in the New York Curb exchange. Paine, Webber & Co., founded in 1880, holds memberships in all principal stock and commodity exchanges.

Benson, as president of the Chicago Stock exchange, was largely responsible for the making of a survey of the exchange last fall by an industrial engineering firm which resulted in the exchange's reorganization effected March 31. Under the new constitution he was made chairman of the board of governors to serve until the annual election and he will continue to serve as president until that time.

Mentioned for New Post.

Benson has been frequently mentioned on La Salle street for the newly created position of nonmember salaried president provided under the revamped constitution.

Announcement was made yesterday of the formation of Kitchen, Holt & Co., Inc., which will open today at 208 South La Salle street to transact business as brokers and dealers in investment securities. Partners of the firm are W. T. Kitchen and Lester H. Holt.

Kitchen formerly conducted an investment business on the street in his own name, and Holt had been previously associated with Haskell, Scott & Jennings, Inc., and with F. A. Carlton & Co.

THIRD TRIBUNE NEWSPRINT SHIP ARRIVES IN CITY

The motorship Chicago Tribune, carrying 3,121 tons of newsprint, docked at 11:30 yesterday morning at THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE's paper warehouse on the north bank of the Chicago river, east of the Tribune plant. This was the third ship to reach the city with newsprint for this newspaper since the opening of lake navigation.

The Franquelin, carrying 2,025 tons, is due late tonight and is to be followed by the Shelter Bay, carrying 1,254 tons, and the Thorold, with 1,268 tons, which will arrive later in the week. The M. S. Tribune left Thorold, Ont., where THE TRIBUNE's paper mill is located, on April 13.

The Tribune will return light but the Franquelin, the Shelter Bay, and the Thorold all will carry cargoes of corn on the return journey to Montreal.

Farmers Pay Land Bank Loans; Refunding Avoided

New York, April 17.—(AP)—Because farmers were paying on the principals of their loans more rapidly than new loans were being made, federal land banks will not issue refunding bonds to replace the $22,000,000 of 4 per cent bonds called by the banks last Friday, Charles R. Dunn, fiscal agent of the land banks and the federal intermediate credit banks, announced today.

Profit Higher for Douglas Aircraft Co.

The Douglas Aircraft Company, Inc., yesterday reported that its operations in the three months ended Feb. 28 were considerably more profitable than in the corresponding period a year earlier, net income rising to $406,771, compared with $237,351. The earnings for the three months were equal to 71 cents a share, compared with 42 cents a year ago.

Net sales in the three months were $6,651,907 compared with $3,338,240 a year earlier. The sales in both cases include those of the Northrop corporation, which was dissolved as of Aug. 31, 1937.

The company's balance sheet as of Feb. 28, 1938, showed current assets of $13,701,240 and current liabilities of $6,656,878, including bank loans of $4,630,000. The bank loans represent a decrease of $600,000 from the peak of $5,230,000 reported as of Nov. 30, 1937. Since Feb. 28 the company has reduced these bank loans to $4,180,000.

7,550 Persons Employed.

The two divisions of the company at present are employing 7,550 persons, with a weekly pay roll of approximately $232,000, yesterday's report said.

The backlog of orders stood at $26,896,368, not including a recent army contract for cargo ships approximating $2,327,724, the company said.

The Victor Chemical Works reported for the quarter ended March 31, 1938, net profit of $156,247, after all charges, including federal income tax but without deduction for undistributed profits tax, equivalent to 22 cents a share on the 696,000 shares of capital stock outstanding. This compares with net earnings of $183,874 for the corresponding quarter of last year, equivalent on the same basis to 26 cents a share.

Loss Shown by Reliable Stores.

The Reliable Stores corporation reported net loss of $137,688 for the quarter ended March 31, compared with net profit of $65,117 in the first 1937 quarter. For the twelve months ended March 31 profit was $706,164, compared with $1,019,297 a year earlier.

Random Facts About Eggs.

Day and night, 60,000 eggs a minute—that is the average rate of chicken egg production in the United States, according to an estimate by the Chicago Mercantile exchange. The 1928-'32 average annual production, on farms, was 33,016,000,000 eggs, meaning that in recent years every person in this country could have had about 252 eggs a year.

The United States has about two million poultry raisers of the "back yard" variety. The four big egg markets are New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, and Boston. New York is the largest, with total 1937 receipts of 6,847,324 cases, and Chicago is second, with 1937 receipts of 4,370,586 cases. The District of Columbia sent 1,140 cases of eggs to New York last year.

One-fourth of the annual egg crop is consumed on farms, and about a billion eggs are saved for hatching purposes.

There were 426,145,000 chickens on farms on Jan. 1, 1936, according to the federal bureau of agricultural economics. Texas had the most of any state, 23,602,000; Nevada the fewest, 256,000.

On Dec. 1, 1936, there was an average of 79.1 laying hens each in the nation's farm flocks. Poultrymen normally begin increasing their laying flocks in September, and the maximum number usually is reached at the beginning of the new year.

Farm prices of eggs usually attain their highest level in November or December, then begin dropping until spring.

Inflation Plan Expected to Affect Wheat

Inflationary recovery plans of the government and less favorable reports regarding the outlook for the winter wheat crop in parts of Oklahoma and Texas caused a shift in the attitude of grain traders last week. The full effect of the proposed inflation is uncertain, but traders recalled that previous desterilization of gold had slight market effect. They felt, however, that the inflationary forces released by the government are certain to have a market influence.

The cold wave in the southwest during the first eight days in April, according to official and trade reports, caused an undetermined amount of damage to the new wheat crop in sections where the grain was unusually advanced for this season of the year. Crop experts expressed the belief the Oklahoma and Texas wheat crop might have been reduced 25,000,000 bushels.

Export demand for American corn has fallen off lately, but without apparent effect on the market. The trade regards it as inevitable that Europe must buy sooner or later. The first clearances from Chicago for Canadian ports were made last week.

CUNARD-WHITE STAR LINE FINDS 1937 A GOOD YEAR

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, April 17.—[Special.]—The Cunard-White Star Line did better business last year than in 1936 and found it possible for the first time to set aside nearly $5,000,000 to cover depreciation on its fleet, the board of directors reported tonight. Although net profits for 1937 were only $731,755, compared to $2,733,295 in the preceding year, a significant item in the financial statement was $4,881,400 set aside for depreciation of the line's ships during the year plus $675,735 to offset depreciation on the Queen Mary in the eight months it was in service in 1936.

The Queen Mary, it was said, is an important factor in ending the steady deficits since the merger of the Cunard and White Star lines in 1934.

Atchison Preferred.

Investors' Guide: There has been considerable decline in the price of Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe preferred stock. Can you give me information on this stock?—H. F. G.

Answer: The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway company preferred stock is of $100 par value and is entitled to noncumulative dividends of 5 per cent annually.

The stock is noncallable and has the same voting power as the common, one vote per share. There are 1,241,728 shares outstanding. The road earned $6.17 per preferred share in 1937, compared with $8.05 a preferred share in 1936. Dividends were paid regularly through the depression except in 1933, when only $4 was disbursed.

Outlook for the preferred became clouded last week when the Atchison announced that it would defer payment of May 1 interest on its 4 per cent adjustment bonds. The adjustment bonds rank ahead of the preferred. The next preferred dividend is due Aug. 2.

Kroger Grocery and Baking.

Investors' Guide: As I am contemplating buying some Kroger Grocery stock I would appreciate your comments on this company.—Mrs. J. G.

Answer: The Kroger Grocery and Baking company operates a chain of food stores located principally in the area north of the Ohio river and east of the Mississippi, but also in some southern states. The company had 4,108 stores in operation at the end of 1937, compared with 4,212 a year earlier.

Other activities include a moderate amount of wholesaling outside its own territories, preparation of food products carrying its own brand names, and the ownership of a 99 per cent interest in Piggly-Wiggly corporation, which licenses stores to use its name.

One of the major problems faced by Kroger and similar chains is punitive taxation of chain stores. As a result of the business depression sales have in recent weeks lagged behind the corresponding 1936 period. In 1937 sales increased over 1936, but profits declined due to higher costs. The record of earnings in recent years:

1936........	242,273,408	3,487,832	1.91
1935........	229,907,884	3,643,475	1.99
1934........	221,175,331	4,198,242	2.29
1933........	205,691,715	4,514,868	2.45
1929........	286,611,215	5,836,664	3.38

The company has 537 shares of 6 per cent $100 par first preferred, 480 shares of $100 par second preferred, and 1,821,989 shares of nonpar common stock outstanding. The common pays dividends of $1.60 a share annually.

FORECAST DROP IN STEEL OUTPUT FOR THIS WEEK

March Buying Wave Spends Force.

Some curtailment in steel ingot production is expected this week, the magazine Steel said yesterday. Operations last week continued unchanged at 32 per cent of capacity, the magazine estimated.

"The upward movement of steel buying in March seems to have spent itself and, while the April rate promises to equal the preceding month, little evidence appears of a continued forward movement," Steel said. "Miscellaneous industries are expanding slowly, but their requirements are not sufficient to lend much support.

Implement Makers Fairly Active.

"Agricultural implement makers are operating at 70 to 75 per cent of capacity, with indications of about two months' activity before the seasonal lull. Railroads are taking stock of the situation and considerable buying of rails is still to be done, even with tonnages held to the minimum.

"Cargo ships for the maritime commission are slow in reaching awards. The sixteen vessels now pending will require about 50,000 tons of hull steel and 6,000 tons of other steel. Four vessels requiring 12,000 tons have been tentatively awarded."

Scrap Steel Prices Decline.

Declines of 25 to 50 cents were made in practically all scrap markets on steel making grades of scrap. The losses resulted in a drop of 46 cents in Steel's scrap price composite to $12.17 a ton, the lowest since August, 1935. Quotations are expected to go lower, Steel asserted.

Part of the decline has been attributed to a shrinkage in the export demand for scrap, but probably a more important cause is the buying by melters on offers of prices below the market by dealers anxious to move their stocks, Steel indicated.

Encouragement of Investment Is Urged as Way to Make Jobs

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States announced yesterday that the urgent need of stimulating private investment and job making enterprises will be the chief problem taken up at its annual meeting in Washington on May 2 to 5.

"The stagnant condition of the capital market," the chamber said in a study containing data as a basis for the discussion, "has been intensified by taxation policies, particularly the undistributed profits tax. Corporations, for example, have been deterred from using any substantial amount of net earnings for expansion, improvements, and similar purposes because of the prohibitive cost the tax imposes upon financing of this character. Other taxes likewise have affected the volume of business savings available for investment."

The study found that only 16 per cent as much new capital has been obtained through sale of new security issues in the last seven years as in the seven years prior to 1931.

"It is axiomatic that an increase in business and the general economic welfare can be effected only by increasing the employment of capital and labor," the chamber said.

Although admitting that government spending of borrowed money has offset some decrease in business and employment in private industry, the chamber said this method is relatively ineffective.

"The greater effectiveness of business and private investment in wealth creating enterprises," it said, "is appreciated in both official and private circles. It has been estimated, for example, that a dollar of government funds spent upon a project which competes with private industry prevents the investment of several dollars of private funds."

Santa Fe Train Attains 101 M.P.H. on Wichita Run

The Chicagoan, one of two new Santa Fe streamlined trains inaugurating a daylight service between Chicago and Wichita, Kas., arrived at the Dearborn station "on time" last night from Wichita after having attained a maximum speed of 101 miles an hour between Newton and Emporia, Kas. The Chicagoan left Wichita at 9:45 a. m. and reached here at 9:30 p. m. The other train, the Kansas Cityan, left Chicago at 9:30 a. m. for the run to Wichita.

The Kansas Cityan arrived on time at Wichita at 9:15 p. m. Its maximum speed was 96 miles an hour, reached between Osage and Emporia.

INFLATION FEAR CARRIES STOCKS HIGHER IN WEEK

Political Developments Sway Market.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 17.—[Special.]—Responding to inflation-tinged political developments at Washington rather than to any improvement in the business situation, the stock market finished last week on higher ground. Gains in active stocks ran from fractions to more than 3 points.

Every day of the week with only one exception the list worked forward. On Monday stocks slipped off on profit-taking following the vigorous runup of the preceding session.

Saturday's session provided the highlight of the week. Industrial stocks and shares of companies commonly associated with commodities shot forward as a result of the inflation psychology fostered by the administration's huge relief-spending-credit program.

See Long Term Threat.

While financial observers thought the plan to spend $5,000,000,000 in an effort to drag the country out of the Roosevelt depression might benefit stocks over a short term, it was criticized severely for its threat to the economic future of the country. It was regarded in some quarters as another demonstration of the silencing of economic laws to the imperious whims of politics.

Students of the market declared that the buying of stocks was in the nature of a hedge against the arrival of inflation. Reports from the street reflected skepticism that a repetition of many of the old maneuvers of 1933 will be instrumental in reviving business.

Financial men agreed that the acute need of the hour is the restoration of confidence. They noted that in the President's radio talk Thursday night he conceded that capital should make a profit. Against this single phrase, however, they weighed the acts of the administration which have been consistently in opposition to private enterprise.

Depends on Demand.

The immediate moves to ease credit, it was argued, will accomplish nothing unless business will borrow to expand. And what business man, it was asked, will take a risk while the punitive undistributed profits tax and the capital gains tax remains unchanged?

Meanwhile the business situation remained practically unchanged. Auto production picked up slightly but still remained far below the figures of a year ago. Carloadings dropped. Steel buying remained apathetic. First quarter corporation profits show a sharp fall from the corresponding period a year ago.

While industrial stocks were pushing ahead on the inflation keynote, rails and utilities lagged. The former felt downcast over the refusal of the interstate commerce commission to approve higher passenger rates and the action of the Santa Fe in deferring payment of interest on adjustment bonds. In addition the President sent a message to congress on the bleak railroad situation but made no recommendations. Santa Fe ended the week off nearly 3 points.

Utilities Get Nowhere.

Utilities could get nowhere in the lingering fear of government competition.

The best showing in the list was made by steels, mail orders, coppers, chemicals, aviations, farm implements, mines, and specialties. Rail equipment met some good buying on the prospect of potential purchases from the proposed liberalization of RFC loans to the carriers.

United States Steel led the list in volume as buyers boosted its value $2.50. Bethlehem gained 2¾ points.

As measured by the Dow-Jones averages, the industrial section of the list finished the week more than 5 points higher.

LEGAL NOTICES.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES
FOR THE EASTERN DISTRICT OF MICHIGAN
SOUTHERN DIVISION

IN THE MATTER OF MICHIGAN SANITARIUM AND BENEVOLENT ASSOCIATION, a debtor corporation. } No. 23966 In Proceedings for the Reorganization of a corporation.

NOTICE

To all Creditors of and Claimants against MICHIGAN SANITARIUM AND BENEVOLENT ASSOCIATION or its property and to all Creditors of and Claimants against CHARLES E. STEWART, as receiver of said association:

YOU ARE HEREBY NOTIFIED that the petition of Michigan Sanitarium and Benevolent Association [hereinafter sometimes called the "Debtor"] for reorganization under Sections 77A and 77B of the Bankruptcy Act as amended was filed in the above entitled proceedings [hereinafter referred to as the "Reorganization Proceedings"] on April 5, 1938, and that by order entered on the same day the petition was approved as properly filed, and the undersigned, Charles E. Stewart, was appointed as temporary trustee for the Debtor and its estate and authorized to operate the property, assets and affairs of the Debtor pending further order of the court. Prior to April 5, 1938, the undersigned had been acting as receiver for the Debtor in proceedings in the above named court entitled "Joseph M. Enright, Plaintiff, v. Michigan Sanitarium and Benevolent Association, Defendant, In Equity No. 5762" [hereinafter referred to as the "Receivership Proceedings"].

YOU ARE FURTHER NOTIFIED that for the purposes of any plan of reorganization proposed in the Reorganization Proceedings, and the acceptance thereof, the court has divided the creditors of and holders of interests in the Debtor, its Receiver, or its property into the following classes:

CLASS ONE

Claims against the Debtor Association or its property or its Receiver entitled to priority or preferential payment including, without limiting the generality of the foregoing, claims of the United States or of any state entitled to priority of payment by virtue of the laws of the United States or of any state, and claims for administrative expenses and for allowance for services and expenses in the Receivership Proceedings and in the Reorganization Proceedings [which said claims for administrative expenses and for allowance for services and expenses need not be filed until further order of the court].

CLASS TWO

[a] Claims for principal and interest evidenced by 6% Serial Gold Bonds of Michigan Sanitarium and Benevolent Association secured by a first mortgage deed of trust from Michigan Sanitarium and Benevolent Association to Central Trust Company of Illinois and The Old National Bank of Battle Creek, trustees, dated as of January 1, 1927;

[b] All other claims secured by liens against the property of Michigan Sanitarium and Benevolent Association or any part thereof.

CLASS THREE

Claims of general unsecured creditors of Michigan Sanitarium and Benevolent Association and all other claims of whatsoever character or description against Michigan Sanitarium and Benevolent Association or its property, whether or not the same be represented or evidenced by written instruments.

CLASS FOUR

Interests of its board of trustees or the members of said association.

YOU ARE FURTHER NOTIFIED as follows:

1. Except as herein mentioned, all claims against the Debtor or its property and all claims against the undersigned as receiver of the Debtor in the Receivership Proceedings must be filed with the undersigned as trustee of the Debtor at his office in the Battle Creek Sanitarium at Battle Creek, Michigan, on or before June 5, 1938; and no claim or interest required to be filed and not filed on or before said date may participate in any plan of reorganization confirmed in the Reorganization Proceedings, except on order for cause shown;

2. Each proof of claim heretofore filed in the Receivership Proceedings shall be deemed to have been filed in the Reorganization Proceedings without the necessity of filing any additional claims, and shall be deemed to have been finally allowed in the Reorganization Proceedings in the same amount as allowed in the Receivership Proceedings, provided [a] that if any of such claims are evidenced by written instruments, the original instruments on which said claims are based shall be filed with the undersigned as Trustee on or before June 5, 1938, so that an appropriate legend may be stamped thereon; and [b] that the holder of any claim filed in the Receivership Proceedings and disallowed in whole or in part therein may file a new proof of claim or an amended or supplemental proof of claim in the Reorganization Proceedings on or before June 5, 1938;

3. Each proof of claim with respect to the Debtor's First Mortgage 6% Serial Gold Bonds dated as of January 1, 1927, shall also be filed on or before June 5, 1938, and shall set forth the name and address of the claimant, the serial numbers and principal amounts of the bonds on which the claim is based, shall contain a verified statement that the claimant is the holder of said bonds, AND SHALL BE ACCOMPANIED BY SUCH BONDS, which will be stamped with an appropriate legend and then returned to the claimants upon request, provided, however, that the committee for the holders of said bonds, consisting of J. Sanford Otis, H. F. Conklin, Paul M. Bitzel, James G. Frey and George C. Watson, shall file a claim in conformity with the provisions of the order of April 5, 1938, aforesaid, on behalf of the holders of all bonds on deposit with said committee, and it shall not be necessary for the holders of bonds deposited with said committee to file any proof of claim with respect to their bonds;

4. Proofs of claim other than those evidenced by said bonds shall be filed with the undersigned as trustee on or before June 5, 1938, and shall set forth under oath the amount of claim, the consideration therefor, the payments made thereon if any, the setoffs thereto or the counterclaims against the same, the securities held therefor, and that the sum claimed was justly owing from the Debtor to the claimant or otherwise constituted an allowable claim on April 5, 1938. If any such claims are evidenced by written instruments the original instruments shall be attached to the proof of claim and such instruments will be stamped with an appropriate legend and then returned to the claimant upon request;

5. All proofs of claim shall be entitled in the Reorganization Proceedings and shall designate the address to which all notices to the claimants shall be mailed;

6. Immediately following the expiration of June 5, 1938, the undersigned will report to the court for final disposition all of such claims or interests so filed, together with his recommendations in connection therewith;

7. Proofs of claim for administrative expenses and for allowances for services and expenses to which various persons and parties may be entitled in the Receivership Proceedings and in these proceedings, and evidence of the interests of the Board of Trustees or the members of Michigan Sanitarium and Benevolent Association need not be filed herein until the further order of this court.

Objections of any person to the classification of creditors and holders of interest above set forth and objections to the time and manner of filing claims in the Reorganization Proceedings shall be filed with the clerk of the court in the Reorganization Proceedings prior to May 5, 1938.

YOU ARE FURTHER NOTIFIED that a hearing upon the question of whether the appointment of the undersigned as temporary trustee of the Debtor should be made permanent or whether a new trustee or trustees should be appointed or whether the Debtor should be restored to possession of its property, and upon all objections of the nature described in the next preceding paragraph of this notice will be held at 10 o'clock A. M. Eastern Standard Time, on May 5, 1938, before the Honorable ARTHUR J. TUTTLE, Judge of the above named court, on the seventh floor of the Federal Court Building, Detroit, Michigan. Said hearing may be adjourned from time to time without further notice to you.

CHARLES E. STEWART,

IRA A. BECK,
Attorney for Temporary Trustee,
501-7 City National Bank Bldg.,
Battle Creek, Michigan.

LOST AND FOUND.

TO FINDERS.

If you have found a cat or dog, a pocketbook, jewelry, or fur, and cannot locate the owner through the "Lost and Found" advertisments in The Tribune, call and go through the "Lost and Found" index at the PUBLIC SERVICE OFFICE, 1 S. DEARBORN-STREET.

TO LOSERS.

If you are listed in the telephone directory you can charge an advertisment of your lost article by telephoning Miss Miller of the Tribune ad taking department, Superior 0100. Your advertisment receives the benefit of free listing in the Tribune Public Service office mentioned above for a period of two months. This service facilitates the recovery of lost articles advertised.
